WELCOME TO JOINT BASE MYER-HENDERSON HALL

Look for details inside this guidebook, prepared to introduce you to the joint military environment in the National Capital Region, but also to acquaint you specifically with the services and facilities that will make you feel at home.

You are serving at the center of the nation's treasure, wrapped in the history of yesterday and poised for the innovations of tomorrow.

There are very few service-unique functions at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall. If a function can be shared, and it is in the best interests of those served to do so, the function is shared.

Both services maintain the traditions and unique history that speak "Soldier" and "Marine."

Again, welcome to Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall located in Virginia and in Washington, District of Columbia.

A HISTORY OF INNOVATION • A FUTURE OF SUCCESS

A LITTLE HISTORY

Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall is made up of Fort Myer and Henderson Hall in Virginia, and Fort Lesley J. McNair in Washington, D.C.

FORT MYER

Fort Myer, Virginia, traces its origins to the Civil War and since then, has been a Signal Corps post, a showcase for Army cavalry and site of the first flight of an aircraft at a military installation. The acreage that is Fort Myer and Arlington National Cemetery was once called Arlington Heights when owned in the late 1850s by Mary Anna Randolph Custis, daughter of George Washington Parke Custis, Martha Washington's grandson.

Mary Anna married young Army Lt. Robert E. Lee in 1831. Lee, who had graduated second in his West Point class of 1829, later helped rescue the estate from financial ruin in 1860. The Lees left the area in the spring of 1861, and Lee became military advisor to Confederate President Jefferson Davis, and later, commander of the Army of Northern Virginia. He never returned to Arlington.

The government confiscated the land in 1864, when Mrs. Lee did not pay her property taxes in person. Part of the estate became Arlington National Cemetery. The remainder of the estate consisted of Fort Cass (named by the Union Army's 9th Regiment Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry Soldiers for their commander Col. Thomas Cass), built in 1861, where the Fort Myer Thrift Shop now stands; and Fort Whipple – built in May 1863 – now Whipple Field. Fort Whipple was named in honor of Maj. Gen. Amiel Whipple, a West Point graduate of the class of 1841. A Union officer, Whipple fought in the Civil War battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville in Virginia. He died of wounds sustained at Chancellorsville in 1863.

Fort Whipple was one of the stronger fortifications built to defend the Union capital across the Potomac River. Units stationed there lived in tents and temporary frame structures. The fledgling post's high elevation made it ideal for visual communication, and the Signal Corps took it over in the late 1860s. Brig. Gen. Albert J. Myer commanded Fort Whipple and, in 1866, he was appointed the Army's first chief signal officer, a post he held until his death in 1880. The post was renamed Fort Myer the next year in his honor.

In 1886, Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, the Army's commanding general, directed Fort Myer to become the nation's cavalry showplace. Signal Corps personnel moved out and cavalrymen moved in, including the 3rd Cavalry Regiment between World Wars I and II, supported by the 16th and 55th Field Artillery Battalions. Some 1,500 horses were stabled at Fort Myer in 1940, and Army horsemanship had become an important part of Washington's official and social life.

Most of the buildings at the north end of Fort Myer were built between 1892 and 1908. Quarters One was completed in 1899, as the post commander's house, but since 1908, it has been the home of Army chiefs of staff, including Gens. George C. Marshall, Omar N. Bradley, Douglas MacArthur and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The first military test flight of an aircraft was made from the Fort Myer parade ground on Sept. 9, 1908, when Orville Wright kept the Wright Flyer in the air for a minute and 11 seconds. The 13th test flight ended in tragedy when after three minutes aloft, the aircraft crashed. Wright was severely injured, and a passenger, Lt. Thomas Selfridge, became the first powered aviation fatality.

Defense troops were stationed at Fort Myer during World War II, when it also served as a processing station for Soldiers entering and leaving the Army. The U.S. Army Band (Pershing's Own) and the U.S. Army School of Music moved to the post in 1942, joined later by the U.S. Army Chorus. The Army's oldest infantry unit, the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard) was reactivated in 1948, and assigned to Forts Myer and McNair (D.C.) to become the Army's official ceremonial unit and security force in the Washington metropolitan area.

The Wright Military Flyer arrives at Fort Myer, Virginia, aboard a wagon, attracting the attention of children and adults, Sept. 1, 1908. In addition to military aviation trials, Fort Myer is also the home of U.S. Army Observation Balloon training from 1902-1927. #HistoryOfInnovation

FORT MCNAIR

Fort Lesley J. McNair, on the point of land where the Potomac and Anacostia rivers join in Washington, D.C., has been an Army post for more than 200 years, third only to West Point and Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, in length of service. The military reservation was established in 1791, on about 28 acres of what then was called Greenleaf Point. Maj. Pierre C. L'Enfant included it in his plans for "Washington, the Federal City," as a major site for the defense of the capital. An arsenal first occupied the site in 1801; earthen defenses had been there since 1791.

The fortifications did not halt the invading British in 1814. With the British coming overland toward Bladensburg, Maryland, Soldiers at the arsenal evacuated north with as much gunpowder as they could carry, hiding the rest in a well as the Redcoats approached from two directions. About 45 British soldiers were killed and wounded from an accidental explosion when a spark ignited an open barrel of black powder.

"A tremendous explosion ensued," a doctor at the scene reported, "whereby the officers and about 30 of the men were killed and the rest most shockingly mangled." The remaining British destroyed the arsenal buildings, but the facilities were rebuilt after the war.

Land was purchased north of the arsenal in 1826, for the first federal penitentiary where the conspirators accused of assassinating President Abraham Lincoln were imprisoned in 1865; after a trial found them guilty, four were executed there by hanging.

Among them was Mary Surratt, the first woman to be executed under federal orders. The movie "The Conspirator," recalling these events, came out in 2011. A hospital was built next to the penitentiary in 1857, and Civil War Soldiers who were wounded were treated at what then was called the Washington Arsenal. President Lincoln was a frequent visitor to the arsenal, coming to observe ordnance tests on new weaponry. He also attended the funeral for 21 women war workers who on June 17, 1864, were killed by the explosion of a bin of gunpowder in the room in which they were assembling cartridge cases by hand. A spark ignited fireworks drying outside the building causing the explosion, one of the worst catastrophes to occur in the city of Washington.

The arsenal was closed in 1881, and the post was transferred to the Quartermaster Corps. It was known by the name Washington Barracks. A general hospital was located at the post from 1898 until 1909. Maj. Walter Reed worked there and found the area's marshlands an excellent site for his research on malaria. The major died of peritonitis after an emergency appendectomy operation at the post in 1902.

The post dispensary now occupies the buildings where Reed worked and died. About 90 percent of the present buildings on the post's 100 acres were built, reconstructed or remodeled after 1903.

HENDERSON HALL

Henderson Hall is located in Arlington, Virginia, directly across the Potomac River from the nation's capital.

Henderson Hall is situated on Southgate Road on the southern border of Arlington National Cemetery, next door to the Army's Fort Myer. The Pentagon is a short distance to the east, with the Air Force Memorial immediately to the east.

Built on land acquired through deeds and other actions between 1943 and 1952, Henderson Hall officially became U.S. government property on Feb. 15, 1954, when the governor of Virginia executed a Deed of Cession of Political Jurisdiction.

With the move of Headquarters Marine Corps to the Navy Annex in November 1941, and Marine Corps expansion following the outbreak of World War II, a Headquarters and Service Company was organized at Henderson Hall on March 1, 1942.

Subsequently, the unit was designated Headquarters Battalion on April 1, 1943. A section of Headquarters Battalion of Women Marine Reserves was organized in September 1943, to provide barracks for a portion of the 2,658 women assigned to the Washington, D.C., area. During August 1946, a substantial number of female Marines were released from active duty, making Henderson Hall barracks available for billeting male Marines.

Henderson Hall owes its name to Col. (Brevet Brig. Gen.) Archibald Henderson, fifth commandant of the Marine Corps. Born in Colchester, Virginia, Jan. 21, 1783, he was appointed a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps June 4, 1806; promoted to first lieutenant March 6, 1807; to captain April 1, 1811; and was appointed a major, by brevet, in the year 1814.

As a captain during the War of 1812, Henderson participated in the engagements with the British war ships HMS Cyane and HMS Levant on April 20, 1815. He received a silver medal and was included in the thanks of Congress to the officers and men of the USS Constitution for gallant service.

Soldiers assemble on Fort Myer's Summerall Field for Officer Training Camp in 1917.

He was later presented with a jeweled sword by the Commonwealth of Virginia.

During the years subsequent to the second war with Great Britain, until the year he was appointed commandant, Brevet Maj. Henderson was on duty at such posts and stations as Boston, Portsmouth, Headquarters, U.S. Marine Corps; and at New Orleans.

On Oct. 17, 1820, at the age of 37, Lt. Col. Henderson was appointed as commandant of the Marine Corps. He served in the position for more than 38 years – the longest of any officer to hold that position.

During the 1836-37 war with the Seminole and Creek Indians in Georgia and Florida, in which the Marine Corps took an active part, Col. Henderson, as commandant, went in person into the field with his command sharing in the dangers and exposures of that campaign. For his services in checking Indian hostilities, he was advanced to the brevet rank of brigadier general.

During the Mexican War, which was preceded by much military activity on the part of the Marine Corps during the years 1845-46 on the West Coast, Henderson administered the affairs of the Marine Corps. The success attained by the Corps during the war, including its expansion and development from a small fighting force into a well-recognized and very formidable arm of the nation's military forces, was due in no small measure to the leadership and ability of its commandant.

In 1857, Marines were ordered at the request of the mayor of Washington, D.C., to suppress an armed mob of "hired roughs and bullies" that had been imported from Baltimore to take possession of the election booths. During the riot, when a cannon was put into position by a large crowd who threatened the Marines, Henderson deliberately placed his body against the muzzle, thereby preventing it from being aimed at the Marines, just at the moment when it was about to be discharged.

He died Jan. 6, 1859. His remains were interred in the Congressional Cemetery in southeast Washington, D.C. The Navy transport the USS Henderson, was named in his memory.

MISSIONS, HEADQUARTERS, DEMOGRAPHICS

Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall secures its joint community, sustains infrastructure and supports installation partners and special events in order to support the Joint Task Force - National Capital Region and U.S. Army Military District of Washington mission and contingency operations.

On order, JBM-HH supports MDW and JTF-NCR homeland defense, defense support of civil authorities, and other contingency operations in the NCR.

The joint base, headquartered on the Myer, provides some 150,000 active duty, reserve component, and retired military personnel, family members, and civilian workforce with modern, clean, safe facilities and services.

Amid history and pageantry, JBM-HH provides administrative, housing, recreation, and support to active duty, reserve component, retired military, and Department of Defense civilian personnel stationed or living in the NCR.

ARMY

The U.S. Army Military District of Washington commanding general serves as the senior commander for Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall providing for the care of service members, Families, and civilians and enabling unit readiness. The CG, USAMDW, also serves as the commander of Joint Task Force - National Capital Region. JTF-NCR plans, partners, maintains situational awareness, and as directed, employs forces to conduct homeland defense and civil support operations to defend and secure the National Capital Region. As a Direct Reporting Unit to Headquarters, Department of the Army, USAMDW provides executive, operational, ceremonial and musical support across a full spectrum of worldwide responsibilities to support our nation's leaders, while also serving as the Army forces component to, and core staff element of, the Joint Task Force-National Capital Region.

U.S. ARMY INSTALLATION MANAGEMENT COMMAND

Installation Management Command was formally acknowledged as a major subordinate command of Army Materiel Command.

The transition establishes unity of command and effort on installations, improves the readiness of Soldiers and formations, and strengthen the well-being of Soldiers, civilians and Families.

The move, part of the Army's aggressive ongoing reforms, was made to free up resources for readiness and modernization efforts and to improve overall efficiency.

Gen. Edward M. Daly is Commanding General of Army Materiel Command, based at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama.

Lt. Gen. Douglas M. Gabram, IMCOM commanding general, serves from Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall is one of the 17 installations in the Installation Support Directorate Sustainment. The Central and Atlantic Regions of IMCOM recently transformed to three Installation Support Directorates, each co-located with the ACOM it supports: Readiness, Sustainment, and Training.

No military or civilian personnel moves are expected at this time due to the realignment. IMCOM has 50,000 employees worldwide.

Army installations play a vital role in establishing military might and sustaining troops, and praised IMCOM professionals for their work.

IMCOM is the 10th command aligned under AMC. Its realignment reinforces the Army's priority of readiness, ensuring all installations are postured to provide the best support, services and facilities.

AMC performs installation support and service functions, from management of installation power-projection platforms to installation contracting services.

This realignment consolidates base operations and other similar support functions under one command and leverages the Army's existing expertise in logistics, sustainment and services.

This effort is one of the ongoing reforms of management and headquarters to make the Army as efficient as possible and ensure the prioritization of resources to readiness and modernization.

The Army continues to focus on reform to modernize the force and increase lethality in support of multi-domain operations.

MARINES

Headquarters and Service Battalion, Headquarters Marine Corps, Henderson Hall, in Bldg. 29 on the Henderson Hall campus of the joint base, provides administrative, operational, and logistical and quality of life services in support of over 2,000 Marines and civilians of Headquarters Marine Corps. Additionally, Henderson Hall serves to support all of the retired service members and Family members who live in the National Capital Region.

Some 450 Marines and civilians work in the confines of the joint base, and the remainder is spread throughout the Pentagon, Navy Yard, Crystal City, and other dispersed locations in five counties surrounding Washington, D.C.

HEADQUARTERS BATTALION

U.S. ARMY, JBM-HH, VIRGINIA

Headquarters Battalion U.S. Army is the premier headquarters command unit in the Army, proudly embodying its motto of “Leadership and Service.” It is the Army’s largest battalion, with approximately 6,000 active duty and reserve component Soldiers serving in the National Capital Region and other locations around the world.

Headquarters Battalion U.S. Army’s primary mission is to ensure the accountability, discipline, and individual readiness of more than 6,000 assigned and attached Soldiers serving in 62 agencies around the National Capital Region and beyond.

