

U.S. Army Garrison Ansbach

Nuremberg Airport: the easy way to explore Europe

Around 4 million passengers depart from and land at Nuremberg Airport every year. Its convenient location makes it the go-to gateway to the U.S.A. for personnel at the U.S. Army Garrison Bavaria in Ansbach. Situated in the center-north of the German state of Bavaria, Nuremberg Airport provides service members and their families with reliable connections to cities back home. Featuring around 60 destinations, it also offers many fantastic opportunities to discover Europe.

It's not only special U.S. Army charters that fly to the U.S.A. Many regular airlines also offer attractive daily connections from Nuremberg: Air France flies via Paris, KLM flies via Amsterdam in cooperation with Delta Air Lines, and Lufthansa flies via both Frankfurt and Munich (coach shuttle) in cooperation with United Airlines. You can reach most major US cities from Nuremberg Airport with just one transfer.

Many families of U.S. Army personnel also want to make the most of their time in Germany and explore more of Europe. Nuremberg Airport offers excellent opportunities to discover the continent with nonstop flights to London, Budapest, Hamburg, Barcelona, Istanbul and Mallorca. In summer, the nonstop destinations extend to include Italy, Spain, Greece, and many more European and even North African cities. You will also find low-cost airlines such as Ryanair and Wizz Air at Nuremberg Airport. Their wide range of affordable flights make taking a short holiday a practical option.

It's even worth a quick trip to the airport if you're not flying. The site around the terminal hosts various festivities including open-air concerts at the "Festival SUMMER", as well as outdoor screenings of sports, and other music events. There are regular after-work parties and discos at Gate (gate-nuernberg.de), while in November and December, you can experience a traditional German Christmas atmosphere at the Nürnberger Winterhütten (winterhuetten-nuernberg.de).

Nuremberg Airport offers over 9,000 car parking spaces, a metro connection from Nuremberg Central train station, and easy access to the terminal. It also has a supermarket, a McDonald's and many snack bars. What more could you want? The airport team looks forward to your visit!

Welcome from Ansbach's

Lord Mayor Thomas Deffner

As Lord Mayor of the City of Ansbach, I would like to welcome you to our wonderful city. Hopefully you will feel at home during your stay here.

I encourage you to get out and about in the communities located close to your garrison, get to know the "Ansbacher" and discover everything the area has to offer: historic buildings like the Margraves' Palace, the wonderful restored Orangery with the picturesque Hofgarten (Palace Garden) or museums in the heart of the city, shopping centers, swimming pools, restaurants and so much more – and not to forget the many fests we celebrate throughout the year like the Spring Fair, the Old Town Festival, the Rococo Festival and the Ansbach Christmas Market. Also the surroundings of Ansbach are worth to discover for example by bike with the whole family or for sports.

Again, welcome to Ansbach

Yours,

Thomas Deffner

Lord Mayor, Ansbach

Discover Ansbach

The former residence of the Margraves of Ansbach, part of the Hohenzollern family, this city is rich in history and boasts remarkable landmarks that reflect its heritage. Stroll through the city center to immerse yourself in the elegance of the Rococo period, featuring landmarks such as the palace, the Baroque synagogue, and the Church of St. Gumbertus. To truly experience the city's charm, we recommend joining a guided tour with one of our knowledgeable local guides. Our team at the tourist information center is happy to offer you information about local events and attractions. You can also purchase tickets for theater performances and other activities or arrange private tours in English. Throughout the year, Ansbach offers a variety of festivals and cultural events, including the Rococo Festival, the Classical Music Festival „Bachwoche,“ the Green Night, the Old Town Festival, and the festive Christmas Market. For a taste of local life, be sure to visit the lively weekly markets every Wednesday and Saturday morning, where you can discover fresh local produce, flowers, and regional delights. The charming boutiques in the city center and shopping mall offer a variety of locally made products.

We hope you enjoy your time in Ansbach and look forward to welcoming you to our vibrant community!

USAG Ansbach – Your Best Hometown in Europe

Snowing at Katterbach airfield

Welcome to U.S. Army Garrison Ansbach – the Best Hometown in Europe and an Army Power Projection platform.

You'll find Ansbach to be a wonderful area to live, train, work, and play.

