EXCEPTIONAL FAMILY MEMBER PROGRAM

Information Directory

Updated: March 29, 2022

This resource directory has been developed to provide information on the Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) and the services surrounding the Fort Riley area.

The EFMP is a Department of the Army program designed to assist family members who have special needs. This is done to insure those soldiers and their families are assigned to areas which have those specialized services needed by their exceptional family members. Enrollment in the EFMP is mandatory.

EXCEPTIONAL FAMILY MEMBER PROGRAM is located at the Army Community Service in the Soldier Family Support Center, Normandy Drive 7264, Fort Riley, Kansas 66442-6421. Telephone number: (785) 239-9435. The EFMP Manager assists families in navigating resources, for families with an exceptional member, who has a physical, mental, emotional or learning challenge.

What does this mean? When you have a family member with any physical, emotional, developmental, or intellectual disorder that requires special treatment, therapy, and education, training or counseling. There are many conditions, which qualify family members for service through the EFMP. There is a thorough evaluation made of each individual referred to the EFMP. The EFMP Program working in concert with other military and civilian agencies is designed to provide a comprehensive, coordinated, multi-agency approach for medical, educational, community support, housing, and personnel services to families with special needs. The program is designed to include all eligible family members (children, spouses, dependent relatives) with special needs regardless of age.

MILITARY ASSIGNMENT: The U.S. Army Human Resources Command (HRC) Medical Coordination and Family Travel Team to consider the special education and medical needs of exceptional Family members during the assignment process and reassigns Soldiers, when readiness does not require a specific reassignment, to an area where the Family member's needs can be accommodated.

EFMP has two areas to better support the Service Member and their family members:

HOSPITAL SPECIAL NEEDS ADVISOR /CASE COORDINATOR (SNA/CC) is responsible for identifying qualifying conditions, completing enrollment and updating procedures in a detailed and timely manner. The SNA provides confirmation to Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps assignment managers on available medical or educational services at the new location before assignment approval.

INSTALLATION EFMP MANAGER AND ARMY COMMUNITY SERVICE (ACS) are committed to helping improve the quality of life and the well-being of Service Members and their families by ensuring that families receive appropriate services to meet special physical, emotional and/or educational needs. The EFMP Manager offers information and referral to guide families to appropriate services and resources available here as well as world-wide for relocation. Additional EFMP services include: education on the EFMP program, individual assessment of Service Members arriving and departing Fort Riley, querying of Service Members for eligible family members, advocacy services for education and housing needs, support groups, and programs that assist families identify, cope, and improve family strengths and well-being. This EFMP Information Directory is part of the commitment to meeting the needs of military families. It is a general guide to services and resources available in the Fort Riley area.

HOW WILL THIS AFFECT MY CAREER?

Enrollment does not affect the Service Member's career progression. EFMP medical or educational information is not entered into a Service Member's official military personnel file, nor is this information available to school or promotion boards. It does affect future assignments that involve family accompaniment. It ensures that when an accompanied assignment is given, known family needs are provided for in that local, surrounding area.

HOW DO I ENROLL/UPDATE AT FORT RILEY?

Enrollment: When a qualifying medical and/or educational condition is identified, the Service Member or spouse will be referred to the EFMP Special Needs Advisor/Case Coordinator located at Irwin Army Community Hospital, 785-240-7543, (Monday – Friday, Walk-ins 0900-1200 and 1300-1500). The MEDDAC EFMP will assist with enrollment forms and other procedures.

Update: To ensure assignment considerations are based on accurate and up to date information, families are responsible for informing the EFMP of any changes in the EFMs needs or conditions. EFMP enrollment updates are required at least every three years or sooner if significant changes occur.

The success of the EFMP depends on several factors. The first factor is a thorough evaluation of the condition and development of a complete treatment program; this is a medical and/or educational responsibility. A key to the success of the Exceptional Family Member Program is cooperation by the sponsor with the mandatory enrollment/requirement.

Following are some conditions that warrant enrollment.