Other missions include supporting Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall in Virginia and Fort McNair in the District of Columbia. The Headquarters Battalion U.S. Army partners with headquarters battalions at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, and Fort Meade, Maryland, to provide unparalleled support to more than 11,000 Soldiers throughout the Military District of Washington.

The battalion’s Soldiers and Families live and work in a large geographic area which locally includes Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia. For National Guard and U.S. Army Reserve Soldiers on temporary orders, their Families are spread throughout the 54 states and territories as well. This battalion embraces this unique challenge as we man Army, Department of Defense, and interagency positions around the world. The battalion provides a critical link in Soldier and Family readiness as we partner with numerous Army, Joint, and civilian service providers.

The battalion plays a critical role for assigned personnel through support to integrate new Soldiers, Families, and Department of the Army Civilians into sections and directorates, ensuring readiness of all personnel, coordination of Soldier and Family support services, and leveraging numerous family advocacy and substance abuse programs. The battalion assists 62 agencies as the sole vested UCMJ chain of command authority for Soldier issues for the Commanding General, U.S. Army Military District of Washington. The battalion coordinates with local agencies to help personnel navigate through the unique systems and processes in the NCR. Additionally, the battalion ensures all members are current with Army requirements, whether the Army Combat Fitness Test or annual training requirements. The battalion runs all NCO school order of merit lists and required counseling, and facilitates promotion boards, Soldier and NCO of the Quarter Boards, and NCO professional development for assigned personnel.

The Headquarters Battalion U.S. Army was activated as a provisional headquarters on June 1, 1992, at Fort Myer, Virginia, with four companies and approximately 1,000 Soldiers. In October 1993, the battalion was designated a permanent unit and aligned with the U.S. Army Military District of Washington. Under Department of the Army General Order Number 1977-16, all forces in the National Capital Region were aligned under the senior commander responsibility of the Commanding General, U.S. Army Military District of Washington. Thus, Headquarters Battalion U.S. Army functions as a summary court-martial convening authority for MDW. As a result, 62 separate agencies and offices in the NCR – consisting of more than 300 units and subunits – have been aligned under the Headquarters Battalion U.S. Army for leadership, command and control, accountability, command climate, command discipline, UCMJ, individual readiness, and training in accordance with AR 600-20, AR 350-1, and other applicable regulations.

Since 1992, the battalion has continually transformed and grown into its present-day configuration. Today, the battalion consists of two companies: Headquarters Company, United States Army; and Headquarters & Headquarters Company, United States Army Garrison, Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall. Both companies are co-located with the battalion in Bldg. 417 on Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall.

Headquarters Company, United States Army is the largest company in the U.S. Army and consists of approximately 3,500 uniformed personnel in Headquarters, Department of the Army — the secretariat and the Army Staff. The company also supports Soldiers in the Army Reserve and the Army National Military Cemeteries (including Arlington National Cemetery). Initially established by the U.S. Army Military District of Washington on May 10, 1955, it is the only company in the U.S. Army authorized its own distinctive guidon, unit crest, and shoulder patch (in the shape of the Pentagon).

Headquarters & Headquarters Company, United States Army Garrison, Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall is the second largest company in the U.S. Army and supports all joint activities in the NCR and beyond, to include approximately 2,500 uniformed personnel in the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Joint Staff, the White House agencies, the State Department, the National Security Council, and many others. Initially established along with the original Fort Myer in the post-Civil War 19th century, all Soldiers assigned official billets to the company wear the Army Materiel Command patch.

The Headquarters Battalion U.S. Army is a unique unit with a complex mission. It takes pride in providing leadership and support to the tens of thousands of Soldiers and their Family members. The Soldiers and Civilians in the battalion fully understand that to accomplish the Army’s missions they have two important tasks. The first task is ensuring readiness of Soldiers to support daily missions and worldwide contingency operations, and the second is to ensure we are taking care of the Soldiers and the Family members themselves. Everything the battalion does supports both critical tasks.

The battalion is unique in that it has two distinct command channels — the U.S. Army Military District of Washington and the U.S. Army Installation Management Command, aligned under Army Materiel Command. All Soldiers assigned official billets to the battalion staff wear the Army Materiel Command patch and uphold the mottos of “Sustain, Support, and Defend!” and “Leadership and Service!”

INPROCESSING

The first contact military, civilian personnel, and families make at a new duty station sets the tone for the tour that follows. Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall personnel recognize this and seek to smooth the transition in numerous ways. Here, under “Inprocessing,” is a set of services you may need right away. An all-inclusive list of services available follows this section. See the center of this guide for maps of JBM-HH and the Washington, D.C., and northern Virginia communities.

SOLDIER INPROCESSING

All in-processing Soldiers will report to their unit or agency of assignment and sign-in with the unit or agency to change their status to arrive. Soldier duty status will then change, and military leave will be terminated as appropriate. Soldiers will turn in DA Form 31 (Leave), and assignment orders, and/or amendments to the S1 POC. The unit or agency of assignment will then complete the duty memorandum, and update information for the DD Form 93 and SGLI at that time. Soldiers may experience delays in receiving military pay if documents are not properly authenticated and contain incorrect information. For more information, call 703-696-0343.

MARINE INPROCESSING

New-join personnel should report to Henderson Hall Consolidated Administrative Center, Bldg. 29, 703-614-7171, during work hours or to the duty officer at the Duty Hut in Bldg. 29, 703-614-2014, after work hours. A “Welcome Aboard” orientation is mandatory for personnel O-3 and below. Family members are welcome and civilian attire is recommended. The orientation is given on the last Tuesday of the month from 8 to 10:30 a.m. on board Henderson Hall. Call Marine and Family Programs at 703-693-9197 or visit www.mccsHH.com

ARMY CIVILIAN NEWCOMERS ORIENTATION

A “Newcomers Orientation” specifically for Army civilian employees is held quarterly from 8 a.m. to noon in the Command Conference Room in Building 59. This orientation introduces new civilian employees to the JBM-HH community and provides information on the JBM-HH mission, functions, current policies, and procedures. Additionally, it introduces key support staff and outlines programs and available resources. Appropriated and nonappropriated employees are welcome. For more information and to sign up for the orientation, call 703-696-3520.

HOUSEHOLD ITEMS TO GET YOU STARTED

The Army Community Service Lending Closet, Bldg. 201, Myer campus, and the Marine Corps Community Services Lending Locker, Bldg. 12, Henderson Hall, provide temporary loan of household items to permanent change of station families

— arriving or departing personnel — who are without their household items.

The Lending Closet offers basic essentials such as pots and pans, dishes, irons, sleeping mats, folding tables, chairs, and baby items. Linens are not provided.

The Lending Locker has futons, pots and pans, ironing boards and irons, coffee makers, plates with silverware, alarm clocks, and vacuum cleaners.

These items are available to active duty military members and their Families; DOD civilians with a CAC are also eligible. Be sure to bring your military or family member ID card to check out items.

For more information, for Marines call 703-614-7202 or 703-614-7200 at Henderson Hall for the Lending Locker; Army personnel call 703-696-3510 for the Lending Closet on the Myer campus.

TEMPORARY LODGING

There is temporary lodging at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall’s Wainwright Hall, on the Myer campus of JBM-HH – Intercontinental Hotels Group – open 24 hours, seven days a week. Phone them at 703-696-3576/3577, DSN 426-3576/3577. The website: www.IHG.com. Also, see the Marine Corps Community Services web page for “Relocation” at www.mccsHH.com.

SERVICES

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DIVISION

The Administrative Services Division, part of Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall Human Resources Directorate on the Myer campus of Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall, is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. ASD comprises the following programs and services:

★ Freedom of Information/Privacy Act

Individuals wishing to request information pertaining to Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall or U.S. Army Military District of Washington activities may submit requests under the FOIA/PA program. The JBM-HH home page has a link to the FOIA reading room where procedures are outlined for submitting requests. For more information, call 703-696-8516/7096.

★ Army Records Information Management System

The Installation Records Manager offers assistance in setting up ARIMS accounts; provides training on the use of ARIMS; conducts staff assistance visits on request to help units properly set up and maintain their ARIMS filing system; and conducts triennial inspections. For more information, call 703-696-7096.

★ Records Holding Area Operations

The installation records manager maintains a local records holding area for long-term records storage under the ARIMS system for those organizations to which we provide support. For more information, call 703-696-7096.

★ Publications and Forms Ordering/Stockroom

The pubs/forms manager manages all requests for publications accounts made on DA Form 12-R; provides training to users on how to use the Army Publications website and the Publications Product and Index Ordering System to order publications and forms; assists users in locating hard-to-find items; maintains a stockpile of DD and DA certificates for customer use. For more information, call 703-696-4592.

★ Local Publications and Forms Preparation

The local pubs/forms manager provides guidance and assistance to customers on the preparation and proper format of locally-generated policy memorandums, regulations/pamphlets, and forms (to include e-forms); assigns numbers to policies, regulations/pamphlets and forms; coordinates posting of applicable locally-generated publications on the JBM-HH website. Programs include Functional Academic Skills Training; college programs at the associate, baccalaureate and graduate level; Armed Personnel Testing; and Defense Activity for Non Traditional Education Support, end of course examinations, vocational and aptitude testing. Educational counseling and academic advisement are available.

An Army learning center is available with a loan library of military publications, microcomputers for in-house use, software to assist in student loan and college searches, and numerous paper-based self-development materials.

The education center is located in the Combined Operations Facility, Myer campus of JBM-HH, Bldg. 417, room 216. Hours are from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call them at 703-696-3070.

DIRECTORATE OF EMERGENCY SERVICES

The Directorate of Emergency Services is made up of the Office of the Provost Marshal and the JBM-HH Fire Department.

The purpose of provost marshal's office is to provide law enforcement, physical security, installation security and ceremonial support to the Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall community, Arlington National Cemetery and the U.S. Army Military District of Washington. Fire and emergency services provides broad-based fire, rescue and emergency medical services to those entrusted in our care, preventing harm to people, government property and the environment through education, training and prevention programs.

★ Police Operations

The police operations section is responsible for the daily operations of law enforcement patrols, emergency response dispatching and the JBM-HH Police Station. These functions include police patrolling, desk operations, emergency 911 dispatching, traffic accident investigations, criminal investigations, military working dog services, animal control assistance, specialized law enforcement requests, installation perimeter security, funds escort, and community support.

These functions are completed by a staff of Department of the Army Civilian Police Officers, Department of the Army Security Guards and military police Soldiers. The Soldiers are from the 289th MP Company, 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard).

Police patrols are responsible for enforcing all laws, regulations and policies; deterring crime through patrolling; responding to calls for assistance; assisting stranded motorists; and promoting a positive image of JBM-HH.

The police desk is responsible for receiving, coordinating and dispatching all emergency responders to JBM-HH incidents. The police desk also assists individuals with general information requests.

★ Physical Security

The JBM-HH Physical Security section is dedicated to upholding the physical measures designed to safeguard personnel and to prevent unauthorized access to the installation, equipment, material and documents. The physical security section strives to safeguard the community against espionage, sabotage, damage, and theft.

The physical security section provides a number of services to include intrusion alarm coordination, key and lock control, security surveys and inspections of facilities and restricted areas as well as reviewing construction and additional projects for security compliance.

★ Private Weapons Registration

Individuals living on JBM-HH must register their privately-owned weapons with the Directorate of Emergency Services within 72 hours after establishing residency on JBM-HH. Proof of ownership is required for registration. Proof of registration must be provided to law enforcement personnel upon request at any time the weapon is out of an approved storage location and being transported on the installation. For additional information regarding privately owned weapons or registration, call 703-588-2800.

★ Private Weapons Storage

Weapons and other projectile firing weapons stored in quarters will be unloaded and will be secured in a locked container (such as a gun cabinet, lockable closet, or gun case) or have a trigger-locking or action-blocking device on the weapon. Weapons and projectile firing weapons that cannot be stored in this manner will be stored in the unit's designated arms room. Weapons and other projectile firing devices will not be stored in barracks rooms. Ammunition will be stored separately from the container in which the firearm or weapon is stored. Lost or stolen weapons should be reported to DES immediately at 703-588-2800.

Privately owned weapons, firearms or projectile firing devices transported in a vehicle will be secured in the trunk. For vehicles without a trunk, weapons will be encased in a container other than the glove compartment/console or additional vehicle compartments and stored in such a manner that they will not be accessible to the driver or passenger(s). If transporting a weapon while operating a motorcycle, the weapon must be cased and may not be carried on the physical person in any manner. Commercially available trigger locks and other security devices are strongly recommended. All firearms or projectile firing devices will be unloaded. Carrying a loaded firearm or other projectile firing device is absolutely prohibited.

Carrying concealed weapons, of any type, on the installation is prohibited regardless of whether a state or county permit has been obtained.

For additional information regarding physical security, call 703-696-8887.

★ Visitor Control Center

Located in Bldg. 415 on the Myer campus of Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall, the Visitor Control Center serves to accept and process automated installation entry pass applications for those visitors and contractors who do not qualify for a DOD ID card. Open Monday through Friday 6 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. the VCC is closed on Sunday.

Because of mandated security requirements, all non-DOD- and nonfederally-affiliated ID card holders and drivers of commercial delivery vehicles MUST use Hatfield Gate, located at 2nd Street, South, Fort Myer, VA 22211 to access the Myer and Henderson Hall campuses.

To view and print a pass application, go to home.army.mil/jbmhh and click on the "visitor access" icon and click on "Access control: Updates, questions, answers" in the center of the page above a photo of a Department of Army gate guard. Under Related Links choose Visitor Pass Application or Contractor Pass Application.

JBM-HH and other U.S. Army Military District of Washington installations no longer issue decals or register vehicles. All privately owned vehicles must be licensed, registered, inspected, and insured according to state and local laws.

Call 703-696-0186 or 703-696-0185 for more information.

★ Motorcycles

To register motorcycles, successful completion of a DOD Motorcycle Safety Foundation Course is only required for all military members. Evidence of course completion from other areas will be accepted and must be carried at all times while operating a motorcycle on the installation. Telephone the JBM-HH Safety Office at 703-696-6996 for training class availability and more information. Civilians only need to have the motorcycle endorsement on their driver's license.

HEALTH

Primary health care needs are met by two outpatient facilities: Andrew Rader U.S.

