

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
192D ORDNANCE BATTALION (EXPLOSIVE ORDNANCE DISPOSAL)
M-7316 TRANSPORTATION STREET
FORT BRAGG, NC 28310

Welcome Renegade!

On behalf of the entire 192D Ordnance Battalion, Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD), we would like to welcome you to the Renegade Team! You are being assigned to a unique organization responsible for reducing the hazard of domestic or foreign conventional, nuclear, chemical, biological, and improvised explosive ordnance threatening personnel, operations, installations, or material. You will find this unit filled with highly trained and professional Soldiers dedicated to the Army Mission.

The 192D EOD is presently responsible for eight subordinate companies, with five of the eight companies co-located on Fort Bragg, one detached company at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, and two detached companies at Fort Drum, New York. In addition to the Homeland Defense mission associated with the three installations, the 192D owns the most diverse mission set across all of Army EOD with companies aligned to support 82D Airborne Division contingency operations around the globe, 1st Special Forces Command, the 75th Ranger regiment, and the national capital region and Military District of Washington. The 192D Ordnance Battalion is also the parent unit to the Army's only Airborne EOD capability.

Your assignment to the 192D will be a challenging and rewarding experience. Again we welcome you to the team and look forward to serving with you. Please contact the unit to ensure your sponsors are getting the necessary information to you in order to make your transfer a seamless transition to the Renegade Team. The number to contact is (910) 908-0388/0389 Monday-Friday. Do not hesitate to call to give us a heads up on your status or anything we may be able to do to assist you and your family.

THE RELIABLE ONE – RENEGADES!

DARIO D. GUNDERSEN
CSM, USA
Command Sergeant Major

MATTHEW L. KUHNS
LTC, LG (EOD)
Commanding