ARMY FIELD SUPPORT BATTALION GERMANY

Daylight Running Lights and Driving in FOG Safety Tips

The Army has a saying, “everyone is a safety officer” and in the 405th AFSBn-Germany is no exception, this including our family members. We are in a country where language barriers limit our knowledge and understandings that may impact our daily lives. Recently, one of our family members overheard in a German radio station of an increased number of accidents due to Daylight Running Lights (DRLs). It stressed the importance of turning on headlights during commutes not DRLs.

DRLs, in some vehicles automatically switched on once the ignition is on; other vehicles may switch the DRLs on when the parking brake is released or when the vehicle is shifted into gear.

DRLs can be hazardous, when driving at night or during foggy conditions a driver may think his headlights are on when they are not. Here's why:

1. Generally, DRLs do not shine as brightly as do headlights. A driver may needlessly struggle to see, blaming the poor headlights, when in fact the headlights aren't even on – he is using only the (reduced) light from the DRLs.
2. Another reason, DRLs do not illuminate the rear taillights at all...but the driver doesn't know the taillights are off! This can be quite a surprise for a driver approaching from behind especially in foggy conditions.

This design in some vehicles (we tested several different models in our parking lot) may be different in your vehicle. The test showed that when the daylight running lights was on, the front was illuminated for the road ahead, but the taillights were off.

When operating unfamiliar vehicles i.e. TMP, leased vehicle, or rental car, or friend's car, become familiar with that vehicle DRLs and Fog lights operations.

Fog creates dangerous driving conditions. It reduces visibility, makes it hard to spot hazards, and it becomes difficult for a driver to judge distance. The unusual weather condition can create optical illusions. Drivers may misjudge their own speed or have a hard time determining if other cars are moving.

The best advice for driving in fog is not to. If you must drive, be sure to consider the following:

1. Slowdown before you enter the fog. Do not assume that the fog will thin out after entering it.
2. Use low beams - not DRLs, this will increase your visibility and help other drivers see you. Turning on your high beams will make the fog reflect more light at a higher angle creating a white out effect.
3. Minimize distractions - While always important, minimizing distractions is more critical in foggy weather.
4. Obey all fog-related warning signs.
5. Navigate with reflectors - use reflectors on the road or the right edge to ensure you are staying in your lane. This works also with sun glare.
6. Increase following distance - Use the 3 second rule all the time and increase that to five during inclement weather like fog.
7. Reduce speed - reducing your speed will give you more time to react.
8. Listen to traffic you cannot see and avoid passing other vehicles.
9. Be cautious of other drivers that may have forgotten to turn on their headlights.

Standards and Discipline are the best Control Measures!

CHARGE into Fire Safety™

Lithium-Ion Batteries in Your Home

Most of the electronics we use in our homes every day are powered by lithium-ion batteries. In fact, most everything that's rechargeable uses this kind of battery.

e-bikes

LITHIUM-ION BATTERIES store a lot of energy in a small place. These batteries can overheat, start a fire, or explode if overcharged or damaged. By learning how to BUY, CHARGE, and RECYCLE these batteries safely, you can help prevent a fire in your home.

BUY only listed products. When buying a product that uses a lithium-ion battery look for a safety certification mark such as UL, ETL, or CSA. This means it meets important safety standards.

STOP using your device right away if the battery smells weird, gets too hot, makes popping noises, changes in shape or color. If it is safe, move the device away from anything that can catch fire. Call 9-1-1.

CHARGE devices safely. Always use the cables that came with the product to charge. Follow the instructions from the manufacturer. Buy new chargers from the manufacturer or one that the manufacturer has approved.

RECYCLE batteries responsibly. Don't throw lithium-ion batteries in the trash or regular recycling bins because they could start a fire.

CHARGE your device on a hard surface. Don't overcharge your device. Unplug it or remove the battery when it's fully charged.

RECYCLE your device or battery at a safe battery recycling location. Visit call2recycle.org to find a recycling spot near you.

In case of an EMERGENCY (Fire or Medical) call DSN 112.

OCONUS Emergency Travel Assistance Grant

Aligning with the American Red Cross mission of helping military members prepare for, cope with, and respond to the challenges of military service, Service to the Armed Forces (SAF) is implementing the OCONUS Emergency Travel Assistance Grant.

This program will provide financial assistance to military members, including National Guard and Reserve, actively serving Foreign Outside the Continental United States (F-OCOUS) who have been granted emergency leave.

All categories of emergency leave are eligible for this grant. Eligible service members will be awarded a $500 grant.

The OCONUS Emergency Travel Assistance Grant will be available for a limited time based on the availability of funds.

To apply, contact the Hero Care Center at 1-877-272-7337.