Army Health Clinic and the Fort Lesley J. McNair Health Clinic. The Rader Clinic is the primary facility and located in Bldg. 525, Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall. The main entrance for Rader Clinic faces the commissary on MacArthur Circle. The McNair Health Clinic supports those stationed on McNair and those enrolled at the War Colleges on the McNail campus. Sponsors need to ensure Family members are enrolled in the Defense Enrollment Eligibility Reporting System (DEERS) prior to contacting TRICARE for enrollment to a primary care manager (PCM) within one of our military treatment facilities. Please contact Humana at 1-800-444-5445 to enroll with a PCM at Rader or McNair Clinic.

★ Performance Triad

The Performance Triad is a comprehensive plan to improve readiness and increase resilience through public health initiatives and leadership engagement. The triad is the foundation of Army Medicine's transformation to a system for health, a partnership among Soldiers, Families, leaders, health teams, and communities to promote readiness, resilience, and responsibility. The system for health MAINTAINS health through fitness and illness/injury prevention, RESTORES health through patient-centered care, and IMPROVES health through informed choices in the lifespace. The focus of the Performance Triad is on sleep, activity, and nutrition (SAN) — key actions that influence health in the "Lifespace" of time that isn't spent with a health care provider. As a result, the biggest impact on health is made by making better choices in our lifespace. For more information, visit the Army Medicine Performance Triad website at: <https://p3.amedd.army.mil/>

★ Armed Forces Wellness Center (AFWC)

The AFWC provides standardized primary prevention programs designed to promote and sustain healthy lifestyles and improve the overall well-being of Service Members, Family Members, Retirees, and DOD Civilians. Andrew Rader U.S. Army Health Clinic hosts a satellite AFWC that provides services every second and fourth Wednesday of the month within the Physical Therapy clinic. These services include health coaching, wellness classes, body composition, metabolic and fitness testing. Coaching and class topics include nutrition, tobacco education, goal setting, healthy sleep habits and many more.

For more information, visit <https://rader.tricare.mil/AFWC>.

★ Andrew Rader U.S. Army Health Clinic

The mission of Andrew Rader U.S. Army Health Clinic is to ready the force, inspire the team, and provide synchronized and integrated health service support and force health protection in support of the JBM-HH and larger NCR community. We continuously strive to be Partners Committed to Wellness and Readiness for those we serve. Our goal is to achieve the reputation as the premier clinic of choice by providing legendary customer service and delivering safe, consistent, accessible, and high-quality patient-centered care with a professional team that takes care of each other. At Rader Clinic, we value teamwork, transparency, accountability, efficiency, evidence-base, compassion, empathy, customer-focus, and integrity.

Rader Clinic consists of 45 Soldiers and 135 civilian and contractor personnel that serve a population of approximately 12,000 enrolled beneficiaries — including 2,500 Active-Duty Service Members — across the National Capital Region.

Facility hours are 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. The facility is closed Saturday, Sunday, and all federal holidays. Exceptions include clinic closures due to training, which include the Pharmacy, laboratory, radiology, immunizations, and other specialty services. For more information, call 1-833-853-1392 or visit the Andrew Rader US Army Health Clinic (ARUSAHC) Facebook page for up-to-date clinic hours and operations.

To make an appointment and/or check the status of pending referrals, call the Integrated Referral Management and Appointing Center (IRMAC) at 855-227-6331 or 855-CAPMED-1.

★ Services Available at Rader Clinic

Rader Clinic does not have an emergency room and does not provide emergent care. In the event of an emergency at JBM-HH, dial the military police at 703-696-3525/26/27; at the McNair campus call 202-685-3139.

You may also dial 911 on each installation from an on-post phone. Ensure you indicate your location to the 911 operator who will forward the call to the respective installation emergency desk. Off-post, dial 911.

For additional information, please visit our website: <https://rader.tricare.mil/>.

★ Primary Care

We are proud to operate our Primary Care as a Primary Care Medical Home (PCMH) model, which means that your enrollment results in you being assigned to a team of healthcare professionals (to include a behavioral health consultant, nutritionist, physical therapist, and clinical pharmacist) who work with your PCM to provide you with top-notch medical care. The team concept allows us to coordinate your care from the moment you enter the medical system until you depart, each and every time, and across visits. Having the same team address your medical needs over time allows us to provide you with a consistent relationship with your health care team, giving you the comfort of getting to know the members of your team over time. Your team will be your "medical home" and you will be the center of our efforts.

Our team of primary care providers and nurses are the first contact and principal point of continuing care for patients. We provide services for well-baby visits, school physicals, and immunizations. In addition, screenings and physical exams are provided for the Child Development Center and Child Youth Services.

Our primary care team coordinates other specialist care that patients may need. Depending on the nature of the health condition, patients may then be referred for secondary care. We aim to improve the health of our military members, retirees, and their families by providing unparalleled customer service — and community-oriented care for our patients.

There are multiple ways to contact the primary care team, to include using the MHS GENESIS Patient Portal. Accessing your health care information and contacting your care team has never been easier. Wherever you are, any time of day, you can check lab results, renew prescriptions (refills are dialed off your bottle), request an appointment, or just ask a medical question. Your provider — or another care team member — will respond within three business days

(this system is not for emergencies). With this service, you can save yourself the time and hassle of making a phone call, and you may even be able to have your health care needs addressed without a visit to the clinic. Create your account today at <https://myaccess.dmdc.osd.mil/identitymanagement/app/login>.

Hours are Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. For appointments call the Integrated Referral Management and Appointing Center (IRMAC) at 855-227-6331 or 855-CAPMED-1.

★ Behavioral Health Services

Behavioral health provides comprehensive individual counseling, counseling on child and spouse abuse, domestic violence, and stress. Services include crisis intervention and referral to appropriate civilian agencies. Behavioral Health services are limited to the Active-Duty enrollees of Rader Clinic. Command consultation concerning potential or actual psychiatric problem areas is also provided. Services are by appointment; however, emergency situations are handled on a walk-in basis. Call 1-833-853-1392, Option 4 for an appointment or for more information. Hours are Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

★ Family Advocacy Program (FAP)

The Family Advocacy Program (FAP) supports active-duty service members, their spouses, partners, and families. FAP's mission is to prevent adult-initiated abuse, ensure victim safety and provide treatment for those impacted by abuse through advocacy, counseling and educational services that promote healthy relationships and parenting. FAP collaborates with the multidisciplinary team to provide safety and supervision planning and to coordinate clinical interventions for child-initiated problematic sexual behaviors. Reporting options for FAP can be either restricted/confidential or unrestricted. They can be reached at 703-696-3457 Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., or at 571-213-0423 outside the clinic hours.

★ Substance Use Disorder Clinical Care (SUDCC)

The Substance Use Disorder Clinical Care (previously known as ASAP) is the Army's model for providing outpatient substance use disorder and other behavioral health care in an integrated, unit-aligned, and co-located manner. SUDCC includes assessment, treatment, and aftercare, for service members within an integrated medical and behavioral health model to enhance health and readiness. The fully integrated, unit-aligned, co-located comprehensive substance use disorder treatment services utilize national best practices to optimize care delivery, treatment outcomes, and force conservation for service members.

The SUDCC provides substance use disorder treatment as part of a comprehensive plan to address total behavioral health needs and integrates care to maximize the opportunity for a rapid and successful recovery and return to full readiness status, partnering with command teams to ensure safety and maintain readiness. Call 1-833-853-1392, Option 4 for an appointment or for more information. Hours are Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

★ Dermatology Services

The Dermatology Team provides services to pediatric and adult patients. We offer skin cancer screening to include full body examinations for skin cancer. Some of the procedures performed include shave biopsy, punch biopsy, intralesional steroid injections, electrodesiccation, cryotherapy, and curettage. Cosmetic procedures such as laser therapy, dermabrasion, liposuction, and sclerotherapy are not performed. Appointments to dermatology are by referral only.

★ Well-Women's Clinic

The Well-Women's Clinic provides gynec-

logical health care for females 13 years of age through post-menopausal years. Services include – but are not limited to – contraception and counseling, sexually transmitted infections, pregnancy testing, postpartum exam, and infertility, morning after pill, IUD removal, menstrual disorders, urinary tract infections, vaginitis, dysmenorrhea, health maintenance, perimenopause/menopause/hormonal replacement therapy and osteopenia/osteoporosis. Referrals are given for infertility work up, mammograms, bone density screening, colonoscopy screening and HPV vaccines (ages 9-26). Walk-In Contraceptives Clinic is available for Active-Duty Service Members (ADSM) every Wednesday from 8-10 a.m.

★ Laboratory

We strive to deliver the best diagnostic laboratory support and to continuously exceed the MEDCOM standard for patient wait times. Our lab is frequented by patients from throughout the National Capital Region because of our reputation for both safety and accuracy in obtaining specimens with courteous and patient-centered service, a reputation we work hard to uphold every day. Tests include: Basic metabolic panel, complete blood count, urinalysis panel, erythrocyte sedimentation rate, human chorionic gonadotropin-qualitative, mono-nucleosis spot test (MonoSpot), rapid group A, streptococcus test (rapid strep), rapid influenza antigen test, and fecal occult blood test (iFob). These tests are completed in the laboratory and results are typically ready within 24 hours.

★ Pharmacy

The Pharmacy provides service for all TRICARE beneficiaries. We offer same-day services for all electronic prescriptions. New prescriptions must be activated prior to arriving at the pharmacy. Prescriptions can be activated using our Q-Anywhere service by texting “Get in line” to 833-556-3565 or by calling the pharmacy directly at 833-853-1392, option 3. If you need refills, please request your refills by calling 800-377-1723, Option 2 (Army Facility), Option 2 (Facilities in Virginia), and Option 4 (Fort Myer Rader Clinic Pharmacy). Our refill call-in line has a two-day turn around. If you’ve lost your prescription number, please call the pharmacy directly at 833-853-1392 and we would be happy to assist.

★ Immunizations

The Rader Immunizations Clinic can assist you with any questions you may have and provide you with relevant information regarding shots and vaccines. Vaccinations include shingles, influenza, COVID-19, well-baby, and the necessary shots for school and overseas travel. Tuberculosis skin testing is also available. There are no allergy services at this clinic.

★ Physical Exams

Physical exams are provided for annual Periodic Health Assessments (PHA), Airborne School, Retirement/ETS/Chapter, Ranger School, SFAS/SERE and SFAB/Sapper Physicals. Services include labs, vision, hearing, and radiology.

Services are for Active-Duty or Active Guard and Reserve personnel. Active-Duty or Active Guard Reserve Army personnel who are assigned to an Air Force or Navy base within the National Capital Region, or a healthcare facility that does not have MEDPROS or PHA entry capability may be seen here. Navy personnel and Marines requiring any type of special physical (schools, demobilization, etc.) should provide their services’ requirements for those exams upon arrival. Foreign Nationals enrolled at ARUSAHC are eligible. They should provide host nation forms required for the physical examination, as well as a list of requirements. All other situations will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

★ Optometry

We provide routine eye exams, pre- and post-refractive surgery care to active duty and retired military personnel, who are enrolled at Rader Clinic. Active duty and retired military personnel are eligible to order spectacles in the clinic. Our optical shop offers services during work hours on a walk-in basis. Family members are not eligible for this service. Retirees are limited to certain selections and are authorized one frame every 12 months.

★ Radiology

Rader Clinic provides computerized radiography standard images on a walk-in basis with a valid order from a PCM or referring physician. Rader Clinic does not provide MRI, CT scans, DEXA scans, EBCT, ultrasounds, bone density, fluoroscopy, MAMMO or nuclear medicine services.

★ Audiology

Rader Hearing Conservation Clinic is designed to ensure Service Members and DoD Civilians have the required hearing capability to perform their job-specific duties, as well as the appropriate and properly fitted hearing protection devices for their mission.

The primary purpose of hearing readiness is to identify early changes in hearing and provide education, individual counseling, and hearing protection to prevent damage to hearing. A key element of hearing readiness is monitoring audiometry, which is conducted with the current Department of Defense (DoD)-approved microprocessor audiometer system comprised of the DOEHRS–HC software application, the current DoD-approved audiometer, and the DOEHRS–HC Data Repository Web-based Application. All Service Members are required to undergo an annual DOEHRS–HC audiogram. Monitoring audiometry data is made available through the Medical Protection System, thus providing the capability for monitoring, and tracking of hearing for both individual and unit-level hearing readiness. Services are provided on an appointment and walk-in basis. DoD Civilians must be referred to by Occupational Health. For additional questions contact the clinic directly at 703-696-0151.

★ Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP)

ARUSAHC Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) works with other military and civilian agencies to provide comprehensive and coordinated community support, housing, educational, medical, and personnel services to families with special needs. Soldiers initiate enrollment in EFMP by contacting an ARUSAHC EFMP Coordinator at dha.jbmhh.andrew-rader-ahc.cal.efmp@health.mil or 1-833-853-1392, option 5. Participants in the EFMP are enrolled permanently in the program unless medical or special education needs warrant case closure, or the Soldier is separated from the Army. Soldiers are responsible for keeping the medical and/or special education needs documentation current as EFM condition changes or at least every three years, whichever comes first.

EFMP has made enhancements to improve the family experience through greater understanding of the role of each component within EFMP. For more information, please check out EFMP & Me Tool, which provides families direct access to information and resources in each of the three components. It offers 24/7 access, at home or on the go, through a digital application. Completion of DD Form 2792 (Family Member Medical Summary) and/or DD Form 2792-1 (Special Education/Early Intervention Summary) will constitute enrollment in the EFMP for TRICARE Extended Care Health Option (ECHO) enrollment purposes.

★ Physical Therapy

The Physical Therapy clinic provides evaluation and treatment planning for both acute and chronic neuromusculoskeletal conditions. Patients must have a physical therapy referral placed in the electronic medical record to use our service. Consults or referrals greater than 30 days old will not be honored and will require renewal by the referring provider, unless arranged through the chief of physical therapy. Appointment frequency will be determined by your physical therapist. All treatment appointments are scheduled on a weekly basis. A follow-up with the physical therapist is required every 30 days while receiving care in our facility.

