Increased noise levels anticipated on Fort Drum Ranges

Fort Drum, NY – The installation will host a large-scale training exercise from Tuesday, Sept. 9, to Thursday, Sept. 18, in the Fort Drum range complex.

During the training, there will be an increase in air traffic and military vehicle traffic. Community members – especially those who live or work near Range 48 – can expect elevated noise levels due to the training activities.

The support of the North Country community plays a vital role in enabling our nation's service members to participate in realistic training at home while preparing them for real-world operations around the world. Fort Drum and 10th Mountain Division leadership is grateful for that community partnership and will work to keep residents informed as the exercise proceeds.