USAG Ansbach is home to the 12th Combat Aviation Brigade and the 5th Battalion, 4th Air Defense Artillery Regiment. Recently, the 7th Engineer Brigade Headquarters and the 1st Battalion, 57th Air Defense Artillery Regiment also moved to the Ansbach footprint. Additionally, the garrison is home to rotational aviation forces as a demonstration of the United States' commitment to the collective security of Europe in cooperation with NATO Allies and partner nations.

Our garrison consists of nine installations dispersed between the city of Ansbach and the village of Illesheim in the Middle Franconia region of Bavaria. The Bismarck, Katterbach, Urtas, and

Katterbach housing and airfield

Shipton Kasernes are located northeast of Ansbach, while Barton Barracks and Bleidorn Kaserne are in the southwestern part of the city. Storck Barracks is situated in Illesheim, and Franken Kaserne and Oberdachstetten Training Area are about halfway between the two cities.

Throughout the garrison and the surrounding communities, you'll find that people are friendly and willing to lend a helping hand. The local officials and agencies stand ready to help make your tour a wonderful experience as a Soldier, civilian, contractor, or family member. The local German people are friendly and happy to assist you throughout the local area. If you need help, feel free to ask for assistance. Many of the locals speak English.

The garrison support system is also here to assist you; we encourage you to use it fully. From In-processing and Housing to Army Community Service and Family and Morale, Welfare, and Recreation programs, our team is here to make your stay in Ansbach a positive one. For more information on available services and current happenings, check out the garrison website at <https://home.army.mil/ansbach>, the official garrison Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/usagansbachcommunity> or download My Army Post App (MAPA) and select USAG Ansbach.

This area offers families plenty of exciting events and travel opportunities to experience German culture and hospitality. We encourage you to take advantage of our location – in the center of Europe and Germany – to venture out, whether on day trips to close destinations such as Nuremberg, Bamberg, Munich and, of course, the famous medieval walled city of Rothenburg o. d. Tauber. If you're willing to travel a bit further, use your free time to visit our neighboring countries. For example, France, Austria, and the Czech Republic are only a few hours away by car or train.

Enjoy your tour here and take in all the opportunities of living abroad. Engage with your host nation neighbors and get to know Germany and the European way of life. Participate in your community's activities and events to make this the best tour of your military career in the Best Hometown in Europe.

History of the USAG Ansbach Installations

Barton Barracks

- 1936: construction of Barton Barracks begins; it is named "Gneisenau Kaserne" in honor of Count Neidhart von Gneisenau, a famous Prussian General.
- 1939: replacement elements of the 106th Artillery Regiment and the 186th Infantry Regiment move in.
- 1945: U.S. Forces take over the post
- 1952: Kaserne is named Barton Barracks in honor of LTC David B. Barton, a signal officer who was killed in action in 1944 in Italy. The installation is utilized as a signal school.
- 1958: serves as headquarters, 210th Artillery Group.
- 1972: houses the 141st Signal Battalion, 1st Armored Division and the 2/57th Air Defense Artillery.
- 1992: becomes the home of the 235th Base Support Battalion, which is later upgraded to U.S. Army Garrison (USAG) Ansbach as part of Installation Management Command Europe (IMCOM-E).

- 2022: V Corps Headquarters Forward move to Barton Barracks for a six-month duration before occupying new facilities in Poznan, Poland.
- 2023: 7th Engineer Brigade HQ element and 1-57 ADAR move to Barton Barracks.

Barton Kaserne is home to two headquarters, the 7th Engineer Brigade and 1-57 ADAR. Vehicle inspection and the Central Issuing Facility (CIF) is also located here.

Bleidorn Kaserne

1936: construction of Bleidorn Kaserne begins at the same time as Barton Barracks; named after General Bleidorn, the Army Chief of Staff of the German Army from 1918 to 1933.

1945: the post is used as a camp for displaced persons

1946: the U.S. Forces take over; the first units are the 539th Signal Construction Company and a Labor Service Company recruited from Local Nationals.

1950: the post becomes the home of the headquarters of the 18th Field Artillery; it hosts Artillery units until its partial closure in 1992.

Many of former Bleidorn buildings are now used by the German Police

Today, Bleidorn Kaserne is home to Army family housing, a library, community tennis courts and the community’s theatrical venue, the Terrace Playhouse.