★ Nutrition Services

Nutrition care is a central service in the National Capital Region and is available for all beneficiaries. The TRICARE Appointment Line (1-855-227-6331) can schedule nutrition appointments for beneficiaries of all ages.

The Rader Nutrition Clinic is a self-referral clinic for beneficiaries ages two (2) years or older, which means you do not need to see your PCM before requesting nutrition services. Medical nutrition therapy appointments with a Registered Dietician are available for any nutrition-related concern, including weight management, Army Body Composition Program (ABCP), dietary supplements, Performance, Nutrition, food allergies/intolerances, diabetes, prediabetes, hypertension, and high cholesterol.

★ Preventive Medicine

The Rader Preventive Medicine Team comprises Occupational Health (OH), Public Health (PH) and Industrial Hygiene (IH).

The Occupational Health Team is staffed with an Occupational Health Provider and two Occupational Health Nurses. This team provides pre-employment, annual and surveillance exams for the JBM-HH community in support of readiness. The Rader Clinic OH Team can be reached at 703-696-3552.

Rader Industrial Hygienist is a subject matter expert and conducts surveys, inspections, testing and service requests in support of the JBM-HH community and the greater National Capitol Region in support of readiness. The Rader Clinic IH subject matter expert can be reached as 703-696-3634.

Rader Community Health/Public Nurse (CHN) serves as the Health Promotion Coordinator for the installation and is responsible for managing the tuberculosis, sexually transmitted infection and communicable disease programs. Additionally, the CHN serves as a health consultant for the Child Youth and School Services and plays a key role in the management of the annual influenza vaccination campaign. The CHN is responsible for tracking animal bites, outbreaks and reportable medical conditions. Much of this work is “behind the scenes” epidemiologic data collection and interpretation to identify potential health threats to the community. The CHN also offers many health education programs. The Rader Clinic CHN can be reached at 703-696-7967.

DENTAL

Active-Duty Service Members and Reserve Component Soldiers serving on a current set of orders >30 days can get their annual dental check-ups during their birth month at several clinics throughout the National Capital Region. The Andrew Rader Dental Clinic is located on the second floor of the Andrew Rader U.S. Army Health Clinic on the Myer campus. Rader Dental Clinic is open Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and can be contacted by calling 703-696-3460. Soldiers must have a current copy of orders on file before scheduling an appointment.

Services include:

- Preventive Services
- Routine Dental Treatment
- Emergency Dental Care

Readiness Classifications:

- Dental Class 1 - No treatment needed or all treatment complete.
- Dental Class 2 - Treatment needed, but unlikely to have a dental emergency within 12 months.
- Dental Class 3 - Non-Deployable - immediate treatment needed, likely to have a dental emergency within 12 months.
- Dental Class 4 - Non-Deployable - Patient requires a periodic oral evaluation (more than 15 months since last dental check-up) or Panoramic X-Ray not present in dental record.

In an emergency, report to Walter Reed National Military Medical Center - Bethesda, Maryland 20889-5600, 301-295-4810 or A. T. Augusta Community Hospital, Fort Belvoir - 571-231-3162. In a life-threatening situation, report to the nearest emergency room.

★ Patient Records

The Rader Clinic Patient Administration Department (PAD) secures and maintains over 12,000 outpatient treatment records for enrolled beneficiaries. Services include:

- Extraction of records for patients that have scheduled appointments (this service prevents patients from waiting in line to sign-out their medical records because the medical record will already be at the appropriate clinic)
- Repair of medical records IAW AR 40-66
- Issuance of mandatory Third-Party Collection cards to patients
- Filing of medical documentation in medical records
- Providing eligibility statement for patients that have a prescription from a civilian physician
- Transfer of records and medical documentation to other Medical Treatment Facilities
- Printing of medical warning tags (allergy tags)

PAD provides support to individuals who are enrolled to ARUSAHC only and requests for support from individuals not assigned to the clinic will be handled on a case-by-case basis. Requests for copies of medical records for retirement must be made in person and should be submitted as early as six months or no later than 45 business days prior to final out processing.

★ After Hours/Weekend/Holiday Care

After hours, beneficiaries may call the TRICARE Nurse Advice Line to speak with a triage nurse by dialing 800-874-2273. TRICARE-approved urgent care facilities can be used; however, a follow-up call to your PCM or PCMH team must be made within 72 hours of the visit to receive a retroactive referral.

OTHER DIRECT CARE OPTIONS

The National Capital Region Market is the largest multi-service, integrated health care delivery system in the DoD, consisting of 34 medical facilities and 11 dental facilities. Enrollment is the first step towards receiving the quality health care provided through our primary care clinics. TRICARE-eligible beneficiaries must enroll in a Primary Care Medical Home (PCMH) before medical appointments can be made within the NCR Market. Your TRICARE East Regional Contractor, Humana Military, will process your enrollment. To locate your closest Military Treatment Facility or request assistance with enrollment, please visit www.tricare.mil/mtf or www.humana-military.com.

UNDERSTANDING TRICARE HEALTHCARE BENEFITS

★ Access To Care Standards

Access standards give DOD health care leaders a tool to measure the actual waiting and drive times beneficiaries experience and to fix problems when they occur. By measuring access to care, DOD leaders can improve customer service. Their goal is to provide beneficiaries the world's best access to health care and ensure they receive evaluation of illness in a timely manner.

Besides making access to care easy to track and improve, DOD leaders also realize that long waits at the provider's office waste valuable time. That's why the standards for access also measure how fast beneficiaries receive care for nonemergency situations at the provider's office. TRICARE's goal to treat beneficiaries within 30 minutes of their arrival at the provider's office is very ambitious compared with other health plans. To ensure beneficiaries who use the DoD Military Health System (MHS) receive medically necessary care when they need it, DOD leadership developed access standards for TRICARE Prime enrollees.

TRICARE Access standards include:

- Wait time while in the waiting room no more than 30 minutes
- Travel time from home to TRICARE Prime enrollment site 30 minutes or less
- Travel time from home to specialty care no more than an hour

Emergency services are available and accessible within the TRICARE Prime service area 24 hours a day, seven days a week. In an emergency, TRICARE beneficiaries should call 911 or go to the nearest emergency room. Use of an urgent care facility by Active Duty personnel requires the authorization of a primary care manager. If care is received during off-duty hours, please follow up with your PCMH the next available business day.

★ TRICARE Mail Order Pharmacy Program

The DOD offers this convenient benefit so that TRICARE beneficiaries don't have to drive to a pharmacy every month to receive medication for chronic conditions. To use the TMOP, beneficiaries simply call Express Scripts at 1-866-363-8667 to determine eligibility and obtain mail order envelopes with order forms. For a nominal co-payment, beneficiaries may obtain up to a 90-day supply of drugs. That's the kind of convenient access to care TRICARE leaders like to promote. For additional information on this convenient benefit, go to <https://www.tricare.mil/homedelivery>.

★ Secure Messaging

Accessing your health care team has never been easier. The MHS GENESIS Patient Portal brings your health care team to you and allows you to communicate with your doctor through secure email about non-urgent health care matters. Wherever you are, any time of day, you can check lab results, renew prescriptions, request an appointment, or just ask a question. Your doctor or another care team member will respond within three business days. With this new service, you can save yourself the time and hassle of making a phone call, and you may even be able to have your health care needs addressed without a visit to the clinic. ON BASE HOUSING

★ Executive Management and Housing Directorate

This directorate in Bldg. 205, first floor, on the Myer campus of JBM-HH, is available to assist with on post housing.

- Administrative Office
703-696-1152
- Army Family Housing
703-696-9611
- Customer service – all services/barracks/off post referrals
703-696-3557/3558/3559
- Facility manager
703-696-7007
- Family housing service orders (24/7)
703-696-2623
- MP Desk Sergeant (Bldg. 415)
703-288-2800.

★ Barracks

Unmarried personnel, staff sergeant (E-6) and above are not required to live in the barracks and are not required to get approval to live off post. Single personnel in the rank of E-5 and below are required to live in the barracks. Single personnel who are unable to be housed or who request to live off base, must get an exception to policy approved and signed by the Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall commander through the chain of command.

Once approved, the Housing Management Office will issue a certificate of non-availability to start BAH. The service member is responsible for submitting paperwork to finance/PAC for processing.

Call 703-696-3557/3558/3559 or visit the JBM-HH Housing Office, Bldg. 205, on the Myer campus of the joint base.

★ Off base housing

Off base housing is available through the Rental Partnership Program, once known as the "Set Aside" program. Under this program, apartments are available at reduced rent with no security deposits, no credit check, no application fee, and no minimum income requirement. The service member agrees to pay the rent through payroll allotment and signs a one-year lease. To apply for family housing, get off post housing listings or find out more about the RPP, visit or call EMHD, Bldg. 205, 703-696-3557/3558/3559.

JBM-HH is a part of the Department of Defense Automated Housing Referral Network – www.ahrn.com, a web-based service that allows relocating military Families to find available housing (rental or purchase) in their new location before they move. An integral part of the military's permanent change of station process, AHRN facilitates home finding at any time of day from anywhere in the world – 24/7.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS TRANSIT

The Joint Personal Property Shipping Office — Washington Area, is one of nine JPPSOs serving Department of Defense. It is a jointly-staffed organization assigned to the U.S. Military District of Washington in the District of Columbia.

Located in Bldg. 1466, Gunston Road, Fort Belvoir, the JPPSOWA mission is to provide consolidated traffic management services for shipment, receipt and storage of personal property for service members and DOD civilians moving into, within and out of the District of Columbia, eight independent cities and 24 counties in Virginia, nine counties in West Virginia, and three counties in Maryland.

JPPSOWA's hours of operation are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The office can be contacted at 703-806-4900; however, the Automated Voice Response Unit can be reached 24 hours a day at 703-806-4900, to check on inbound, outbound and nontemporary storage shipments. The office also uses beepers to alert personnel of shipment arrivals and a web page through which much of the interaction with JPPSOWA can be completed.

Regardless of branch of service, service members may contact any of the following processing offices to arrange shipment of household goods:

- Fort Belvoir, Virginia, Bldg. 1466
703-806-4900
DSN 656-4900
800-766-7686
- Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall, Distribution Management Office - Henderson Hall campus of the joint base
703-614-7190/7091

IDENTIFICATION CARDS

ID cards for military personnel, family members, and civilian employees can be obtained at one of the ID card sections in the National Capital Region. The ID card sections also handle DEERS enrollment for family members. Soldiers in the rank of E-4 and below who lose their ID cards are required to obtain a counseling statement from their commander prior to visiting the ID card facility for a replacement ID card.

All customers age 21 and older are required to have two forms of identification in their possession upon arrival at the ID card facility in order to receive an ID card.

Full-time students over age 21 must have a letter from the university registrar's office or the student online clearinghouse showing their expected graduation date.

Family members need to obtain DD Form 1172 from the ID card office, have it signed by the sponsor and notarized or signed by a verifying office. Family members who are not enrolled in DEERS should be enrolled by their sponsors. Sponsors are required to bring in proof of relationship for all dependents they wish to enroll. These documents may include birth certificates, marriage certificates, court documents, etc. Documentation needed is based on the relationship of the dependent to the sponsor.

Individuals who lose their ID cards are required to present documentation from the local security office or ID card sponsor confirming that the CAC ID card has been reported lost or stolen when y arrive at the ID card facility for a replacement ID card.

The DEERS/ID card section on the Myer campus of JBM-HH, Bldg. 202, room B19, now accepts appointments online. Appointments can be made by visiting <https://idco.dmdc.osd.mil/idco/#/>. Available appointment dates will show on calendar days. Customers merely select the available date and appointment time, input a few details, and click "submit." This new system allows customers to lock in an appointment online. Appointments can only be made using the online scheduler; call 703-696-3030 for more information.

A two-station facility is on the Henderson Hall campus of JBM-HH in Bldg. 29, room 300. Call 703-693/614-7152 for more information.

Carpooling: The National Capital Region is heavily congested by commuters trying to get in and around the area. Carpooling is available in the area. Call 1-800-745-RIDE (7433) for details.

★ Myer Thrift Shop

The Myer Thrift Shop is located on the north end of Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall in Buildings 224 and 225, at the end of Forrest Circle. The two buildings offer items including clothes, shoes, furniture, housewares, uniforms, linens, tools, and seasonal items, just to mention a few. The general public is welcome to purchase at the Fort Myer Thrift Shop. Military ID card holders may also consign items for sale.

The Boutique section of the shop (Building 225) has upscale clothing along with gold and silver jewelry, purses, military memorabilia, and other collectible decor items. Through consignments and donations from a large military community, our inventory is constantly changing.

The Thrift Shop is a 501(c)(3) non-profit private organization. Each year, the proceeds from its sales are disbursed through community grants and scholarships.

Hours of operation are Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and generally one Saturday of each month, 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Call 703-527-0664 and see www.fortmyerthriftshop.org for more information, including the summer schedule.

UNITED SERVICE ORGANIZATION

The USO of Metropolitan Washington is a private, nonprofit organization dedicated to “Serving those who serve, and their Families” in Washington, D.C., Maryland and Northern Virginia. USO-Metro provides programs and services for active duty troops and their families at the area’s military hospitals; through its Mobile USO program; five USO centers and four airport lounges.

USO-Metro has proudly served the Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall area since 1979. The recently renovated USO Honor Guard Lounge is located at 228 McNair Rd. in the Community Center. The lounge is staffed by knowledgeable USO volunteers and offers complimentary services to service members and their families including:

- A gaming center complete with an Xbox 360, a Wii system with four wireless gaming chairs, a 52-inch plasma TV, and a variety of popular games
- Five computer workstations, wireless internet, and printing capabilities
- A movie theater with leather recliners and a 72-inch, 3D high-definition television
- Variety of snacks and beverages
- DVD and book libraries

In addition, the USO-Metro Ticketline program offers free tickets to music, theater, sporting, and other area events. Call 571-267-2090 for updates on available tickets.

The Mobile USO is based out of USO-Metro’s headquarters at Bldg. 405 on the Myer campus of JBM-HH, and travels to various military community events, training exercises, deployments, and homecomings as well as to special requested events from military installation commanders.

