FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Public Service Announcement 10th SFG(A) will conduct joint live-fire exercise

Fort Carson, Colo. – The 10th Special Forces Group (Airborne) will be conducting a live-fire training exercise on Fort Carson today through Thursday.

The 10th SFG(A) Soldiers and Air Force AC-130J pilots and crewmembers will be conducting combined training. Soldiers on the ground will direct aircraft personnel in close-air support as they fire at targets on the ground, in addition to other offensive air operations.

Video footage and photos of this type of aircraft can be found at:

Increased noise and dust should be expected including in the evening and throughout the night due to large-caliber training with live munitions.

Fort Carson is dedicated to being good neighbors and will continue to inform the public about training events that may affect surrounding communities. We strive to balance our training requirements with respecting our neighboring communities.

Concerned community members are encouraged to call Fort Carson at (719) 526-9849. We take every concern very seriously and strive to address each in a timely and thoughtful manner.

*For more information contact the Fort Carson Public Affairs Office at (719) 526-4143/7525.
