ENCLOSURE – DESIGNATED APPROVAL AUTHORITY AND PROCEDURES

1. Designated Approval Authority (DAA).

a. IMCOM Directorate (ID) Directors are authorized to approve or disapprove telework and remote work agreements for employees assigned to their organizations, including garrisons, and may further delegate this authority, as appropriate, no lower than the first line supervisor.

b. If the supervisor agrees to the telework request and a higher-level approval is required, the supervisor must forward the telework agreement to the Designated Approval Authority (DAA) with supporting documentation, using the completed DAA Framework for Telework Determination (Appendix A), as applicable.

c. The first-line supervisor can disapprove an employee's request to telework. All disapprovals must be in writing and given to the employee. Denial or termination of telework agreements should be based on business reasons (e.g., the telework agreement fails to meet organizational needs or the employee's performance does not meet the prescribed standard.) If an employee's request for telework or remote work is denied or cancelled, the non-bargaining unit employee may file an administrative grievance (APF employees), bargaining unit employees may file a grievance in accordance with their collective bargaining agreement, or a grievance under AR 215-3 (NAF employees). An employee who believes that he or she was not approved for telework, or that his or her telework agreement was terminated based on his or her race, color, religion, sex, national origin, physical or mental disability, age, genetic information, or retaliation, may file a complaint of employment discrimination.

d. An employee may withdraw their telework agreement at any time.

2. Key Terms.

a. Agency worksite: refers to an official Federal agency location where work activities are based, generally considered a centralized location of an employee's assigned organization.

b. Alternative worksite: is generally considered an employee's approved telework site, or, for a remote worker, the approved remote site (e.g., an employee's residence).

c. Official worksite: is the agency worksite for most employees, including a teleworker. For a remote worker, the official worksite is the alternative worksite to which the agency and the employee agree (e.g., the employee's residence). The official worksite is generally the location of an employee's duty station as documented on an employee's SF 50 or DA 3434.

d. Telework: is an arrangement in which an employee, under a written telework agreement, is scheduled to perform their work at an alternative worksite on a regular and recurring basis.

(1) Regular/Recurring – An approved work arrangement where eligible employees regularly work at an alternative worksite as part of an approved schedule during a bi-weekly pay period.

(2) Situational – Telework approved on a case-by-case basis, where hours worked are not part of a previously approved, ongoing, and regular telework schedule (e.g., telework as a result of inclement weather, medical appointment, special work assignments, or to accommodate special circumstances). Telework can also be considered situational even though it may occur continuously for a specific period and is also referred to as intermittent, unscheduled, or ad hoc telework.

e. Remote work: is an arrangement in which an employee, under a written remote work agreement, is scheduled to perform their work at an alternative worksite and is not expected to perform work at an agency worksite on a regular and recurring basis. A remote worker's official worksite may be within or outside the local commuting area of an agency worksite.

3. Worksite Coverage. Supervisors and DAAs will ensure adequate worksite coverage during business hours so mission operations continue to be carried out efficiently and effectively, and teleworkers and onsite employees are treated equitably.

4. Reasonable Accommodation. Any telework request for reasonable accommodation must be coordinated with Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO), Legal, and Human Resources (HR) team to ensure they comply with the EEO reasonable accommodation guidelines/processes.

5. Alternative Worksite Considerations (i.e., equipment, office supplies).

a. IMCOM assumes no responsibility for any operating costs or damages associated with the employee using his or her residence as an alternative worksite. IMCOM is not liable for damages to an employee's personal or real property while the employee is working at the approved alternative worksite, except to the extent the government is liable under the Federal Tort Claims Act or the Military and Civilians Employees Claims Act.

b. Supervisors and/or DAAs will determine the availability of government-owned information technology to support employees performing official duties at their homes (Appendix B).

6. Telework and remote work employees will continue to work at the alternate worksite during emergency closure on the employee's regularly scheduled telework day. A telework employee may be required to work at their alternate worksite during emergency closures even if that day is not a regular telework day or a day with specific approval for ad-hoc telework. If the supervisor determines that Continuity of Operations (COOP) capability does not exist because of an OPM-directed agency closure, the teleworker may be excused from duty without loss of pay or charge to leave.

7. If a situation arises at the telework employee's or remote worker's alternate worksite that results in the employee being unable to continue working (e.g., power outage or illness), the employee's supervisor will determine the appropriate course of action on a case by case basis. Depending on the situation, the supervisor may grant the teleworker excused absence (in case of emergency dismissal or closing only), offer the teleworker the option to take leave or compensatory time off (if applicable) or require the employee to report to work at the traditional worksite.