USO-Metro provides emergency services that include housing and food assistance. USO-Metro offers free furnished apartment units to military service members and their families who are in extreme financial hardship or to families of service members who are critically or terminally ill and require treatment at area military hospitals. USO-Metro also has a limited supply of food and food certificates for military families in need.

For more information about USO-Metro’s programs, services, and upcoming events visit, www.usometro.org or call 703-696-2628.

VETERINARY SERVICES

Veterinary services at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall has a three-part mission: to provide full-time routine and emergency care to our Military Working Dogs and Caisson Platoon horses, to provide safe and wholesome food to military personnel and the JBM-HH community, and to provide preventive medicine and routine care to pets belonging to past and present warriors in the National Capital Region.

Very limited emergency services are provided for privately-owned animals. Services available by appointment only are vaccinations, micro chipping, well-pet exams, minor sick call, health certificates, heartworm tests, fecal exams, toe nail trims, assistance with preparing pets for CONUS or OCONUS moves, and dispensing medications such as heartworm preventative, flea and tick preventative, and prescription diets. Due to the limited services available, we strongly encourage pet owners to have a civilian veterinarian to provide emergency and additional routine care.

The Veterinary Treatment Facility is located at 101 Jackson St., Bldg. 239 (behind Conmy Hall and the water tower) on the Myer campus of the joint base. The VTF is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. for over-the-counter sales; closed federal holidays and the last business day of each month. Patients are seen by a veterinarian by appointment only.

Due to military obligations and the government owned animal mission, the VTF may be closed at any time, so please call before coming.

For more information or to make an appointment, please call 703-696-3604.

DIRECTORATE FOR FAMILY AND MORALE, WELFARE AND RECREATION

A variety of programs, services and facilities are available at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall. Services and programs are offered through Army Community Service (ACS), Child and Youth Services (CYS) and the Business Recreation Division (BRD) within the Directorate for Family and Morale, Welfare and Recreation.

ARMY COMMUNITY SERVICES (ACS)

The ACS center, located in Bldg. 201 on the Myer campus of JBM-HH, offers a number of programs designed to provide real-life solutions for successful living. Whether it's essential household items from our lending closet, post orientation, information about military or civilian agencies in the area, financial planning, parenting and relationship skills, or information about employment opportunities, ACS is available to assist you with your needs.

The hours of operation are 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The main telephone number is 703-696-3510, DSN: 426-3510, FAX: 703-696-0159. ACS programs and services are available to all single or married, active duty, retired, reserve component service members, civilian employees and all family members, including surviving family members of military personnel who died while on active duty, and family members of POW or MIA personnel. For more information, go to www.jbmhmmwr.com/army-community-service-acsc or www.facebook.com/jbmhhacs.

Army Community Service offers the following programs:

★ Information and Referral

ACS maintains extensive resource listings for the surrounding military and civilian communities. The resource files consist of community resources, such as, social services, food stamps, schools, elder care, and much more. For more information, call 703-696-3510.

★ Financial Readiness Program (FRP)

The Financial Readiness Program promotes readiness by counseling and educating service members and their families in all areas of consumer and financial topics and ensures that emergency assistance is available when needed. The mission of FRP is to reduce indebtedness and requests for emergency financial assistance and to prevent financial difficulties before they arise. Contact 703-696-0163 for more information.

Personal Financial Management Training is an eight-hour course providing tools necessary to handle money wisely and to make informed purchasing decisions. The course is mandatory for Army specialists/corporals (E-4) and below assigned to his or her first permanent duty station. PFMT is offered weekly in one full-day session. Contact 703-696-0163 for more information.

★ Family Advocacy Program (FAP)

The Family Advocacy Program provides services and education for families in the prevention of domestic violence and child abuse through community awareness campaigns, life skill education classes, professional education and troop and commander briefings. FAP is divided into two areas: the enrichment program and support services, located at ACS – 703-696-3512 and intervention services (counseling), located at the Andrew Rader Clinic – 703-696-3457.

Topics offered in the enrichment program include couple and parent-child communication skills; effective management of children's behavior; conflict management; and effective management of stress and anger in relationships.

Special programs that fall under Family Advocacy are the New Parent Support Program and Victim Advocacy Program.

NPSP assists parents in coping with demands of parenthood while increasing their parenting knowledge and skills, to enhance the lives of their children and reduce the occurrence of child abuse and neglect. For more information, call 703-696-6368.

The VAP mission is to protect the victims of abuse and provide services to ensure that each person who is a victim of domestic violence, is provided support and assistance with safety planning, emergency shelter, assistance with court and their legal rights, and support group resources and information. For more information, call 703-696-3512.

★ Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP)

To enhance readiness and family resiliency, EFMP enrollment is required by AR 608-75 for all active duty family members with medical and/or educational special needs. Updates are required at a minimum of every three years or sooner, as changes occur, in order for Human Resources Command to consider all aspects of the family member's special needs in the assignment process and avoid family member travel to areas that cannot support their special needs. Medical treatment facility EFMP case coordinators worldwide can assist families with the enrollment process during its initial, update, or disenrollment phases. Army Community Service EFMP managers navigate families through the maze of military and civilian local/national resources, and ensure a warm transition during PCS. Let EFMP be the main conduit for accessing resources to meet family needs, such as, but limited to, respite care, support groups, information/followup, and training during inprocessing, tour of duty, and outprocessing. For more information, call 703-696-8467/0783.

★ Army Emergency Relief (AER)

A Soldier must always be ready for whatever the mission requires. AER helps ensure financial emergencies do not interfere with readiness. The program helps to prevent lack of such basic needs as food, shelter and utilities through loans, or in dire circumstances, grants. For more information, call 703-696-8435.

★ Army Volunteer Corps

Army Volunteer Corps links volunteers with programs and community agencies that offer volunteer opportunities. Volunteering provides an opportunity to experience new career fields, gain additional training and become involved in meaningful work experiences. Contact 703-696-3510 for more information.

★ Survivor Outreach Services

Survivor Outreach Services demonstrates the Army's commitment to families of the fallen by supporting them for as long as they desire. Our mission is to provide enhanced services to surviving families by delivering services that help them manage their bereavement and financial needs by using a holistic and multiagency approach. Service delivery is provided closest to where the survivor resides or desires. Contact 703-696-8846.

★ Parent Feedback and Participation

Programs welcome parents through an open door policy, and we believe that a strong partnership with Families is essential to a strong and successful program. Parents may provide feedback through a variety of ways to include directly to the program managers or by using one of the kiosks in the lobby to access the Interactive Customer Evaluation system. This is also available online at <https://jbmhh.armymwr.com/>. All parents are also welcome to attend quarterly Parent Advisory Board meetings. Suggestions for agenda items are welcome; please provide these in advance of the meeting when possible.

Child and Youth Services also has a Parent Participation Program in which participants may earn points through volunteering in program activities for which they earn points toward an eventual 10% discount off monthly tuition payments. Please see program directors for details.

★ School Liaison Services

The school liaison officer serves as the liaison between the joint base commander, military agencies, and school organizations by providing assistance in matters pertaining to student education and school operations and implements the Strategic Planning for Education Advocacy recommendations in order to ensure a quality educational program for all military students. The SLO is the focal point of contact between the military installation, the local school administration, parents and the community at large. Specific responsibilities include advising the commander on all matters concerning student education and school operations; fostering a responsive, cooperative relationship between school representatives and the military community; and maintaining school transition support for military children. For more information, call 703-696-6920. The SLO is located on the second floor of Bldg. 203 in the Parent Central Service Office.

★ Sports and Fitness

The Joint Base Myer Henderson Hall Youth Sports and Fitness Program provided by the Directorate for Family and Morale, Welfare and Recreation (DFMWR) is dedicated to providing quality sports and fitness activities for children ages 3-18. Currently, there is a functional fitness program for children from preschool through high school.

Youth Sports and Fitness Program provides our youth with an environment that is appropriate and consistent with basic growth and development characteristics of youth. The program emphasizes fun, maximum participation, rules knowledge, and physical conditioning. The Youth Sports and Fitness Program firmly supports the “Win-Win” philosophy of play, established by the Department of the Army.

MARINE AND FAMILY PROGRAMS

Marine and Family are your partners in the community serving all commands in the National Capital Region. We understand that Marine Corps lifestyle can be stressful and challenging at times, and want to support you in your strategy of developing strong resiliency skills. While we are located at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall, we also travel to the Pentagon, and other Marine commands throughout the NCR. Our hours of operation are Monday-Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

For additional information, please call 703-614-7200/7201 or visit us on the web at mccsHH.com. From communication workshops to family readiness trainings our team looks forward to tailoring our quality of life workshops to meet your needs and those of your command.

★ Community Counseling Center, Family Advocacy, Prevention and Education, Intervention and Treatment Programs

The National Capital Region is a fast-paced, congested area with a high cost of living. As a result, Marines and their families may experience stressors related to transitions to new working environments, neighborhoods, schools, or post-deployment impact on relationships and family communication. Mental health professionals are available to assist families, couples, and individuals with the stress associated with adjusting to their new environment. Relationship and interpersonal problems and other nonmedical concerns are addressed in short-term individual, marital and family counseling and prevention, and education workshops. The program also includes domestic abuse and child abuse intervention, victim advocacy, information on transitional compensation for victims of domestic violence, command briefings, and treatment groups. For additional information, please call 703-614-7204. Victim advocate services are available 24/7 via the Domestic Violence Hotline at 202-439-6038. The military and family life counselor may be contacted at 703-414-9885.

★ Education and Career Services

Education and Career Services provides adult education opportunities and services for active duty and reserve component Marines and their families. Programs and services include academic and military education benefits guidance counseling (TA and GI Bill), the Joint Services Transcript, and academic and military testing. Programs such as the United Services Military Apprenticeship Program, Online Academic Skills Course, Marine Corps Credentialing On Line, and the Leadership Scholar Program are also available for active duty service members. Representatives from seven colleges and universities keep office hours at the center for information, academic counseling, creating degree plans, and course registration. Please call 703-614-9104 for additional information.

★ Exceptional Family Member Program

★ Single Marine Program

Don't miss out on a great opportunity to get out of the barracks and have fun with fellow Marines. The Single Marine Program offers a wide variety of day and weekend recreation trips, along with volunteer events that foster a positive relationship between the community and single Marines. Past events have included cruises to the Caribbean, dinner and a movie at Zembiec Pool, and volunteering with local community organizations. Most importantly, the Single Marine Program provides a forum for Marines to address quality-of-life issues that need to be heard and resolved by the chain of command. Activities and events are open to single or unaccompanied Marines and Sailors; some events welcome all service members. The "Home of the SMP" — the "Kickback" lounge — is in Bldg. 406A on the Myer campus. For more information, please call 703-695-1591.

PARTNERS

U.S. ARMY MILITARY DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

The U.S. Army Military District of Washington, headquartered on the McNair campus in Washington, D.C., is the largest partner supported by Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall and represents the Army in the National Capital Region. USAMDW serves as the Army Forces Component to, and core staff element of, the Joint Task Force-National Capital Region, and provides executive, operational, ceremonial and musical support across a full spectrum of responsibilities to support our nation's leaders. It accomplishes this mission in partnership with the other services and its five major subordinate units: The Army Aviation Brigade (TAAB), the 3d Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard), The United States Army Band "Pershing's Own," The United States Army Field Band, and the U.S. Army Transportation Agency (White House).

USAMDW Soldiers are familiar sights in the National Capital Region, daily demonstrating the excellence of the U.S. Army to the nation during arrival ceremonies for visiting dignitaries, memorial affairs in Arlington National Cemetery and other official ceremonies and outreach events.

The Army Aviation Brigade (TAAB) provides executive support to Army leadership, regionally through rotary-wing assets and globally through fixed-wing aircraft. TAAB operates Davison Army Airfield at Fort Belvoir and provides air traffic services to the Pentagon helipad. Additionally, TAAB has the 911th Technical Rescue Engineer Company, a unique, one-of-a-kind capability with the DoD.

The 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment is the oldest active duty infantry unit in the Army and is the Army's official ceremonial unit and escort to the president. In that capacity, Old Guard Soldiers are responsible for conducting memorial affairs missions and official military ceremonies at the White House, the Pentagon, national memorials and elsewhere in the nation's capital. Soldiers of the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment maintain a faithful 24/7 vigil at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. The Old Guard also provides defense support of civil authorities as an initial operating force to the Joint Task Force-National Capital Region.

"Pershing's Own" is the Army's premier musical organization and through musical excellence, connects the Army to the American public. TUSAB provides musical support to senior leadership and a wide spectrum of federal agencies and recruiting initiatives, while also conducting memorial affairs operations honoring the fallen at Arlington National Cemetery, and supporting a wide spectrum of national and international events.

The U.S. Army Transportation Agency (USATA) is dedicated to providing premier, world-wide ground logistical support to White House officials. Their mission support includes 24/7 planning and execution with interagency partners. USATA is the only all-Army unit under the direction of the White House Military Office and each member earns a Presidential Service Identification Badge.

The U.S. Army Field Band (TUSAFB) is the premier touring musical organization for the U.S. Army, traveling thousands of miles each year as Musical Ambassadors telling the Army story. Their mission of public outreach includes media appearances and performances at secondary schools and universities nationwide.

USAMDW exercises senior commander responsibilities for four installations (JBM-HH, Fort Belvoir, Fort Walker, and Fort George G. Meade), the Soldier Recovery Brigade National Capital Region, the Joint Air Defense Operations Center, and the U.S. Army Medical Department Activity at Fort George G. Meade.

USAMDW also has the responsibility of providing General Court Martial Convening Authority for more than 400 Army agencies distributed across the globe.

Among USAMDW's many ceremonial missions is the U.S. Army's Twilight Tattoo, an action-packed military pageant featuring Soldiers from the U.S. Army Military District of Washington's ceremonial units, the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard) and The U.S. Army Band "Pershing's Own." The show features performances by The U.S. Army Blues, The U.S. Army Band Downrange, The U.S. Army Chorus, the Commander-in-Chief's Guard, The U.S.

Army Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps, and The U.S. Army Drill Team. Twilight Tattoo is presented during the summer months at JBM-HH. Times and locations for Twilight Tattoo and other public USAMDW events are available at <https://mdwhome.mdw.army.mil/> or twilight.mdw.army.mil/.