- Have any other medical, educational, counseling, or social need
- Have any serious or chronic on-going medical problem that requires multiple appointments over six months, or physical disability
- Require more medical support or follow-up care than commonly provided by a family practitioner in an outpatient setting
- Special Education Requirements, Individual Education Program (IEP), 504 Plan or Individual Family Service Plan (IFSP)
- ADD / ADHD: and requires seeing more than just a Family Practice physician (I.e. counselor, psychologist, psychiatrist, pediatrician, etc.) Whether on medication or not
- Allergies: If follow-up with an allergist or if allergy shots are required
- Autism or Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD)
- Asthma: any wheezing or treated with medication within the past five years
- Cancer: a diagnosis of cancer within the past five years
- Cerebral Palsy
- Developmental Delays
- Depression / Anxiety / Panic Attacks
- Drug / Alcohol Use or Abuse
- Diabetes - especially Insulin dependent
- Hearing - Problems, loss hearing aids or auditory therapy
- Heart or Coronary related conditions
- High Blood Pressure
- Intensive Follow-up Support: such as high risk newborns
- Loss of Mobility: requiring use of a wheelchair/walker or other aide, or requirement of single story housing
- Mental Health: currently requiring any level of mental health service or care is projected for the future or has required 6 months of continuous mental health care within the past five years
- Seizures or Seizure Disorders

- Sickle Cell Disease
- Sight: not corrected by glasses
- Speech Delay and/or Therapy
- Thyroid: Hyper or Hypo Grave's, etc. which requires follow-up by more than a family practitioner

This list is not all inclusive of conditions requiring enrollment but ones specified in AR 608-75, dated 27 January 2017.

FACTS ABOUT ENROLLMENT IN EFMP

- *Enrollment in the EFMP does not guarantee deletion, deferment or compassionate reassignment.
- *Enrollment is not a guarantee that the sponsor will not serve an unaccompanied tour.
- *Enrollment is not an automatic approval of family travel.
- *Enrollment from the EFMP is not made available to promotion boards or school selection boards.
- *Enrollment in the EFMP will not automatically move or change your place on the housing list. Exceptions to policy may be available to sponsors of EFM's, however; the Housing office is the initial point of contact for this.
- *EFM's are enrolled permanently in the program unless medical or special education needs warrant case closure or the soldier is separated from the Army. Soldiers are responsible for keeping their exceptional family member's medical and/or special education documentation current. A record update is required every three years or if the condition changes whichever comes first.

State and Federal Laws related to the Rights and responsibilities of EFMs:

Legislation and DoD Policy Governing Education of Exceptional Family Members:

According to the U.S. Department of Education, it was not until the 1950s and 60s that the Federal government, with strong support and advocacy of family associations, began to develop and validate practices for children with disabilities and their families. Early legislation focused on the training of special education teachers and supported programs for disability categories such as retardation, deafness, and blindness.

U.S. Department of Defense:

Legislation, Policies and Guidance:

Laws that address the civil rights of disabled persons have their roots in the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which led to dramatic changes in the freedom and access experienced by millions of Americans in minority racial and ethnic groups. The legislation described in this section had the same impact on the lives of disabled Americans. Civil rights legislation requires all the branches of government to develop implementing policy; thus, the Department of Defense (DoD) policy on rights of the disabled is also described. This section also describes key legal foundations for the public education of disabled persons today and DoD policy implementing the requirements of the law where it is responsible for educating the children of service members.

Legislation and DoD Policy Governing Civil Rights of Exceptional Family Members:

(Rehabilitation Act of 1973 – Section 504)

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 \(Public Law 93-112\) prohibits discrimination on the basis of disability in programs and activities, public and private, that receives federal funding, including the DoD. Under this law, individuals with disabilities are defined as persons with a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities. People who have a history of or are regarded as having such impairment are also covered. Section 504 protects people with disabilities from discrimination in:

- Employment by government agencies and organizations that receive Federal funding.
- Education in public schools or private schools receiving Federal funding (disabled students can receive accommodation and related services even if they do not qualify for special education.)

- Access to higher education in colleges and universities.
- Access to programs and services that receive Federal funding including health care facilities, public institutions, social service agencies, state and local government offices and recreation facilities.

“Reasonable accommodation” is the term used in the legislation to require employers and service providers to make adjustments for a person’s disability except in cases where it would cause undue hardship. Section 504 also provides procedural safeguards for non-compliance, but it does not provide funding to implement requirements. For military special needs families living outside the United States and its territories, Section 504 does not apply. DoD facilities and programs overseas are subject to the laws of the host nation.

