Savannah Area Chamber of Commerce hosts military salute luncheon

Daniel Malta

Hunter Army Airfield Public Affairs

Local business leaders, service members, veterans and community members gathered at the Savannah Marriott Riverfront, Nov. 17 to celebrate Veterans Day and receive updates from Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield during the annual Savannah Area Chamber of Commerce military update lunch.

The 3rd Infantry Division's Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Charles Costanza, was the keynote speaker for this event.

During the keynote, Costanza highlighted a recent interaction he'd had with a younger Soldier where he was asked why he continued to serve after 30 years. In response, Costanza pointed to each Soldier surrounding him.

"That's why I continue to serve," Costanza said. "I think this is what makes your military—no matter the branch—so special; because it's all about service to others."

After acknowledging Veterans Day and the importance of serving others, Costanza began discussing the current state of Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield. He approached a number of subjects ranging from 3rd Infantry Division modernization to the strategic significance of Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield as a power projection platform.

"Your Army exists to fight and win our nation's wars," Costanza said. "My job is to make sure our Soldiers are ready to do that."

The vice president of governmental affairs for the Savannah Area Chamber of Commerce, Jared Downs, stated that one of the top priorities of the chamber is to preserve and enhance the relationships between the military and Savannah community.

"The Savannah area community benefits from our military and their families being in town and part of the community every day," Downs said. "Fort Stewart, located just outside Savannah, and Hunter Army Airfield generate sufficient economic activity to the area with an annual financial impact of nearly $5 billion."

Downs expressed that the Savannah Area Chamber was privileged to host the luncheon and to honor service members within the community.

Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield's last burn season was a tremendous success.

The Installation's Forestry Branch burned 132,736 acres during the season and received no complaints from local residents. This success is particularly impressive given that approximately 1,589 acres were burned in areas surrounding the cantonment and bordering residential areas off-post.

Prior to last year's season, the Forestry Branch mailed notices to residences adjacent to areas planned for burning. Additionally, daily burn notices were posted on the Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield Twitter page and burns close to the cantonment area and installation border were announced on the Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield Facebook page. All burn notifications were also posted on the installation's Environmental Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram accounts.

As of yesterday, a new controlled burn season is underway and the Forestry Branch aims to repeat last year's success.

Forestry goes to great lengths to ensure the Installation and surrounding communities are aware of scheduled burns and are up-to-date on any changes to the burn plan for a particular day. Notices have been mailed to residents living adjacent to burn areas.

Remember, controlled burns are an efficient and effective tool to reduce wildfire risk, ensure ecosystem health and maintain military training lands for Soldier readiness. Fort Stewart foresters do everything within their power to manage smoke impacts from these burns and ensure the safety of residents both in and around the Installation. However, there are uncontrollable conditions, such as sudden changes in wind direction and/or intensity that can cause smoke to drift into surrounding neighborhoods or highways. The Forestry Branch asks residents to be aware of the ongoing burn season and to use caution when traveling through areas where smoke may be present.

To receive daily burn notices, follow the Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield Environmental Division on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram.

WINN BRIEFS

TRICARE to see copayment increase in new year

TRICARE.mil

As of Jan. 1, 2022, TRICARE pharmacy copayments will change for all beneficiaries, except Active Duty Service Members, dependent survivors of ADSMs, and medically retired service members and their dependents.

Congress and the Department of Defense worked together on these changes, which Congress passed into law as part of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018. These changes are part of a larger effort to generate discretionary savings for the DOD to fund improvements in military readiness and to modernize the TRICARE health benefit.

With these changes, military pharmacies continue to remain the lowest cost pharmacy options for TRICARE beneficiaries, who have the option to get generic and brand-name drugs for $0 copayment.

Home Delivery is still an option for certain prescriptions. Please note that certain Brand-Name maintenance medications (long-term medication) can only be filled twice at retail. After two refills, maintenance medications must be filled via home delivery or at a military pharmacy. Acute medications (short-term medication) are available at retail pharmacies.

For more information, visit tricare.mil.

CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

Images of Thanksgiving

Col. Michael McDonald
3rd ID Chaplain

Norman Rockwell once painted a beautiful depiction of a family together at Thanksgiving. At the center of the painting is the matron of the family placing a rather hefty turkey onto the table that is surrounded by loved ones of every age. "Freedom from Want" became one of the most iconic images of American Thanksgiving.

Last week we celebrated Thanksgiving surrounded by our Family and Friends.

What images come to mind as you think of Thanksgiving? Perhaps your focus is in line with the Rockwellian Americana expressed in his 1943 painting. You may have thoughts of pie, football, family games, parades, or leftovers. Whatever it may be, I pray that God blessed the desires of your heart and granted you a wonderful day of celebration.