JOINT TASK FORCE - NATIONAL CAPITAL REGION

Joint Task Force-National Capital Region (JTF-NCR) is a joint command subordinate to U.S. Northern Command. It was established in the aftermath of the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks to address threats to the National Capital Region and to provide Department of Defense support to civil authorities. JTF-NCR is part of a collaborative, regional team focused on safeguarding the National Capital Region. JTF-NCR coordinates Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard forces in support of a lead federal agency during National Special Security Events and consequence management missions.

For more information, see <https://mdwhome.mdw.army.mil/>.

JTF-NCR is a part of U.S. Northern Command and engages its federal, state, and local partners constantly to ensure a coordinated response if it is ever necessary. Situationally aware 24 hours a day, seven days a week, JFHQ-NCR monitors security requirements and coordinates with the military services, the Department of Homeland Security and local first responders in identifying capabilities the military can provide in case of an emergency or national special security event.

For more information, see <https://mdwhome.mdw.army.mil/>.

For more information call, 703-696-7107, Bldg. 205, on the Myer campus of the joint base.

3D U.S. INFANTRY REGIMENT (THE OLD GUARD)

The 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard) is the oldest active infantry unit in the Army. Founded in 1784, it even predates the Constitution of the United States. Since 1948, The Old Guard has been stationed in the Washington, D.C., area at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall.

As a Military District of Washington unit, the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment is charged with the unique mission of serving as the U.S. Army's official escort to the president of the United States and our nation's premier Memorial Affairs and Ceremonial unit, as well as performing tactical infantry missions whenever and wherever necessary and providing security for the nation's capital

THE OLD GUARD OF THE ARMY

The unit received its name from Gen. Winfield Scott at the victory parade in Mexico City in 1848 following several hard-fought victories during the Mexican War. As the 3d Infantry approached the reviewing stand, Scott removed his hat and said of the unit that had so distinguished itself in that campaign, "Gentlemen, take off your hats to The Old Guard of the Army."

Since World War II, The Old Guard has served as the official Army Honor Guard and escort to the president of the United States. In that capacity, Old Guard Soldiers are responsible for conducting military ceremonies at the White House, the Pentagon, national memorials and elsewhere in the nation's capital. In addition, Soldiers of The Old Guard maintain a 24-hour vigil at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, provide military funeral escorts at Arlington National Cemetery and participate in parades and ceremonies nationwide.

The black and tan "buff strap" worn on the left shoulder by each member of the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment is a replica of the knapsack strap used by the 19th-century predecessors of the unit to display its distinctive colors and distinguish its members from other Army units. The present buff strap continues to signify an Old Guard Soldier's pride in personal appearance and precision performance that has marked the unit for more than 200 years.

A further distinction of The Old Guard is the custom of passing in review with fixed bayonets at all parades and ceremonies. This practice, sanctioned by the War Department in 1922, also dates to the Mexican War in 1847, when The Old Guard led a successful bayonet charge against the enemy at Cerro Gordo. Today, this distinction is reserved for The Old Guard alone.

The Old Guard maintains a constant readiness for its security role and the deployment of its Soldiers by conducting a year-round tactical training program culminating with intensive training at various combat training centers. Since 2004, The Old Guard has deployed three companies in support of overseas contingency operations in the Middle East. Recently, a company of The Old Guard returned from a deployment to Camp Taji, Iraq.

1ST BATTALION, 3D U.S. INFANTRY REGIMENT (THE OLD GUARD)

comrades as well as military ceremonies in the National Capital Region to instill confidence in our civilian leaders, foreign partners, and the American people in the professionalism of the U.S. Army. On order, 1st Battalion supports local authorities in defense of the nation's capital and in times of national emergency.

4TH BATTALION, 3D U.S. INFANTRY REGIMENT (THE OLD GUARD)

The Old Guard's 4th Battalion conducts memorial affairs to honor our fallen comrades, and ceremonies and special events to represent the Army, communicating its story to our Nation's citizens and the world. On order, conducts defense support of civil authorities in the National Capitol Region.

SPECIALTY UNITS OF THE OLD GUARD 289TH MP COMPANY

The 289th Military Police Company provides direct law enforcement and force protection on Joint Base Myer Henderson Hall within the U.S. Army Military District of Washington (USAMDW). The organization delivers passive ceremonial support to America's oldest active infantry regiment "The Old Guard" by setting conditions for ceremonial excellence to occur. This diverse Military Police Company is a direct reporting unit providing Defense Support to Civil Authorities to protect federal property, personnel, and/or prevention of human suffering in support of the Joint Task Force-National Capital Region (JTF-NCR). On order, the Military District of Washington's Special Reaction Team provides no-notice twenty-four-hours-a-day, two-hour response to critical incident / crisis response and / or serves as a Quick Response Force (QRF) to designated Headquarters Department of the Army, USAMDW, and installation special events within in JTF-NCR.

947TH MILITARY POLICE MWD DETACHMENT

The 947th Military Police Detachment is attached to the 289th Military Police Company that falls under the command of the 4th Battalion, 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard). This diverse Military Police Detachment is the second largest Military Working Dog kennels in the continental United States. This unit has assigned 24 MWDs with a variety of skills from Patrol Explosive Detection Dog, Patrol Narcotic Detection Dog, and Specialized Search Dog. The Soldiers who fall under this diverse detachment are the warriors behind the scene on many highly visible missions with their four legged partners. They work closely with the U.S. Secret Service, sister military services, and local law enforcement agencies. These Soldiers of the 947th Military Police Detachment support missions for the president of the United States, vice president, and foreign visiting dignitaries. These missions range from working at Arlington National Cemetery, Camp David, the U.S. Capitol Building, the National Archives, the United Nations, and other places within the East Coast region where the president, vice president and foreign visiting dignitaries might visit in their official capacities. When not conducting mission for high-ranking officials, some Soldiers within the detachment provide 24-hour law enforcement duties for the Directorate of Emergency Services on the Myer and McNair campuses. While not conducting mission within the National Capital Region or other parts of the east coast they have an opportunity to train at some very different locations compared to fellow kennels in the military police regiment. In the past, the kennels have conducted training at places such as RFK Stadium, Verizon Center (where the Washington Capitals and Wizards play), National Stadium (the home of the Nationals), the various museums of the Smithsonian Institute, the International Airport of Dulles, the Ronald Reagan National Airport, and many more locations in the NCR.

THE U.S. ARMY OLD GUARD FIFE AND DRUM CORPS

Founded in February 1960, the men and women of The U.S. Army Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps carry on traditions that accompanied the birth of our nation. The FDC is the only musical unit of its kind in the United States military with the mission to represent the United States Army at military and civilian ceremonies, parades, schools, and other functions throughout the nation and world. The Corps showcases the professionalism of the U.S. Army Soldier musician and serves to revive the country's musical heritage. The musicians of this unit recall the days of the American Revolution as they perform in uniforms patterned after those worn by the musicians of Gen. George Washington's Continental Army. Military musicians of the period wore the reverse colors of the regiments to which they were assigned. The uniforms worn by the members of the Corps are dated circa 1781, and consist of black tricorn hats, white wigs, waistcoats, colonial coveralls, and red regimental coats. As an official representative of the U.S. Army, the Corps averages approximately 500 performances annually. The Corps has entertained millions of people in major parades, pageants and historical celebrations throughout the United States; and has served America as a goodwill ambassador as far away as Europe, Australia and Canada. Major sporting events the Corps has performed at include NCAA bowl games, NBA games, NFL games including Super Bowl XVI, the Kentucky Derby, the Indianapolis 500, and the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, New York. In support of the president, the Corps performs at all armed-forces arrival ceremonies for visiting dignitaries and heads of state at the White House, and has participated in every Presidential Inaugural Parade since President John F. Kennedy's in 1961.

CAISSON PLATOON

The United States Army Caisson Platoon of the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard), began in 1948 to carry senior fallen military officials, U.S. Presidents, and POW/KIA service members to their final resting place. Additionally, Caisson supports State Funeral operations by conducting transfers of deceased presidents through Washington D.C. to the National Capitol. Each team consists of seven horses that are either black or gray and four military horsemen that pull converted 1918 artillery wagons, known as caissons. For Colonels and above, senior U.S. government officials, and U.S. Presidents, a Caparison Horse (Cap Horse) is outfitted with a pair of boots facing backwards, saber, and insignia signifying the fallen individual's final ride. A Cap-walker, guides the horse in step and on foot, following the caisson to the final resting place.

The stables that currently house the platoon were constructed in 1908 on a former Union horse farm; after being remodeled, the platoon took old hitching posts and created the current floor of their museum. Notable horses within the platoon include: Black Jack, who served as the Caparison horse in five State Funerals to include John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson, and Herbert Hoover; he was retired and buried on Summerall Field at JBM-HH in 1976. Mark and Klinger who impacted the lives of individual families during a mission within ANC that prompted children's books to be written after them. Finally, SGT York who is the longest living Caparison horse to serve the platoon, serving as the Caparison horse for Ronald Regan and several four-star Generals.

Additional missions outside of Arlington National Cemetery include State Fairs within the NCR, military and first responder horse shows, Haunted Stables, and Caisson Spring Open House; all of which serve as outreach opportunities for the surrounding area. Caisson is an integral piece in serving the U.S. Army, families, and government officials as the last full-time military equestrian unit within the Department of Defense.

TOMB OF THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery is guarded year-round, 24 hours a day by Sentinels of The Old Guard. The guard is changed in an impressive ceremony at the tomb every half hour April through Sept. 30. During the winter months, the guard is changed hourly. The Tomb Sentinel crosses the 63-foot walkway in a special measured cadence of exactly 21 steps. The Sentinel faces the tomb for 21 seconds before retracing their steps. The number 21 corresponds to the highest salute afforded to dignitaries in military and state ceremonies: the 21-Gun Salute. As a gesture against intrusion on his post, the weapon is always carried on the shoulder farthest from the tomb. Only under exceptional circumstances may the Tomb Guard speak or alter this silent measured tour of duty. Since midnight on July 2nd, 1937, the Tomb Guards have never left their post. The Sentinels take pride in maintaining a constant vigil as a way to honor those who have made the ultimate sacrifice in defense of their country. For more information, please visit: <https://oldguard.mdw.army.mil/specialty-platoons/tomb-of-the-unknown>.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF'S GUARD

In 1776, Gen. George Washington, commander in chief of the Continental Army, issued an order to select exemplary men for his personal guard. This unit became the Commander-in-Chief's Guard.

Company A of The Old Guard organized an updated version of the Commander-in-Chief's Guard to honor this historically famous unit. The guard is organized as prescribed by Revolutionary War Gen. Baron Friedrich Von Steuben. The color team bears a duplicate of the flag Washington's headquarters carried throughout the Revolutionary War. Members of Company A also appear at different times in other historically accurate uniforms once worn by Soldiers. The "tab actors" help to portray to the public the contributions America's Army has made.

CONTINENTAL COLOR GUARD

With a heritage tracing back to the early days of our nation, the Continental Color Guard is a 3d Infantry tradition. Regimental records show that the color sergeants and the drum major of the 3d Infantry Band wore Revolutionary War-style uniforms at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, in 1922. A contemporary description stated that the purpose of the unit was “to recall to the mind of every member of the 3d Infantry the long and honorable history of the regiment ... from a period which followed closely upon the Revolutionary War.” The Continental Color Guard Team serves the same function today. The five-man unit is comprised of two armed guards and three color ensigns, who carry the national color, the U.S. Army Color, and the color of their parent unit, the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard). The team carries the national color in the place of honor on the right, the United States Army flag directly to its left, and the 3d U.S. Infantry Regimental colors on the far left. The armed guards flank the colors on either side and are responsible for protecting the honor of “The Star Spangled Banner.” The U.S. Army Color bears 172 campaign streamers, representing every campaign in which the Army has participated. The 3d U.S. Infantry Regimental Color bears 55 campaign streamers, earned by the unit’s participation in major conflicts, the Meritorious Unit Citation and two Superior Unit Awards. The uniforms worn by the Color Team are replicas of the 1784-style infantry uniforms worn by The Old Guard’s predecessor, the First American Regiment. The pattern of the uniform for wear by all infantry units of the Continental Army was approved by Gen. George Washington in 1782. It consisted of a blue coat faced with a red collar, cuffs and lapels, white buttons and lining, long-fitting overalls, and a black cocked hat with cockade. The Continental Color Guard displays the colors in numerous parades and ceremonies throughout the year. The team has performed in such notable events as presidential inaugurations, the Olympics, and the Super Bowl.

PRESIDENTIAL SALUTE BATTERY

The Presidential Salute Battery or PSB, began in 1953 to fire cannon salutes in and around the National Capitol Region (NCR) for U.S. and foreign dignitaries, senior military personnel, Presidents, and the rendering final honors for General and Flag services within Arlington National Cemetery. PSB plays a significant role during State Funerals, honoring the passing of a President by rendering honors during their arrival and departure into the NCR as well as the National Capitol where the President lies in State. Some of the major ceremonies that the platoon supports are laying of wreaths at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, retirements, the 1812 Overture Concert, the Capitol Fourth Celebration, Twilight Tattoo, Salute to the Nation, and the Memorial Day Salute.

The guns that the platoon uses for all ceremonies and services are modified 75mm, M5 cannons from WWII. Known as the “Tank Destroyers,” each of the guns saw active service in North Africa, Italy, and Northwest Europe against the Axis Powers.

In addition to ceremonial support, the mortarmen provide 81-mm mortar indirect-fire support during the tactical training of Old Guard units, these Soldiers hold themselves to an elite standard in order to provide ceremonial excellence in everything that they do. “Seek, Strike, Destroy.”

U.S. ARMY DRILL TEAM

The U.S. Army Drill Team has earned international acclaim through its breathtaking routines with bayonet-tipped 1903 Springfield rifles. The members of the drill team are goodwill ambassadors for the Army and participate in major military and civic functions. The team’s intricate maneuvers are the result of discipline, training and constant practice. The dangerous drills are performed without vocal cadence, command or musical cues. This team supports the Military District of Washington’s ceremonial commitments and Army recruiting from its home at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall.