Hindenburg Kaserne

Hindenburg Kaserne was the oldest post in Ansbach.

1721 – 1724: first construction of an infantry installation.

1808: stationing of a Bavarian cavalry regiment

1863: the Ulan Regiment “König” moves in; the post is renamed Ulanen-Kaserne.

1900/1901: the post is completely torn down and rebuilt.

1919: the new 17th Cavalry Regiment is designated and stationed there; later the post is renamed in honor of Field Marshal and Reichspräsident Paul von Hindenburg.

1945: the post serves as a camp for refugees and displaced persons.

1950: the camp is cleared and the military government moves in.

1955: the Federal Republic of Germany receives sovereignty; the military government is redesignated as Military Community Headquarters.

1971: the 1st Armored Division (1st AD) relocates from Ft. Hood, Texas to Bavaria; Hindenburg Kaserne is chosen as the Headquarters of 1st AD.

1992: closure of installation.

After Hindenburg Kaserne was returned to the German government it is now integrated into the city landscape of Ansbach; some buildings are under historical monument protection and house the University of Applied Science Ansbach. Another part was bought by investors and turned into the Ansbach shopping mall, the Brückencenter.

Katterbach & Bismarck Kaserne

The Katterbach complex consists of Bismarck Kaserne to the North and Katterbach Kaserne with the heliport to the South.

1937: both installations are constructed at the same time and first opened on April 21, the "Day of the Air Force". The heliport has a reinforced runway and accommodates the Fighting Wing 53 "Legion Condor". Throughout the war, Katterbach remains the home for this unit and is never severely attacked.

1945: 1st Infantry Division elements move in, but stay less than one year. The heliport is then used as a depot by the European Exchange Service and Bismarck Kaserne is occupied by a Civilian Labor Service Group.

1964: the first aviation unit is stationed at the Katterbach Army Airfield, the 349th Helicopter Company. Since then, the Katterbach Army Airfield has been utilized by different aviation elements; today it is the home of the 12th Combat Aviation Brigade.

2016 – 2019: Regionally Allocated Forces (RAF). Rotational air defense brigades are deployed to Katterbach to conduct exercise in locations in Eastern Europe.

1964 – 1968: Bismarck Kaserne is used by the German Signal Battalion.

1969: 1st Battalion, 37th Armor moves into Bismarck Kaserne and stays there until its relocation in 1992.

1992: the 601st ASB, the Post Exchange and parts of the community's administration are located on Bismarck Kaserne.

2022: USAG Ansbach Headquarters moved to Bismarck Kaserne consolidating many garrison offices that were spread out across the Ansbach footprint..

Today, Katterbach Army Airfield is the Headquarters of the 12th Combat Aviation Brigade (12th CAB). On the Katterbach heliport side of the installation are the central processing facility (in/out processing), vehicle registration office, the U.S. post office and community mail room, two banking facilities, a shoppette, a fitness center, a chapel and other services such as Army Community Services (ACS), the Ansbach legal center and Outdoor Recreation. You will also find our USO here. The Katterbach Army family housing area includes a child development center, the elementary school, the middle/high school and the youth center.

On Bismarck Kaserne there are the USAG Ansbach headquarters, the command central of the garrison with most of its directorates, the Von Steuben Community Activity Center, a movie theater, and a car care center. The Customs office can also be found here. In addition, there are bachelor officer/ bachelor enlisted quarters, single Soldier housing units and tactical areas.

Bismarck Kaserne is co-located with Katterbach Army Airfield and is only separated by German Federal Highway 14, commonly known as B14

Shipton Barracks

1980: construction of Shipton Barracks and home to 6/43 Air Defense Artillery, 6/52 Air Defense Artillery and the 601st Aviation Support Battalion

2006 – 2015: 412th Aviation Support Battalion

Since 2018: 5th Battalion, 4th Air Defense Artillery Regiment (ADA), U.S. Army Europe's only short-range missile defense unit are stationed at Shipton Barracks.

Shipton Kaserne is home to the 5-4 ADA and has a Family & MWR recreational area called Soldiers Lake close by. Soldiers Lake offers outdoor grills and facilities for picnics and is a favorite fishing spot for the USAG Ansbach community.

