 - Reduces grid electricity consumption
- Key Information:
 - Work began on 4 Jan
 - Estimated overall work timeline is 12-18 months

Pilot Home Photo

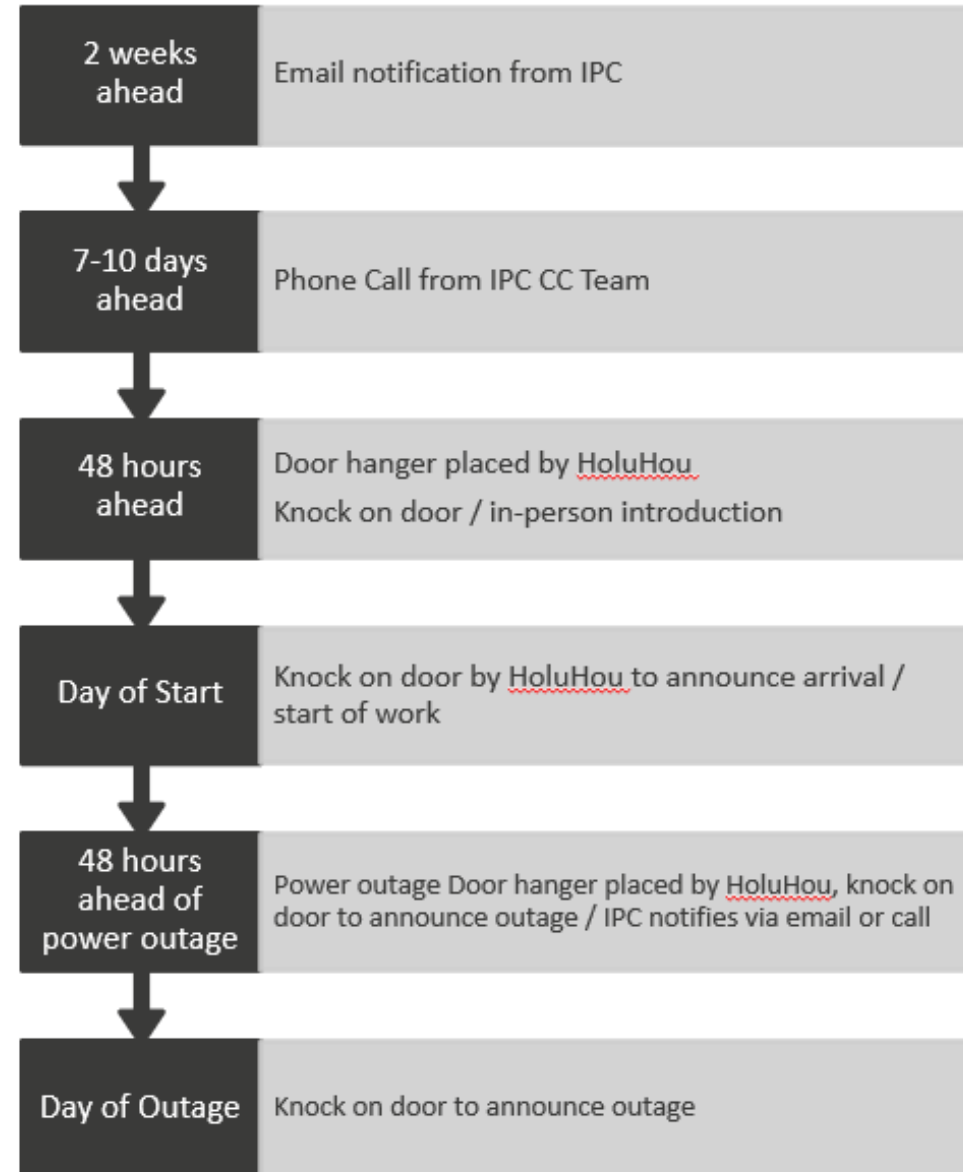

Crew 1: Blue
Crew 2: Red

What to Expect During Installation

- Timeframe: ~3 weeks per “cluster” of 2-6 addresses
- Electrical Work:
 - A 2-hour power outage is necessary to connect the system to the grid and home.
 - Residents will receive prior notice a minimum of 48 hours ahead of this scheduled power outage.
- Preparatory Work:
 - Ahead of work beginning, underground utilities will be identified and marked
 - Exclusion zones will be set up first to ensure your safety, these will be identified by metal fencing or orange snow fencing.
 - For your safety, access to backyards and/or side-yards will be limited during work hours while this work is being performed.
 - Household members, including children and pets, must not enter the exclusion area during work hours: 8am – 5pm, M-F.
 - When safe to do so, at the end of the workday, crews will open the backyard exclusion zone areas to allow for your use during the evenings and on weekends / holidays.
- Roof Work:
 - Workers will be on the roof installing solar panels which will require them to go up and down in a lift, generating equipment noise as well as the pitter-patter of work-boots on the roof.
- Exterior / Wall Work:
 - Workers will also install electrical equipment on the back and/or side yards of your home and garage which may be noisy due to power-tools.
- Dirt / Yard Work:
 - The workers will need to dig trenches in your backyard or side yard to connect the systems together. This may be loud due to digging machinery and other power tools.