Competition is intense for a place on this elite team, and a vacancy is filled only after months of drill practice. The strength and dexterity to handle the rifle along with a trim, polished military bearing are essential. THE UNITED STATES ARMY BAND “PERSHING’S OWN”

The United States Army Band “Pershing’s Own” provides musical support for the leadership of the United States, to include all branches of government, and to a wide spectrum of national and international events in order to connect the Army to the American people. Pershing’s Own has been the premier music organization of the U.S. Army since 1922. Then, the band’s namesake, Army Chief of Staff Gen. of the Armies John J. Pershing, directed a special military band be formed to reflect the premier European military bands he had heard abroad during World War I.

Pershing’s Own is easily identifiable by its signature red hat, distinctive standing military collar, and Civil War style inverted rank and frock coat—designed to reference the uniforms that General Pershing wore in the late 19th century. The frock coat has eight silver buttons down the front of the blouse which allude to the eight notes of the musical scale, and each button is stamped with the Great Seal of The United States.

The U.S. Army Band participates in a wide spectrum of national and international events in support of Soldiers and their Families, public diplomacy, community and international relations, recruiting initiatives, and music education programs. It is through these opportunities to connect with the American people that we can represent all of the heroic men and women who stand around the world in defense of freedom. Through music, the Soldiers of Pershing's Own represent the excellence that is found across America's Army.

The U.S. Army Band has played an important role in events of national and international significance, staging performances on historic battlefields and throughout the nation's capital. In 1925, Pershing's Own led its first inaugural parade—that of President Calvin Coolidge—a tradition that continues today. In its early years, the band became widely known and critically acclaimed for its featured radio broadcasts on networks such as RCA, CBS, and the Mutual Broadcasting Network. Between 1928 and 1931, these musicians completed four national tours and became highly respected for their performances during a trip to Spain for the Ibero-American Exposition in the spring of 1929.

During World War II, The U.S. Army Band performed morale missions first in North Africa in June 1943, then continued into battle-weary Europe, returning to U.S. soil in June 1945. For its efforts during this Rhineland Campaign, Pershing's Own received a battle streamer and is one of the only Washington-based military band to have participated in a theater of foreign combat operations.

The period following World War II saw The U.S. Army Band expand in scope and diversity to meet an increasing demand for a variety of more specialized assignments. To meet this demand, The U.S. Army Ceremonial Band, The U.S. Army Chorus, The U.S. Army Herald Trumpets, and The U.S. Army Strings were established as official performing units. This chapter also saw numerous well-known artists and composers perform with Pershing's Own. Similarly, several popular entertainers and recording artists enlisted as band members during this period. Vocalists Eddie Fisher, Robert Dini, and Steve Lawrence served in The U.S. Army Band and were popular during the 1950s, as were musical talents: Opryland and Nashville harpist, Lloyd Lindroth; the first African American tenor in the Metropolitan Opera and National Medal of Arts awardee, George Shirley; and long-time CBS journalist and radio personality, Charles Osgood.

Throughout the 60s, 70s, and 80s, The U.S. Army Band continued to perform and serve with distinction. In 1963, Pershing's Own participated in the funeral of President John F. Kennedy with Army Band bugler, Keith Clark, performing taps at the graveside service in Arlington National Cemetery. It was during the late 70s era that The U.S. Army Blues and The U.S. Army Chorale were established as official performing ensembles.

After September 11, 2001, the organization assisted in the recovery efforts at the Pentagon, providing technical, logistical, and musical support for the efforts. In October of that year, vocalists performed for the memorial service at the Pentagon while the band and chorus performed for a tribute to the citizens of New York City at Lincoln Center followed by a memorial service at Ground Zero the following day.

In December 2002, a contingent from The U.S. Army Band took part in a six-day sergeant major of the Army/USO tour of Kuwait, Afghanistan, and Uzbekistan in support of Operation Enduring Freedom. This was the first time Pershing's Own had performed in a theater of foreign combat operations since World War II. From its start until 2010, this tour was an annual event for the popular music contingent of The U.S. Army Band (formerly The U.S. Army Chorale) which became officially known as The U.S. Army Band Downrange in 2008.

The Soldiers of Pershing's Own carry forward its founder's intent to be a band with international clout and stature. The U.S. Army Band has thrilled crowds in Canada, Japan, Sweden, The Netherlands, Turkey, Nova Scotia, Australia, China, Norway, Cuba, Korea, and Mexico and in some of the most prominent concert halls in the nation and around the world. In 2009, then Chief of Staff Gen. George W. Casey initiated a military-to-military exchange program between various military operations within the U.S. Army and the People's Liberation Army of China. The Military Band of the PLA of China travelled to the United States in May 2011, to perform four joint concerts with Pershing's Own: Washington, D.C. (The Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts), Philadelphia (The Academy of Music), and

New York City (on the floor of the General Assembly of The United Nations, and Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall). In reciprocation, Pershing's Own then reciprocated with a visit to China in 2012, as the final part of this historic cultural exchange entitled: Friendship and Cooperation through Music.

Pershing's Own is part of the Official Escort to the President at each Presidential Inauguration and is an integral part in the official state funerals for former U.S. Presidents. Members of the general public can enjoy The U.S. Army Band almost weekly in and around the National Capital Region throughout the year. During the summer months, large crowds flock to outdoor concerts on the West Side of the U.S. Capitol, the plaza at the Lincoln Memorial, and numerous public parks and concert venues throughout the Washington Metro area. Summers also highlight Pershing's Own and the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard in "Twilight Tattoo," the outdoor military pageant which tells the history of the U.S. Army through music and live reenactments.

Annually, The U.S. Army Band executes nearly 6,000 missions—ceremonies, memorial affairs, special events, and concerts—and is comprised of multiple, specialized music ensembles: The U.S. Army Concert Band, The U.S. Army Ceremonial Band, The U.S. Army Herald Trumpets, The U.S. Army Strings, The U.S. Army Chorus, The U.S. Army Blues (jazz/ swing), The U.S. Army Band Downrange (pop/rock), The U.S. Army Brass Quintet, The U.S. Army Woodwind Quintet, and several, small specialty groups: Country Roads, Swamp Romp, and a Latin Music Ensemble. Musicians from all of these groups combine to create small combos and The U.S. Army Orchestra, which is featured in area concerts and special holiday performances at DAR Constitution Hall in Washington, D.C.

Visit usarmyband.com for the full concert event schedule and for more information and follow the band on social media @usarmyband; X: @theusarmyband

ARLINGTON NATIONAL CEMETERY

Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from Washington, D.C., is high on everyone's list of places to visit when they come to the National Capital Region.

The cemetery is open 365 days a year and receives between 3 and 4 million visitors annually. Many people come to pay their final respects at one of the more than 100 graveside services conducted weekly. In total, approximately 400,000 people are interred, inurned or memorialized at Arlington National Cemetery.

Many of the graves date back to the cemetery's establishment during the Civil War; however, now there are veterans from each branch of service and every major conflict in which the United States has fought. Even Soldiers from the American Revolution, the War of 1812 and the Mexican-American War have been re-interred here. Arlington is the final resting place for many service members who have died while serving on active duty during the current conflicts as well.

There are between 27 and 30 funerals each weekday and between six and eight services Saturdays. Last year, more than 6,500 funerals were conducted at Arlington National Cemetery. Coupled with more than 3,000 other ceremonies, including wreath laying, and memorial tree plantings, the cemetery plays a very active memorial and ceremonial role in the country's remembrance of those who fought for America's freedom.

A focal point of the cemetery's ceremonial activities is the Memorial Amphitheater, which was dedicated May 15, 1920. Today, the 5,000-seat white marble amphitheater is the site of official ceremonies on Memorial Day and Veterans Day honoring the sacrifice and the service of America's men and women in uniform.

Adjacent the amphitheater, on an elevation overlooking a terraced mall, is the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The Tomb has been guarded 24 hours a day, 365 days a year since 1937, and by the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard) since April 6, 1948. The tomb guard is changed every hour during daylight from Oct. 1 to March 31, every half hour from April 1 to Sept. 30, and every hour at night.

The tomb contains unidentified remains of American service members from three major 20th century conflicts. First to be buried was an Unknown Soldier from World War I, placed under a large marble sarcophagus Nov. 11, 1921, known then as Armistice Day. Unknown service members from World War II, and the Korean War were added Memorial Day 1958, which was still celebrated May 30 at the time) in their own crypts.

A third crypt sits empty, dedicated with the inscription "Honoring and keeping faith with America's missing servicemen, 1958-1975" on its stone entablature, and was the resting place for nearly 14 years of an unknown who fought in the Vietnam War. Solemnly interred as the Vietnam unknown Memorial Day 1984, Air Force 1st Lt. Michael Blassie was solemnly disinterred May 14, 1998, after the remains were identified through DNA analysis. The present dedication was conducted on National Prisoner of War/Missing in Action Recognition Day Sept. 17, 1999.

Nearby, an eternal flame marks the site where John F. Kennedy, the nation's 35th president, is buried alongside two of his children, and his widow Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, who died in 1994. The president's brother, former U.S. attorney general and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was laid to rest nearby in 1968; and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was laid to rest near his brothers Aug. 26, 2009. A memorial marker for Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., the oldest of the Kennedy brothers and whose remains were never recovered after his bomber exploded in World War II, was recently added to the area. The Kennedy graves are among the most-frequently visited graves in the United States.

Arlington is one of more than 130 national cemeteries throughout the United States and is administered by the Department of the Army. The U.S. Soldiers' and Airmen's Home National Cemetery in Washington, D.C., also falls under the administration of the Army.

The 639 acres of Arlington National Cemetery were once part of the 1,100-acre Arlington estate owned by George Washington Parke Custis, George Washington's adopted son. His daughter, Mary Anna Randolph Custis, was willed the property where she lived with her husband U.S. Army (and later Confederate general) Lt. Robert E. Lee at Arlington House for 30 years.

Lee resigned his commission in 1861, when the Civil War seemed certain, and he left the estate forever, rather than fight against his native Virginia. Federal troops crossed the Potomac not long after, fortified the estate's ridges and turned the home into the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac. Arlington House and the estate were confiscated in May 1864 and sold to the federal government when the Lees failed to pay $92.07 in property taxes in person.

Union forces built three fortifications on the land, and 200 acres were set aside as a national cemetery June 15, 1864. By that time, more than 1,000 Soldiers had already been buried here beginning on May 13, 1864. By the end of the Civil War, more than 16,000 markers dotted Arlington's rolling hills.

Freedman's Village, formally established at the estate in December 1863, provided food, housing, medical care, employment training and education for former slaves who migrated to the area. More than 3,800 residents of similar villages in nearby counties are buried at Arlington, their headstones noting their names and the words "civilian" or "citizen."

The village continued in existence for more than 20 years, but in 1882, the Supreme Court ruled that the government unlawfully confiscated the Arlington estate. Forced to make compensation, the government paid the descendants of the former owners for the site and turned it over to the military. The final residents left the village in the late 1890s.

Today, visitors can visit Arlington in person or “virtually” with the help of the cemetery’s app, “ANC Explorer.” The app enables users to locate gravesites, events or other points of interest throughout the cemetery; view front-and-back photos of headstones or points of interest, and receive walking directions to these locations. Users can also save searched burial records to their mobile device, view self-guided tours, and link to social media. The app is free and available for download for use in different formats. See “ANC Explorer” at www.arlingtoncemetery.mil.

Visitors can get to the cemetery by car, subway, bus, taxi or via a stop on many local tour guide itineraries. An on-site parking garage and interpretative bus service are available for a fee. The Welcome Center includes exhibits and displays, restrooms, water fountains and a bookstore. Information specialists can also assist visitors with questions, directions, and gravesite locations.

NATIONAL DEFENSE UNIVERSITY

The National Defense University is the premier national security institution focused on advanced joint education, leader development, and scholarship. Under the direction and leadership of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, NDU offers a collegial and collaborative academic environment to support the joint war fighter by providing rigorous joint professional military education to members of the U.S. Armed Forces and select others in order to develop leaders who have the ability to operate and creatively think in an unpredictable and complex world.

Students are selected for their leadership potential and attend classes on the McNair campus in Washington, D.C.; the Joint Forces Staff College in Norfolk, Virginia; and at the John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center and School at Fort Liberty, North Carolina. A variety of online courses are offered as well.

NDU is the leader for joint, interagency, intergovernmental and multinational education. University components include the National War College, Dwight D. Eisenhower School for National Security and Resource Strategy, Joint Forces Staff College, the Information Resources Management College, and the College of International Security Affairs. A number of associated regional and functional components and centers are also housed on the Washington and Norfolk campuses.

Last year more than 3,400 students attended university academic courses and programs. NDU is an accredited graduate-level university awarding over 600 Master of Arts degrees each year. Many NDU alumni have gone on to senior leadership positions in their service, agency and country.

At NDU, students are taught to think critically, creatively and disruptively in order to anticipate and overcome future challenges to national security. The curriculum combines information technology and classroom experience among many other aspects such as international travel and exposure; interaction with industry, members of the interagency community and international allies and partners; and participation with local and national consortia of national security academic institutions.

Through lecture and seminar programs, students gain important insights from top military, government, industry and international leaders to include the president of the United States, cabinet-level officials, the joint chiefs of staff, commanders from major military commands, members of Congress, other civilian leaders and foreign ministers of defense. Speakers talk frankly with students under the university’s nonattribution policy to facilitate a free exchange of ideas.

The award-winning NDU Press produces numerous publications, which address national security issues. The NDU Library is the definitive source for information about national security policy, military strategy, defense resource management and industry studies with a collection of more than 500,000 bound items, audio-visual materials, classified documents, and online services.

The National Defense University is a true national treasure — the premier national security institution in the heart of Washington, D.C., the center of interagency and intergovernmental activity. As such, NDU is uniquely positioned to bring together the many disparate elements of national and international power. Former Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton noted: “NDU is a perfect example of whole-of-government education.”