8. Agreement Process.

a. Every telework participant must have a completed DD Form 2946 (Appendix C to Encl – DD2946, DoD Telework Agreement –), regardless of whether telework is routine or situational/ad hoc. Telework agreements will be reviewed on an annual basis to assess effectiveness. A review at the mid-point of the evaluation cycle allows for any necessary corrections to be implemented during that performance cycle. The DD Form 2946 must be renewed every two (2) years. The current DoD Telework Agreement form is at: <http://www.dtic.mil/whs/directives/infomgt/forms/eforms/dd2946.pdf>.

b. Supervisors and telework participants must participate in telework training prior to beginning telework in accordance with the DoD guidance set forth in DoDI 1035.01 Telework Policy. The OPM training for employees and managers (Telework 101) presently on telework.gov, meets the telework training requirement. The training is at: http://www.telework.gov/tools_and_resources/training/index.aspx.

c. Telework eligibility of position and person must be coded in the Defense Civilian Personnel Data System (DCPDS) as applicable and defined in Appendix D.

9. Scheduling, Time and Attendance, Overtime, and Compensatory Time.

a. The existing rules for duty hours and scheduling work at the traditional worksite apply to all telework arrangements. An employee's telework hours can parallel those in the traditional worksite or be specific to the alternative worksite. Employees may be approved both to telework and work an alternative (flexible or compressed) work schedule.

b. Employees who have short-term medical conditions (such as employees recuperating from surgery, illness, or injury), and who have been medically cleared to perform work, may be allowed to work part or full time from home.

c. In the case of an emergency, including a COOP event or pandemic, the employee's work hours may be subject to change by the supervisor based on operational or mission requirements.

d. Time spent in a telework status is accounted for and reported in the same manner as if the employee reported for duty at the traditional worksite. Appropriated Fund employees using the Automated Time and Attendance Pay System will record the number of hours they spend teleworking by annotating their work hours in the system using the following codes:

- (1) TM - Telework Medical (ad hoc or regular/recurring),
- (2) TS - Telework ad hoc/situational (ad hoc nonmedical), and
- (3) TW - Telework Regular (and recurring).

Nonappropriated Fund employees will have hours recorded in EPAY for telework by utilizing the below secondary reporting category rates. Supervisors will edit the Regular Time (REG) punch to add the appropriate telework coding in the reporting category column of the timecard:

- (1) RR-TWork – Regular Recurring Telework,
- (2) S-TWork – Situational Telework, and
- (3) RT-TWork – Remote Telework.

e. Normal procedures for requesting and securing approval of annual or sick leave apply to telework/remote work employees.

f. Overtime and compensatory time rules for telework are the same as those applicable to a traditional worksite. Teleworkers must adhere to the provisions for overtime work in Title 5, United States Code and the Fair Labor Standards Act.

g. Telework employees may be required to report to the traditional worksite on scheduled telework days based on operational or mission requirements. Managers will make every effort to provide as much advance notice as possible regarding scheduling changes.

10. Performance Evaluation.

a. Performance of teleworkers and remote workers is managed and monitored the same way as employees working at the traditional worksite. The supervisor must discuss with the employee any specific performance expectations associated with telework.

b. Teleworkers and remote workers will complete all assigned work, consistent with the standards and guidelines in the employee's performance plan and guidance from the supervisor.

c. A telework agreement may be terminated by the first line supervisor if that supervisor determines that the mission is being impacted by the employee's telework or if the employee's performance has been negatively affected by telework. Absent extraordinary circumstances, telework employees will be provided a two-week notice regarding a termination or change to their telework agreement.

11. Injuries/Work-related Illness. If a telework employee is injured or suffers a work-related illness while conducting official duties at an alternative worksite, appropriated fund teleworkers are covered by the Federal Employees Compensation Act. Non-appropriated fund teleworkers are covered by the Longshoreman and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act. The government's potential exposure to liability for injuries or illnesses the employee may incur while teleworking is restricted to the area designated as the official worksite. The employee must immediately notify the supervisor of any accident or injury occurring at the alternative worksite, and the supervisor will investigate all such reports as soon as practicable after receiving notification.

Appendix B to Enclosure - IMCOM PM 690-610-1 TWv2_01 – Use of Government Furnished Equipment

Appendix D to Enclosure - IMCOM PM 690-610-1 TWv2_01 – Telework Eligibility Codes

Appendix A to Enclosure – Designated Approval Authority Framework for Telework Determination

To assist the DAA in determining whether a specific employee's request for a telework agreement should be granted, the employee's supervisor may be required to answer the following questions, as applicable.

