CONNECT TO PROTECT

TEXT TO PROTECT

When someone is having a tough time, we don't always know what to say. Here are a few conversation starters to help them open up and let them know you're here to help.

Daily Connection

Hey! Just checking on you to see how things are going. What's new?

Nothing much. Same stress, different day but I'll be alright 😊

Let's talk about it.

Relationship Stress

When we last spoke, you didn't seem like yourself. Is everything ok at home?

I'm just going through a lot right now.

I'm here for you if you want to talk about it.

Legal Stress

You seemed really down today in training. What's going on?

I just got an Article 15.

I may not know exactly how you feel but I've been there before. How can I help?

Work Stress

Hey, I heard what happened at work today. How are you feeling?

I'm so stressed and overwhelmed right now.

What do you need? I want to help.

#BETHERE

If you're struggling with your mental health, talk to your primary care provider for a professional referral.

Dynamics of Family Violence
1 October 2020, 11:45 a.m. - 12:45 p.m.
Virtual on MS Teams

Does your partner go through your phone or check your emails? Is it ok for your partner to control the family finances? Is corporal punishment legal? Do I have to take my child to the dentist regularly? How old does my child need to be to stay home alone? This presentation will answer those questions and provide an overview of family violence, abuse & neglect definitions, and the role FAP plays when a report has been made. There are plenty of abusive and neglectful acts many do not realize are abusive and neglectful until they have had this education.

To register and obtain a link to the presentation send your name and preferred email address to usarmy.detrick.imcom-fmwrc.mbx.family-advocacy@mail.mil

We will send you back confirmation of your registration and a link to the virtual class.

For additional information, call 301-619-7453.