Urlas Area

1897/98 – 1924: the Bavarian Army and the Reichswehr use Urlas as a military training area (drill site).

1914: construction of a shooting range.

1935 – 1945: Urlas becomes an ammunition depot for the Wehrmacht.

1945: the U.S. Army destroys the shooting range.

After 1945: some parts are used for agriculture, other parts as allotment gardens.

1952: the U.S. Army starts using Urlas as a Local Training Area (LTA) and constructs two bunkers.

1950 – 1960: NATO and the U.S. Army build a Hawk Missiles base.

1987: the Hawk Missiles site is torn down; a patriot missile site and an Initial Readiness Point (IRP) are constructed.

2001: Regional Fire Fighting Training Center opens with the responsibility of training all U.S. Army Europe firefighters

2008: the bunkers and the patriot site are demolished. The process of turning major parts of the LTA into a community hub and housing area is started.

Ansbach's Public Transportation System

The city bus system in Ansbach is a subsidiary of the city's public services, Stadtwerke Ansbach. It is also integrated into the larger Nuremberg Transport Network (VGN) . This means your train ticket will often cover your bus fare beyond Ansbach if it has the VGN logo.

Additionally, both the Deutschland Ticket and Bayern Ticket are valid for travel on Ansbach city bus lines. Most lines connect at the Schloßplatz and Bahnhof in downtown Ansbach.

Step 1: Access the www.vgn.de website or download the "VGN Fahrplan & Tickets" mobile app for iOS or Android.

Step 2 a: On the website, switch to English  <https://www.vgn.de/en> on the top right of the site.

Step 2 b: On the mobile app, the language is automatically determined by the system's language.

Step 3: To find a bus from Katterbach to downtown, e.g., enter Katterbach Kaserne in the field "Start" and "Schlossplatz Ansbach" as your destination, as well as your departure date and time.

The map overview shows all bus lines connecting surrounding areas to the city's center. Line 755 connects Katterbach Kaserne to Ansbach.

The app/website will return a list of connections. Selecting the preferred connection let you see a route map and additional information.