1. Specify what type of telework is being sought (i.e., situational/ad hoc, recurring or regular) and the proposed duration. Provide primary reason for the telework request and your reasons for recommendation of approval or disapproval.
2. Describe in detail the daily responsibilities of the employee.
3. Describe in detail your plan for supervising the work product of the employee.
4. If the employee is requesting to telework outside of area, where does the employee propose to telework from?
5. If employee is requesting regular or recurring telework, is the position coded as eligible for regular or recurring telework (YA001) or it is coded as eligible for situational or ad hoc telework only (YA002) in DCPDS?
6. Has the requestor had any time and attendance issues within the past year? If so, please provide an explanation of the issue and the resolution.
7. Has the requestor had any issues with respect to the misuse or abuse of government IT equipment? If so, provide an explanation of the issue and the resolution.
8. Has the requestor had any performance or conduct issues within the last 12 months? If so, please provide an explanation of the issue and the resolution.
9. What was the requestor's last rating of record (employees must have a minimum rating of fully successful to be eligible)?
10. Does this employee have any unresolved security issues?

NOTE: The official worksite for an employee covered by a telework agreement is the location of the traditional worksite for the employee's position, as long as the employee is scheduled to report physically at least twice each biweekly pay period on a regular and recurring basis to the traditional worksite. When an employee's worksite is changed from the official worksite to the telework location in a permanent arrangement, a Standard Form (SF) 50 / DA 3434 must be completed by the servicing human resources office.

Supervisors and employees should be aware of the implications of this arrangement. Employees are entitled to reimbursement for official business travel to the traditional worksite when the employee teleworks full-time from a location outside the local commuting area and his or her alternate worksite has been determined as his or her official duty station. Employees are compensated based on the location of their official worksites (i.e. a change in the official worksite may change the employee's locality pay). Reassignment of the employee from the official worksite to the telework site may also have implications for a reduction in force (the telework site may be a different competitive area than the traditional worksite.)

Appendix B to Enclosure – Use of Government Furnished Equipment

1. The determination to provide and install government-furnished equipment for use by a teleworker at the alternate worksite is at the discretion of your local command.

a. Each organization will coordinate the service and maintenance of government-furnished equipment issued to their employees who telework.

b. Government-furnished equipment are provided to a teleworker for authorized U.S. Government use only and will be accounted for by the issuing organization. Family members and friends of the teleworker are not authorized to use any government-furnished equipment.

c. Government-furnished computer equipment, software, and communication devices, with appropriate security measures, are required for remote work with unclassified data (including controlled unclassified, for official uses only (FOUO) data, and Privacy Act-protected data), when the access method involves a direct connection to the Enterprise network, such as through the virtual private network or remote access server. In addition, the use of government furnished equipment must comply with the appropriate provision. The employee must agree to comply with the terms of any computer software license and copyright agreements, as well as with any Army computer virus protection requirement and procedures.

d. Employee will use a government-furnished computer, the common access card (CAC) will be used to enable, cryptographic logon entry into information technology (IT) systems and applications that reside on DoD computer networks and systems. The CAC will also be the primary platform for implementation of public key infrastructure.

e. Telework employees will comply with all security provisions.

f. Telework employees are responsible for protecting any government furnished equipment and property at the alternative worksite. Employees will return all government-furnished equipment to your local IMCOM or AEC property book officer or designated representative on the termination of employment relationship, at the termination of the telework arrangement, or at the organization's request.

2. Telework employees are responsible for safeguarding all official information and data as required by applicable law and regulation.

a. Classified information (hardcopy or electronic) will not be removed from the traditional worksite to an alternative worksite. No classified documents (hardcopy or electronic) may be taken to, or created at, an employee's alternative worksite. FOUO and controlled unclassified information may be taken to an alternative worksite, provided the employee takes necessary precautions to protect the data consistent with Army and DoD directives, regulations, and policies.

b. With a view to preventing the loss of any official information or data, the supervisor will determine how frequently, if at all, a telework employee must back- up copies of official information or data on network drives or removable disks. The supervisor may require the employee to send backup copies of information or data to the traditional worksite.

c. Telework employees will apply approved safeguards to protect official information and data from unauthorized disclosure or damage and will comply with the Privacy Act of 1974 and implementing regulations.

