usage of these venues as part of their risk assessment and management to protect the health and well-being of the greater Fort Knox community.

a. Unit safety and risk management are command responsibilities. Units desiring use of Fort Knox Kentucky (FKKY) venues, such as Waybur Theater, Haszard Auditorium, Brooks Field, and Gazebo (1103) resources must address the following areas at a minimum:

(1) Waybur Theater and Haszard Auditorium occupancies are limited based on the current Health Protection Condition (HPCON) level. The following levels are required per FKKY Policy:

(a) HPCON Alpha: 100% Seating Capacity.

(b) HPCON Bravo: 50% Seating Capacity.

(c) HPCON Charlie: 33% Seating Capacity.

(d) HPCON Delta: Only Family members and leadership or as designated by the senior commander through submittal of an Exception to Policy.

(e) All personnel must maintain social distancing as deemed appropriate. Brooks Field and Gazebo may increase number of personnel but must maintain six feet social distancing and wear masks.

(2) Participants must maximize six feet social distancing stand-off between personnel, fill from the first row on back, maintain a minimum of three seats between personnel or families, and leave an empty row between seated rows. This requirement also applies to the bleachers and overhead seating areas on Brooks Field. Family members may sit together and then fill after every third seat.

(3) Units must have a non-commissioned officer in charge (NCOIC) and adequate number of ushers to ensure social distancing rules are followed.

(4) Upon completion of events, the host unit is responsible for sanitizing the venue. All high touch areas such as arm rests, door handles, knobs, and hand rails must be wiped down with sanitizer. Use of Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) approved disinfectants are mandatory for this process. A detailed listing is found at