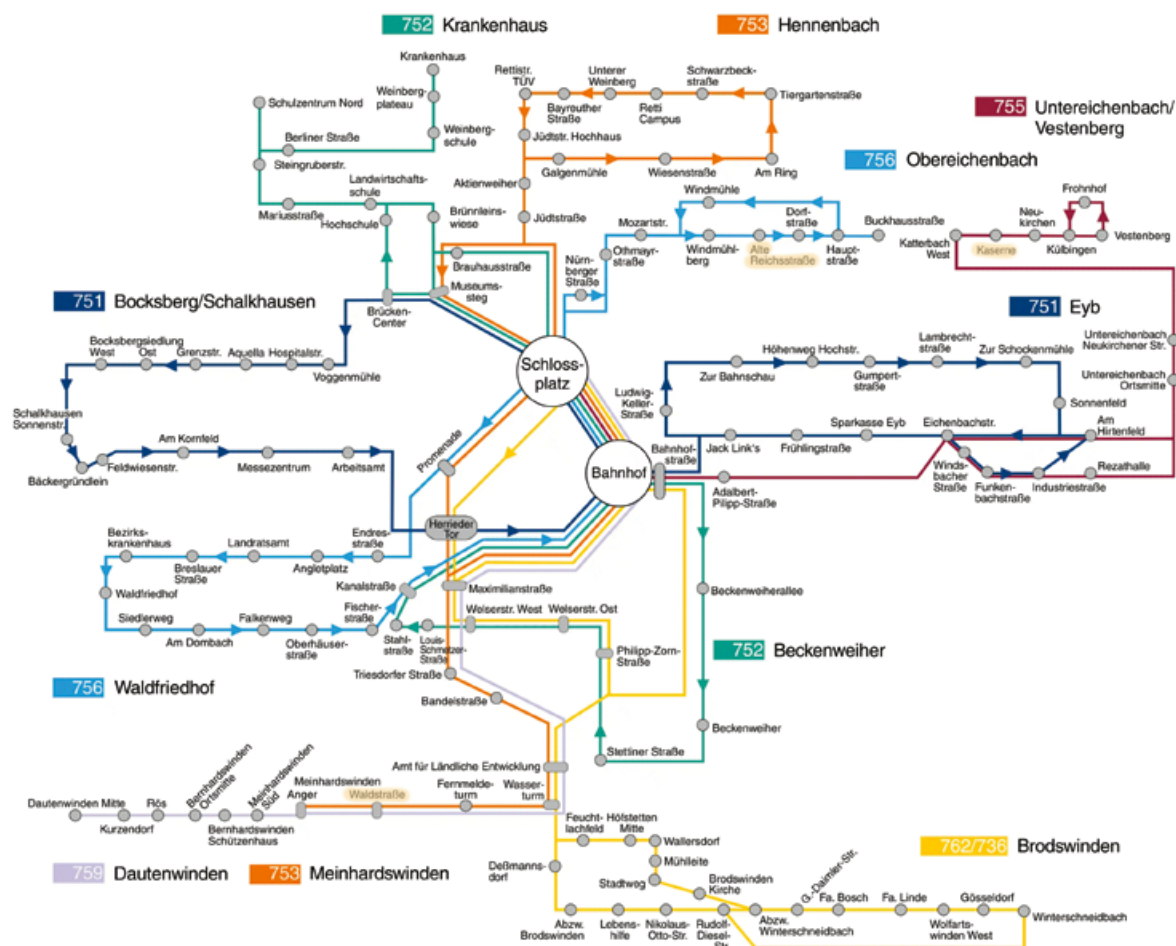

The bus bay number and respective signs indicate where you'll need to wait for the bus as well as a timetable.

If you are unsure what your starting point is, select the map icon in the upper right corner of the app. Zooming in lets you see all the bus stops  around you and select it as origin or direction.

Some connections may display an icon of a bus and phone. This indicates you require a reservation at least one hour before departure. If you do not call in advance, the bus will usually not drive on this route. Make a reservation by calling 0981-4822-8880.

Tickets can be purchased on the bus or online via the app. A single ticket costs € 2.20 for adults and is valid for one hour. If you purchase via the app, make sure you select Price level D and select Ansbach, as every region has different prices.

COMMITTED TO PEOPLE

Klinikum Ansbach is part of the clinical center network of the district of Ansbach supporting the host nation provider network around military treatment facilities. Highly educated professionals who provide excellent medical services will do everything to make U.S. patients and their families feel at home.

At Klinikum Ansbach, more than 20 specialized clinics provide all the care of a larger district hospital. Besides an internal medicine and surgical department as well as an obstetrician and birthing center, you will find specialized care such as a children's ward, a neurological ward with the ability to treat stroke patients in a timely manner at a specially established stroke unit, a urological department, a dialysis ward, a palliative medicine unit as well as a unit for radiation therapy and radiation oncology for treatment of certain types of cancer.

Additionally, located at Klinikum Ansbach are certified interdisciplinary centers for the treatment of cancer of the colon, the breast and female reproductive system. Several external specialists (eye, ENT, oral and maxillofacial surgeons) complement the services offered.

HOW TO CONSULT

TRICARE is the health care program serving Uniformed Service members, retirees and their families. Patients who are not TRICARE beneficiaries – such as civilian employees – are able to consult local health care providers without a referral. They may process their bill after treatment with their health insurance company.

In order to receive full reimbursement from TRICARE (except for emergencies), all off-post care for active duty military and their family members must be authorized first. The local TRICARE Service Center is the coordinating office for medical care.

SERVICE CENTERS ARE LOCATED AT:

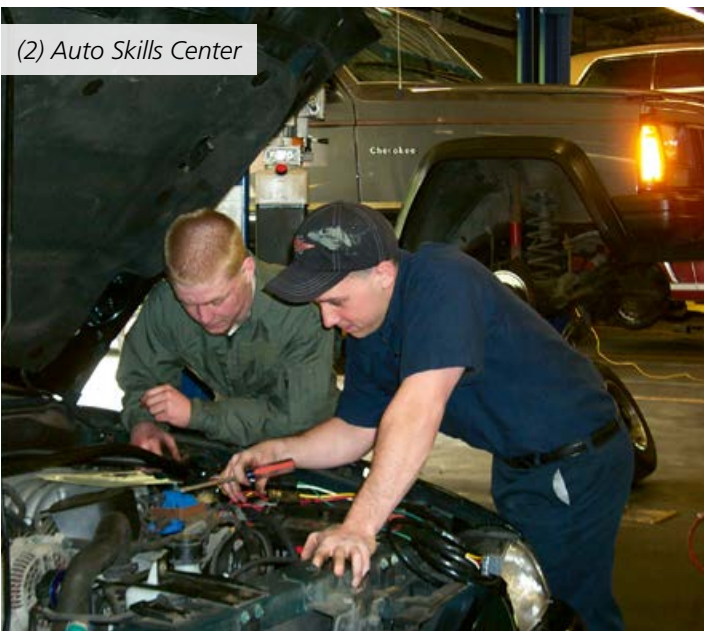

U.S. Army Health Clinic Urlas, Building 8156, Urlas
The phone number is DSN 5903600
or civilian number +49 6371 94643600

Host Nation Patient Liaisons employed by the military health care facilities can help to communicate with staff who may not speak English. They are available to help patients in emergencies and inpatient situations, they assist with translating and may visit the patients each day they are in the hospital. There is a Patient Liaison on call for emergencies after hours and on weekends.

If you are admitted to the hospital, please call ISOS, the Tricare Overseas Regional Call Center +44-20-8762-8384 within 24 hours of your admission.

Looking to get involved

Army Volunteer Corps (AVC)

The Army Volunteer Corps plays a crucial role in community involvement and development. Volunteers make a meaningful difference in the lives of Soldiers and their Families every day. Army Volunteer Corps is designed to help you find local volunteering opportunities with organizations that benefit the Army community and allows you to obtain ongoing training and advancement.

The AVC has redefined volunteering within the Army. We embrace existing volunteer programs, unite all volunteers who support Soldiers and Families, including the Active Force, National Guard and Army Reserve, and formalize the Army's commitment to volunteerism.

No matter where people volunteer in the Army community, they usually want to contribute to Soldiers and their Family members. We recognize this common goal and want to help you find the right opportunity for you.

Volunteering helps your community and helps you as well. When you participate with AVC, you'll:

- Gain a sense of satisfaction/achievement by meeting challenges
- Learn about the Army, our sister services, and the community
- Acquire new skills and/or expand old ones
- Obtain work experience
- Build new friendships and become a cohesive part of the community

For more information regarding employment, volunteering, or training opportunities please contact your ACS location!

Ansbach Spouses & Civilians Club – Putting Unity in Community Since 1996

The ASCC is an organization committed to building and supporting the Ansbach community through charitable, educational, and social endeavors. The ASCC is committed to the Ansbach Military Community to create the best hometown in Europe.

USA Girl Scouts Overseas

Girl Scouts Overseas provides exciting opportunities for Girls in kindergarten through 12th grade to be part of a global community while living on military bases outside the United States.

What we do: Girl Scouts overseas participate in a variety of activities, events, and special programs that promote leadership, teamwork, community service, and personal development. These might include earning badges, going on outdoor adventures, camping, hiking, kayaking, engaging in STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) projects, exploring their artistic talents, entrepreneurship (cookie sales), learning life skills, traveling to World Girl Guide Centers in different countries, and giving back to our community. It's a great way for girls to experience sisterhood while living in a new and unique place!

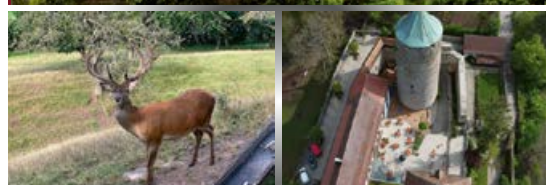

Getting Involved: Girls in Kindergarten through 12th grade are encouraged to join! Girl Scouts need mentors and advisors as well, no scouting experience required! Families, Parents and Volunteers are encouraged to help with troop meetings, leading activities, organizing events, or providing administrative support. Volunteering with Girl Scouts not only supports the program but also helps strengthen our overseas community!

How to Join: Register at www.usagso.org/en/get-involved/join.html for new members. If you are a currently registered Girl Scout or Leader, please reach out to ansbachgirlscouts@usagso.org for assistance switching your membership to our troops! Any questions please email ansbachgirlscouts@usagso.org or check us out on facebook at Girl Scouts Overseas-Ansbach!