We have made it through another year. Initially, survival is what prompted the Thanksgiving celebration. A small band of people came together to give thanks to the Almighty for making it through a year that took about half of the 102 settlers that departed from England in 1620.

Over the years since, Thanksgiving developed into the national holiday that we celebrate today. I'm certain that the first settlers had no idea that a celebratory feast and a solemn moment of giving thanks to God would morph into what we have today. A 50 foot Snoopy and Lions and Cowboys football games were not likely images that ever crossed the minds of those faithful few. But the same human need remains – the need to gather together and give thanks for the blessing of life.

For too many of us, the warming images of Thanksgiving have been overwhelmed by occurrences in life that have brought a sense of despair and a true depth of sorrow. All of the celebratory trappings and images of Thanksgiving seem to only draw desperate circumstances into a finer focus. Like those scant few remaining settlers in 1621, an argument could be made that too much loss and sorrow make the idea of celebration a painful reminder rather than a joyful occasion.

It is important to consider a moment to give thanks for the goodness that your loss represents and ask God for strength for the days ahead. The soul that, by God's grace, recognizes that the pain in their life was precipitated by something better and gives thanks for those things is a soul that can reap the harvest of good things to come.

This great Marne community has done and is doing great things. If you find yourself in a desperate situation, reach out to a fellow Soldier or Family member, your leadership, or your chaplain. We are all here for you and I personally give thanks to God every day for you.

God bless you all this holiday season. "Rejoice always, pray continually, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." (1 Thessalonians 5:16-18)

Modernized Paladin M109A7 howitzers, assigned to the “BattleKings Battalion,” 1st Battalion, 9th Field Artillery Regiment, 2nd Armored Brigade Combat Team, 3rd Infantry Division, perform sequence firing during artillery Table VI section level qualifications as part of the culminating exercise in operator new equipment training, Nov. 5 on Fort Stewart.. The Spartan Brigade is the tip of the spear in the Division’s glide path to become the most modernized division in the U.S. Army by summer 2023.

Spartans set aim for most modernized division in Army

Capt. Sean Minton
2nd ABCT

Modernized Paladin M109A7 howitzers, assigned to the “BattleKing Battalion,” 1st Battalion, 9th Field Artillery Regiment, 2nd Armored Brigade Combat Team, 3rd Infantry Division, performed firing missions during artillery Table VI section level qualifications, Nov. 5 as part of the culminating exercise in operator new equipment training at Fort Stewart.

Bravo Battery, 1-9 FAR, 2nd ABCT was the first unit on Fort Stewart to go through OPNET for the recently received modernized artillery platform. The “Spartan Brigade,” 2nd ABCT is the tip of the spear in the Division’s glide path to become the most modernized division in the Army by summer 2023.

“From a fire support perspective, the new M109A7 Paladin provides the supported maneuver commander a self-propelled artillery platform that possesses greatly increased maneuverability, survivability and maintenance efficiency,” said Lt. Col. Joseph L. Handke, commander of the 1-9 FAR, 2nd ABCT.

The modernized Paladin now possesses an electronic diagnostic system for improved maintenance troubleshooting.

“The value added from the new M109A7 is tremendous from a maintenance and logistics perspective,” said Chief Warrant Officer 2 Mark T. Mansbridge, the battalion maintenance technician for the 1-9 FAR, 2nd ABCT. “The chassis similarities to the Bradley make parts more easily accessible through the Army supply channels, and the new high voltage turret system has replaced the legacy hydraulic turret which was prone to a lot of leaks and component failures.”

Many of the old hydraulic driven fire control elements have been replaced by a high voltage system that is both more reliable and responsive. The Bradley-common engine, wider chassis, increased ground clearance, digital driver display unit and new suspension system all contribute to a more maneuverable self-propelled howitzer that can rapidly shoot and displace in all conditions in direct support of maneuver forces.

“The M109A7 provides the armored brigade combat team a modernized self-propelled artillery platform that enhances the fires war fighting function’s ability to sustain and maintain the tempo of a combined arms fight,” said Capt. Mark Pangilinan, commander of Bravo Battery, 1-9 FAR, 2nd ABCT. “At the battery level, the M109A7’s focus on mechanical interoperability with like items from the Bradley Fighting Vehicle enables our organization to maintain combat power for the duration of an operation and execute the battalion’s field artillery support plan.”

Additionally, the modernized Paladin has the capability to configure armament based on the operational environment, allowing for additional armor upgrades to provide increased force protection to the howitzer and crew. The 1-9 FAR OPNET will conclude by spring 2022.
