Fly Army! Go Trojans!

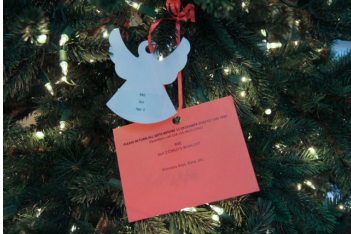

Fort Novosel came out in force on Saturday, November 18th as the Troy University Trojans bested the University of Louisiana-Lafayette Ragin Cajuns, 35-21, during their annual military appreciation day.

The game at Veterans Memorial Stadium, or the Vet, began with a flyover of an AH-64, 2 UH-60s and a CH-47 from Fort Novosel's 110th Aviation Brigade.

Fort Novosel Angel Trees provide opportunities for generosity for the holidays

Ronald Reagan, 40th president of the United States, once said, "We can't help everyone, but everyone can help someone." The Fort Novosel Religious Services office and Army Community Services have placed two Angel Trees on post to help take care of our own throughout the holiday season. Chaplain (Maj.) Scott Kennis, coordinator of the Angel Tree project said that the Angel Trees are set up in the...

Fort Novosel playgroup promotes play and connections

In the age of constant connection through screens, parents and children are often left feeling more disconnected than ever. Fort Novosel playgroup, hosted by the New Parent Support Program (NPSP) through Army Community Service, wants to change that by offering a free and supportive place for babies and toddlers to build those needed face-to-face friendships you can't find online.

Fort Novosel leaders serve up food and fellowship for a DFAC Thanksgiving

Traditional Thanksgiving meals are a combination of feast and family, but many service members know that the term “family” may look different from year to year. Some years are at home with family, some are overseas, and some may be spent during stateside training. Fort Novosel leaders understand that sacrifice all too well and joined the dining facility staff to provide a memorable holiday meal on Nov. 21.
