William A. Howell TSF opens its doors on Fort Novosel

History, when left to the textbooks, can teach; but when it's a hands-on experience, it can transform. Fort Novosel recently opened the William A. Howell Training Support Facility (TSF), adjacent to the U.S. Army Aviation Museum, to transform the educational landscape for future soldiers on Fort Novosel. The fourth TSF in the Army Museum system was designed in 2016, broke ground on Fort Novosel in Sept. 2019 and officially opened the doors on the Army Aviation...

One blade of grass at a time: Fort Novosel & Enterprise sign grounds maintenance IGSA

On April 8, Fort Novosel solidified the partnership with the City of Enterprise, Alabama with the signing of the installation’s second Intergovernmental Service Agreement (IGSA) to perform grounds maintenance on Shell Army Heliport, reinforcing an already long-lasting relationship between the two organizations.

In 2013, Congress enacted legislation creating the IGSA allowing the military services to form partnerships with local and state governments for the provision, receipt, or sharing...

‘BRINGING SAFETY BACK’

A small team of Soldiers and civilians combines rap and hip-hop music with stunning visuals in a mission to bring safety back to the Army Family.

Known as Wordz N Vizion WAV, the talented group works closely with the U.S. Army Combat Readiness Center (CRC) to spread its message of safety first via the internet and social media, according to Ricky T. Gravely, co-founder of the effort and a safety officer with the 41st Field Artillery Brigade (FAB) at USAG Bavaria, Germany.