3. The supervisor or other representative of the employee's organization retains the right to inspect the alternative worksite to ensure that safety standards are met and government-furnished equipment is properly maintained. When the employee's alternative worksite is in the employee's home, such inspections will occur by appointment only.

4. A telework employee remains subject to the provisions of the Joint Ethics Regulation, the general principles of Federal employment, and all other Federal and agency standards of conduct while working at the alternative worksite.

The terms of this agreement must be read in conjunction with Department of Defense (DoD) telework policy, available on the DoD Issuances Web Site at <http://www.dtic.mil/whs/directives/> or on the Civilian Personnel Management Service Web Site at www.cpmc.osd.mil and any additional guidance provided by the employing organization. Signatories certify they will abide by this agreement, DoD telework policy, and all supplemental terms established by the employing organization.

1. Work schedules and hours of duty may be modified as necessary, but are subject to local management procedures and approval and/or collective bargaining agreement requirements. A copy of the employee's approved work schedule should be kept on file with the signed telework agreement. In emergency situations (as indicated in Section I, Block 12 of the telework agreement), the teleworker's work hours may be subject to change. Emergency schedules will be set based on mission needs.
2. If the employee reports to the regular worksite at least twice per pay period, the regular worksite is the official worksite as defined in part 531.605, subpart F of title 5, Code of Federal Regulations.
3. If the employee does not report to the regular worksite at least twice each biweekly pay period, the official worksite is the location of the employee's telework site. Exceptions to the twice each biweekly pay period requirement may be made during emergencies (including a pandemic) and for short-term situations (e.g., special projects, medical accommodation).
4. All pay (to include locality pay or local market supplement), leave, and travel entitlements are based on the employee's official worksite as documented on a Notice of Personnel Action.
5. Prior to signing this Telework Agreement, the supervisor and employee will discuss: a. Office procedures (e.g., procedures for reporting to duty, procedures for measuring and reviewing work, time and attendance, procedures for maintaining office communications); b. Safety, technology and equipment requirements, and c. Performance expectations.
6. Employee will not work in excess of the prescheduled tour of duty (e.g., overtime, holiday work, or Sunday work) unless he or she receives permission from the supervisor. By signing this form, the employee acknowledges that failure to obtain proper approval for overtime work may result in cancellation of the telework agreement and may also include appropriate disciplinary action.
7. If designated employee (as indicated in Section I, Block 12 of this agreement) is unable to work due to illness or dependent care responsibilities, the employee must take appropriate leave. Supervisors may, on a case-by-case basis, administratively excuse the designated teleworker from teleworking if circumstances, such as a power failure or weather related emergency, prevent the employee from working at the telework site. To the extent practicable, managers will include a description of emergency duties with this agreement if emergency duties are different from the employee's prescribed duties and responsibilities.

8. Teleworkers may be required to return to the regular worksite on scheduled telework days based on operational requirements. In situations where the employee is called to return to the office outside normal work hours, the recall shall be handled in accordance with established policy and/or collective bargaining agreements, if applicable.
9. If the employee uses Government-furnished equipment (GFE), the employee will use and protect the equipment in accordance with the DoD Component's procedures. GFE will be serviced and maintained by the Government.
10. The employee agrees to comply with the terms of computer software license and copyright agreements, computer virus and protection requirements and procedures.
11. No classified documents (hard copy or electronic) may be taken to, or created at, an employee's alternative worksite. If classified telework is authorized at an approved alternative secure location, teleworkers must comply with the procedures established by DoD 5200.01-R and the DoD Component regarding such work. Controlled unclassified information (CUI) data may be taken to alternative worksites if necessary precautions are taken to protect the data, consistent with DoD regulations.
12. When CUI including competition sensitive or source selection data is authorized for use at the telework location, criteria for the proper encryption and safeguarding of such information and data must be consistent with Enclosure 3, subparagraphs 3 f (1) through (3) of DoDI 1035.01, Telework Policy. Component specific instructions must be included in the space allowed for Component specific comments or cite the appropriate Component references that contain these instructions.
13. The supervisor will ensure that employees working from an alternate location are creating and storing records in accordance with DoD Instruction 5015.02, "DoD Records Management Program" and all agency specific records management guidelines. DoD employees are not to use personal email accounts, hard drives, or commercial cloud/file sharing services for official business, or forward email from an official email account to a personal account.

22. Either the employee or the supervisor can cancel the telework agreement. When possible, advance written notice should be provided. Management will terminate the telework agreement should the employee's performance or conduct not meet the prescribed standard or the teleworking arrangement fail to meet organizational needs.