THE INTER-AMERICAN DEFENSE COLLEGE

The Inter-American Defense College, located on the McNair campus of JBM-HH, officially opened its doors Oct. 9, 1962, when U.S. secretary of state, Dean Rusk, presented them with the facility and interior furnishings on behalf of the U.S. federal government. Dr. José A. Mora, secretary general of the Organization of American States, at the time, was the keynote speaker at the official opening ceremony.

The IADC is an international educational institution operating under the aegis and funding of the OAS and the Inter-American Defense Board. It provides a professionally oriented, multidisciplinary, graduate-level course of study, an 11-month program providing senior military and government officials with a comprehensive understanding of governmental systems, the current international environment, structure and function of the Inter-American system and an opportunity to study broad-based security issues affecting the Hemisphere and the world.

The development of these concentrations is accomplished through the detailed study of political, economic, psychosocial and military factors of power. Faculty and students also engage in research and publishing. The IADC is unique in the Western Hemisphere in that the faculty and the student body are international. The academic curriculum and close association of faculty and students representing a diversity of ideas and backgrounds fosters close professional and personal cooperation.

CENTER OF MILITARY HISTORY

The Center of Military History, on the McNair campus of Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall, reports to the Administrative Assistant to the secretary of the Army, and is responsible for the appropriate use of history throughout the United States Army.

Traditionally, this mission has meant recording the official history of the Army in peace and war, while advising the Army staff on historical matters. In terms of this tradition, the center traces its lineage back to those historians under the secretary of war who compiled the official records of the rebellion, a monumental history of the Civil War begun in 1874, and to a similar work on World War I prepared by the Historical Section of the Army War College.

The modern organization of the Army's historical efforts dates from the creation of the general staff historical branch in July 1943, and the subsequent gathering of a large team of historians, translators, editors, and cartographers to record the official history of World War II. This team began publication of the United States Army in World War II series (the well-known "green books"), which numbers 79 volumes. Since then, CMH has produced detailed series on the Army's role in the Korean and Vietnam wars and has begun a series on the U.S. Army in the Cold War. Since its formation, CMH has provided historical support to the Army secretariat and staff, contributing essential background information for decision-making, staff actions, command information programs and public statements by Army officials. It also has progressively expanded its role in the vital areas of military history education, the management of the Army's museum system and the introduction of automated data-retrieval systems.

The center's work with Army schools ensures the study of history is a significant part of the training of officers and noncommissioned officers. It also supports the use of history to foster unit pride and give today's Soldiers an understanding of the Army's past. Much of this educational work is also performed at field historical offices and in Army museums. The Center thus provides all levels of the Army, as well as other services, government agencies, and the public, with a growing awareness of history that goes well beyond publications alone.

See www.history.army.mil for more information.

MARINE BARRACKS WASHINGTON

Established in 1801, Marine Barracks, Washington, D.C., also known as "8th and I," is the oldest post of the Corps and has been the residence of every commandant of the Marine Corps since 1806. The selection of the site for the barracks was a matter of personal interest to President Thomas Jefferson, who rode through Washington with Lt. Col. Commandant William Ward Burrows in search of a suitable location. The site now occupied was approved since it lay near the Navy Yard and within easy marching distance of the Capitol.

The early 19th century barracks was arranged in a quadrangle as it is today, and the use of the building was similar. The areas on the south and east side of the quadrangle were used for offices, maintenance facilities and living spaces for troops, and a building on the west was the location of the officers' quarters. The Commandant's House at the north end of the barracks was completed in 1806, and is the only original building still standing. It is the oldest public building in continuous use in the nation's capital. The rest of the barracks was rebuilt between 1900 and 1907.

The training of new officers and recruits started at the barracks soon after it was established and continued throughout the 19th century. Until 1901, it was also the location of Marine Corps Headquarters. Marines from the barracks participated in the defense of Washington in the War of 1812, and served in the Indian Wars of 1826-37, the War with Mexico, the Civil War and the Spanish American War. Most recently, Marines from the barracks deployed to Southwest Asia and participated in Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm, Operation Iraqi Freedom, and Operation Enduring Freedom.

The Marine Barracks has also been home of the United States Marine Band since 1801. Shortly after its formation, the band was requested to play for President John Adams at the Executive Mansion. This White House engagement began a tradition which became so established that today the names “Marine Band” and “President’s Own” are synonymous. It was at the barracks that John Philip Sousa, during the time he was the director of the Marine Band, wrote many of his immortal marches.

To experience the history of Marine Barracks Washington, tours are available on Wednesdays at 10 a.m., at the Main Gate of Marine Barracks Washington, no appointment necessary.

For questions regarding the “Sunset” or “Evening Parades” as well as ticketing or reservations, call 202-433-4073 or log on to <https://www.barracks.marines.mil/>.

THE PENTAGON

The Pentagon is not a Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall facility or partner, but is a near neighbor. JBM-HH supports many of the military and civilian personnel who work there.

The Pentagon was conceived as a temporary solution to the War Department’s critical shortage of space during the summer of 1941. At the time, 24,000 War Department personnel were scattered among 17 different buildings in Washington, D.C., working to mobilize U.S. Armed Forces as war raged in Europe and Asia.

Brig. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the construction division of the Office of the Quartermaster General, envisioned a single structure in which all components could be housed.

The Pentagon groundbreaking took place Sept. 11, 1941. Three shifts worked 24 hours a day, every day, building the Pentagon, wedge by wedge. Some 1,000 architects worked in a hangar at Hoover Airport producing blueprints to stay ahead of the 14,000 construction workers.

The building displaced an airport, a racetrack, factories and a low-income neighborhood known as Hell’s Bottom. The idea for five sides came from the original location at Arlington Farms, which was bordered by five roadways. Concern that the massive structure would interfere with the view between Arlington National Cemetery and the city of Washington caused President Franklin Roosevelt to direct it be moved three-quarters of a mile down river.

An oddity when it was constructed, the building has a design that requires only seven minutes or less walking from any point in the building to another — provided you know your way. The efficiency of the design was carried through in its construction.

Today, more than 25,000 service members and civilian employees, from the secretary of defense to mail clerks, and from the four-star chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to junior enlisted service members, work at the Pentagon, occupied 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year.

There are nearly 6.5 million square feet of space in the Pentagon and 17.5 miles of corridors. The building features enormous cafeterias, snack bars, and executive dining rooms; a post office; a shopping concourse; Metro bus and rail stop; dispensary and dental clinics; and every other facility and service one might expect in a city of its size and population.

Sixty years to the day after the initial Pentagon groundbreaking, America suffered a devastating terrorist attack. Memories of Sept. 11, 2001, when hijacked commercial airplanes crashed into New York City’s Twin Towers, the Pentagon and a field at Shanksville, Pennsylvania, are still fresh 19 years later, but the nation’s collective spirit and the Pentagon structure are stronger today than ever before.

Original estimates were that demolition of the area of the Pentagon damaged 9/11 would take up to eight months, but Pentagon renovation workers took down the damaged portion of the building in one month and one day.

Reconstruction began Nov. 19, 2001. Six months after the attack, due to the efforts of workers who toiled at first in three shifts, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, new five-story walls had risen from the ashes at the site dubbed the Phoenix Project. About 600 workers a day rebuilt the Pentagon, and as promised, with the most visible construction complete and employees at work in the building on the E Ring where the aircraft hit, a dedication ceremony was held Sept. 11, 2002.

See the Pentagon’s official website at pentagontours.osd.mil.

FORD'S THEATRE AND LINCOLN CENTER

www.fordstheatre.org

Theatre entrepreneur John T. Ford leased the First Baptist Church in 1861, and converted it into a music hall. "Ford's Atheneum" grew in popularity and was poised for tremendous success when the building was destroyed by fire. Undaunted, the entrepreneur immediately began reconstruction and opened Ford's "New Theatre" in August 1863. On the evening of April 14, 1865, President Abraham Lincoln, his wife and two guests attended "Our American Cousin." That night, John Wilkes Booth fired a shot that plunged the nation into mourning and a theatre into darkness. John Ford tried to reopen the theatre but threats of arson closed its doors. The government bought the theatre in 1866, and over the next 90 years it was an office building, warehouse, and museum.

THE MARYLAND ZOO IN BALTIMORE

www.marylandzoo.org

Currently the Zoo's animal collection encompasses more than 1,500 birds, mammals, amphibians, and reptiles, representing nearly 200 species. Animals are displayed in natural settings replicating their native habitats.

MARYLAND RENAISSANCE FESTIVAL

www.rennfest.com

The Maryland Renaissance Festival is a recreation of a 16th century English village. Their village is named Revel Grove, and is set on a beautiful 25-acre wooded site with 85 acres of free parking. The village consists of craft and food booths, five pubs, eight major stages, a Jousting Arena and lots of games. The Festival is a perfect family outing, in easy reach from both Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

NATIONAL AQUARIUM IN BALTIMORE

www.aqua.org

The Aquarium features hundreds of exhibits featuring more than 16,500 animals. The National Aquarium Institute will inspire our visitors and partners to celebrate and nurture the world's aquatic habitats from tropical rain forests to coral reefs; from our Chesapeake Bay to the world's oceans.

OCEAN CITY

www.ococean.com

Maryland's 30 miles of Atlantic Ocean seashore include a large resort center, Ocean City, and two oceanside parks, Assateague National Seashore Park and Assateague State Park, both located a few miles south of Ocean City.

ORIOLE PARK AT CAMDEN YARDS

www.theorioles.com

Oriole Park at Camden Yards, the beautiful baseball-only facility in downtown Baltimore, became the official home of the Orioles April 6, 1992. Oriole Park is state-of-the-art yet unique, traditional and intimate in design, blending with the urban context of downtown Baltimore while taking its image from baseball parks built in the early 20th century. The ballpark seats 48,876. A light rail system brings fans directly to the park.

SIX FLAGS AMERICA

www.sixflags.com

Six Flags America theme park features thrilling world-class roller coasters including hyper-coaster Superman: Ride of Steel, one of the tallest coasters on the East Coast; Batwing, Maryland's first flying coaster; and the classic wooden Wild One, celebrating its 95th year of thrills in 2012.

Virginia

Virginia is home to a wealth of interesting historical sites such as Arlington National Cemetery, the Iwo Jima Memorial, the Pentagon, Reagan National Airport, Old Town Alexandria, Mount Vernon, and the Manassas National Battlefield Park, offering history lovers a never-ending choice of places to visit.

AIR FORCE MEMORIAL

www.airforcememorial.org

The Memorial, composed of three bold and graceful spires soaring skyward to a height of 270 feet, is dedicated and given to the nation by the U.S. Air Force. Sitting on the 3-acre promontory adjacent to Arlington National Cemetery and a short walk from the Pentagon.

The Memorial honors the millions of men and women who have served in the U.S. Air Force and its predecessor organizations, including the U.S. Signal Corps, the Army Air Corps, and the Army Air Forces. It pays tribute to the dedication, sacrifice and contributions of those who pioneered the skies, those who shape the air, space and cyberspace victories of today, and those who will continue to do so in the future.

The Memorial hosts a paved “Runway to Glory” at the site entrance, a larger-than-life bronze Honor Guard statue, two granite inscription walls located at either end of a central lawn and a glass contemplation wall that reflects the missing man formation, the final tribute given to fallen Airmen.

FREDERICKSBURG AND SPOTSYLVANIA NATIONAL MILITARY PARK

www.nps.gov/frsp

Approximately 110,000 casualties occurred during the four major battles fought in the vicinity of Fredericksburg, making it the bloodiest ground on the North American continent. In 1927 the U.S. Congress established Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania County Memorial National Military Park to commemorate the heroic deeds of the men engaged at the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Wilderness, and Spotsylvania Court House. Today the park also includes the historic structures of Chatham, Ellwood, Salem Church, and the “Stonewall” Jackson Shrine.

GREAT FALLS PARK

www.nps.gov/grfa

Great Falls Park is one of the capital area’s most scenic views of the Potomac River. This 800-acre park has extraordinary views of Great Falls, 14 miles upriver from Washington D.C., with 15 miles of hiking trails and 5 miles of horseback riding and biking trails. The park is known for two things — its scenic beauty at the head of Potomac River fall line and the historic Patowmack Canal. Note: Great Falls Park waters are OFF LIMITS to all swimmers and waders. See www.nps.gov/grfa for more information.

MARINE CORPS MEMORIAL

www.nps.gov/gwmp/marinecorp-swarmemorial.htm

Based on Joe Rosenthal’s Pulitzer Prize-winning photograph of six Marines raising the stars and stripes American flag on Mount Suribachi in Iwo Jima, this 78-foot memorial, created by Felix de Weldon, commemorates all the Marines who have died in battle since 1775. Open daily from 8 a.m. to midnight. Route 50 at Arlington Boulevard and Ridge Road.

SHENANDOAH NATIONAL PARK

Take a drive along the winding roads of the beautiful 105-mile Skyline Drive that offers one of the finest scenic trips in the East. The drive twists and turns throughout the 80-mile long park that ranges from 2 to 13 miles wide. Seventy overlooks allow any lover of nature to stop and view the Blue Ridge, Piedmont, and Shenandoah River Valley.

Fall is the ideal time to visit the park, as the autumn colors envelop the scenery. The park is open year-round, with lodging and cottage accommodations. The park headquarters is located 5 miles east of Luray on US 211.

Walter Reed Society
Assisting the Wounded, Ill, or Injured Service Members and their Families

*Walter Reed Society, Inc.
Sustaining the Legacy Beyond Excellence*

The Walter Reed Society is an all-volunteer tax-exempt 501 (c)(3) charitable organization. Its Mission is to provide financial or direct assistance to service members and their families being treated at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center and at other military health care facilities in the Defense Health Agency National Capital Region Military Health System. The Society responds to unmet needs during their care and also provides assistance with treatment, education, research activities, travel and lodging, and hospital staff support.

Since the Walter Reed Society's inception in 1996, the Medical Center and hundreds of service members and their families have received over $3.6 million in assistance.

Membership is accessible and encouraged for all who desire to contribute to the mission of the Society to support active duty military, veterans, Wounded, Ill and Injured (WII) and their families, as well as the staff members of the Military Health System who care for them in their time of need.

For membership application or donation information, please contact Hermalene Taylor at support@walterreedsociety.org or call (301) 571-1580.