DoD Directive 1020.1

DoD Directive 1020.1, entitled “Nondiscrimination on the Basis of Handicap in Programs and Activities Assisted or Conducted by the Department of Defense,” implements Section 504. It directs all organizations under the secretary of defense to:

- Make all services and facilities accessible to people with disabilities (includes schools, chapels, commissaries, medical treatment facilities, child and youth services, etc.)
- Ensure nondiscrimination in employment of DoD personnel.
- Establish procedures to file and manage complaints so they are resolved in a timely manner.

Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)

Signed into law in 1990, the Americans with Disabilities Act \(Public Law 101-336\) is a wide- ranging legislation intended to make American Society more accessible to people with disabilities. It addresses five areas of discrimination.

- Employment – businesses must provide reasonable accommodations to protect the rights of individuals with disabilities in all aspects of employment.
- Public services – state and local government instrumentalities cannot deny services to people with disabilities, and public transportation systems must be accessible to them.
- Public accommodations – all new construction and modifications must be accessible to individuals with disabilities, and existing barriers to services must be removed from public places such as restaurants, grocery stores, retail stores etc.
- Telecommunications – companies offering services to the general public must have telephone relay service for individuals who use telecommunications devices for the deaf.
- Miscellaneous – among other items, people are prohibited from coercing / threatening or retaliating against the disabled or those attempting to aid people with disabilities in asserting their ADA rights.

The ADA has benefited military special needs families by removing barriers and opening doors in their Communities, helping to make their lives easier and the American way of life more accessible.

Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (UFAS):

The Uniform Federal Accessibility Standards (UFAS) are design requirements developed under the Architectural Barriers Act \(ABA\) for facilities designed, built, or altered with Federal funds. In 1984, UFAS became the enforceable standard under the ABA upon its adoption by four standard-setting agencies: the Department of Defense, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the General Services Administration and the U.S. Postal Service. Under the ABA, UFAS applies federally funded design, construction, or alterations. Enforcement of UFAS depends on the law it is used under. Under the ABA, the Federal entities have an obligation to follow UFAS as facilities are designed, constructed, or altered with Federal funds.

Educational and Developmental Intervention Services (EDIS) Early Intervention Services (EIS):

Military Medical Departments for each branch of service have been designated as responsible for EIS in locations served by the two DoD school systems, the Department of Defense Dependent Schools (DODDS) overseas and the Domestic Dependent Elementary and Secondary Schools (DDESS). The Military Medical Departments provide multidisciplinary assessment and direct services through Educational and Developmental Intervention Service (EDIS) programs. Guidance for each of the Services' EDIS programs can be found here:

SPECIAL EDUCATION NEEDS ARE CONSIDERED IN THE MILITARY PERSONNEL ASSIGNMENT PROCESS.

Special education needs are only considered in assignments outside the United States. Assignments within our 50 States and Trust Territories are not based on the educational needs of children. Every local school system must obey public laws regarding the provision of special education.

Public Law \(PL\) 105-17, Education for All Handicapped Children Act requires a free appropriate public education to all handicapped children. (1997 Amendments to PL 94-142) Students with disabilities who exhibit less serious infractions of school conduct may be disciplined in ways similar to children without disabilities (including a change in placement) provided that the misbehavior was not a manifestation of the student's disability. Public Law 95-561, Defense Department Act, 1978, mandates Department of Defense schools to implement PL 94-142 in overseas locations.

Parents have an important role as advocates for the educational needs of their child. Parents need to understand the process of special education and know effective ways to participate. Every school system in the United States and DODDS has a set of regulations governing special education that include referral/evaluation, eligibility, Individual Education Program, placement, instruction, and annual review.

Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA):

Congress enacted the Education for All Handicapped Children Act \(Public Law 94-142\) in 1975. It was a landmark law to provide Federal assistance to state and local education agencies to improve access to education by children with disabilities. Having been strengthened and broadened through six revisions/reauthorizations and a name change, the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act, or IDEA, is today one of the United States' most comprehensive laws.

- Part A covers general provisions.
- Part B addresses requirements for the education of children with disabilities.
- Part C addresses early intervention to identify, assess, and provide services to infants and toddlers at risk for developmental delays.
- Part D provides for national activities to improve education of children with disabilities.

Military HOMEFRONT Education section details how the requirements of IDEA have been implemented by state and local education agencies and DoD schools.
