Dogface Soldiers celebrate Marne Week

Sgt. Javiera Scott
3rd ID Public Affairs

On a cool Monday morning, Soldiers of the 3rd Infantry Division kicked off Marne Week with their famous division run, Nov. 15. The run has been a division tradition for many years, although due to the COVID-19 pandemic they had not been able to conduct it last year. The morale-building run celebrates the proud lineage of the Dogface Soldier during the 104th anniversary of the “Rock of the Marne.”

Units from Fort Stewart and Hunter Army Airfield formed-up in front of the division's headquarters building to participate in a four-mile run. The run was led by the division's commanding general, Maj. Gen. Charles Costanza and senior enlisted leader, Command Sgt. Maj. Quentin Fenderson. Nearly the entire division was on the installation to participate in this Marne Week, excepting one brigade's headquarters and nearly two companies of personnel currently serving on three other continents.

“I ask that while you celebrate our 104th anniversary this week with the well-deserved downtime to have fun and compete, that you also remember our Division Sustainment Brigade [headquarters] is still deployed ... and you reflect on the service, sacrifice, and incredible bravery of the Dogface Soldiers before us,” Costanza said.

The day brought about the start of many other sporting and competition events.

“Marne Week is about competition and teamwork - that is the Dogface Soldier, carrying on the unit's proud history, lineage and tradition of winning,” Costanza said. “We train hard all year to be able to answer our nation's call and win, and you will see that same attitude this week on the courts, tracks, fields and mats. Our Dogface Soldiers are all here to win.”

The first day of Marne Week was closed out by Fight Night, a new event where Soldiers competed in a boxing match. Each match consisted of three, two-minute rounds, with the winner of each bout announced at the end of every match.

The Twilight Tattoo, held annually during Marne Week and Nov. 16 this year, featured music provided by the 3rd Infantry Division Band. It also included 104 soldiers reenlisting and reaffirming their commitment to the United States Army, as well as six recruits from the Hinesville Army Recruiting Center that recited their oath of enlistment into service. During the ceremony, many volunteers were also recognized for their service to the division.

The Family Day event on Wednesday brought together currently serving Dogface Soldiers, Veterans, Family members and the community to celebrate the division's legacy. Units within the division provided static displays of the many different tactical vehicles and aircraft currently in use by Dogface Soldiers.

On Thursday, Nov. 18, the division paid tribute and honor to three distinct Dogface Soldiers by renaming three gates at Fort Stewart after them. Gates 1, 3 and 5 were renamed after the Distinguished Service Cross recipient Capt. Jesse Woolridge, Medal of Honor recipient Capt. Maurice Lee “Footsie” Britt and Medal of Honor recipient Cpl. Hiroshi H. “Hershey” Miyamura. The event was attended by Costanza, Fenderson, the Britt Family, and many other Soldiers, Family members, and civilians from throughout the Division.

The closing ceremony on Thursday afternoon concluded the celebrations and recognized the event winners from throughout the week. For the second time in a row, the defending champions were the Spartan Soldiers of the 2nd Armored Brigade Combat Team. The title of “Best Battalion” was taken by the Soldiers of 3rd Battalion, 15th Infantry Regiment, 2nd ABCT.

“The Spartan Brigade is grateful for the opportunity to compete with our fellow Dogface Soldiers that are back from deployment and send our wishes to those still deployed in support of our nation,” said Col. Terry Tillis, commander of the 2nd ABCT. “This was a rare occurrence for Marne Week to include the majority of each of the division's brigades. We are humbled to serve alongside these amazing Soldiers and Families and excited we had the chance to compete once again.”

On Friday the Society of the 3rd Infantry Division hosted a military ball for Soldiers, Veterans and Family members at the Jekyll Island Convention Center. The guest of honor was retired Command Sgt. Maj. Martin Celestine Jr., the senior enlisted leader at the U.S. Army Infantry School at Fort Benning. There were also 12 valorous and influential figures from the division's storied 104-year history inducted into the Marne Hall of Fame.

“You all are awesome and did great, I hope y'all enjoyed the week,” Costanza said. “It's all about teamwork and camaraderie, thank you all for participating.”

Gate renaming ceremony honors three legendary Dogface Soldiers

Sgt. Laurissa Hodges
3rd ID Public Affairs

The 3rd Infantry Division hosted a gate dedication and renaming ceremony, Nov. 18 on Fort Stewart. Gates 1,3 and 5 were renamed in honor of Medal of Honor recipients, Capt. Jesse Wooldridge, Capt. Maurice Britt and Cpl. Hiroshi Miyamura during a ceremony on the installation, Nov. 18.

3rd ID officials hosted the ceremony to honor the legacy of the Dogface Soldiers in ways that will mark their memory and selfless service for the current Soldiers and community. The distinguished Dogface Soldiers are from three distinct periods of the 3rd ID history.

“Capt. Jesse Wooldridge is a World War I Distinguished Service Cross recipient for extraordinary heroism in action while serving as the commander of Golf Company, with 38th Infantry Regiment, 3rd Division, at Chateau-Thierry, France, on July 15, 1918,” said Maj. Gen. Charles Costanza the commanding general of the 3rd ID. “A hero during the very conflict to which the Division owes its motto ‘Rock of the Marne,’ Capt. Wooldridge led a counterattack of 189 men against a German force of five times his own numbers.”

While only 51 men returned unhurt, his company conquered or took prisoner approximately 1,000

German soldiers. Wooldridge’s success was not without personal sacrifice as he completed his mission having been shot in the chest and back as well as overcoming a bayonet wound to the neck.

“Capt. Maurice ‘Footsie’ Britt is a Medal of Honor recipient from World War II as a member of Lima Company, 3rd Battalion, 30th Infantry Regiment, 3rd ID,” Costanza said. “On Oct. 29, 1943, he received the Silver Star for his actions at Acerno, Italy, as well as the Medal of Honor and a battlefield promotion for his extraordinary actions against the enemy at Mignano, Italy.”

During that event, while disdain enemy hand grenades and close-range machine pistol, machine gun and rifle fire, Britt inspired and led a handful of his men in repelling a counterattack of approximately 100 Germans against his company positions north of Mignano, Italy, on Nov. 10, 1943. His actions resulted in the capture of four Germans and enabled several captured Americans to escape. He later earned a Bronze Star Medal and became the first infantry Soldier to be awarded the top combat decorations for valor in a single war.

“Take what you’ve learned here because you never know when it’s going to stick to a kid who grew up going to all the Medal of Honor events from age five to about age 14 in the 80s and 90s,” said Christopher Britt, Britt’s grandson. “I take what he taught me then and what I saw all of these other men exemplify and have brought that through to my life and I hope that I can pass that along to my children and grandchildren, other people that I meet and other people that I work with.”

“As a son of Japanese immigrant parents, Cpl. Hiroshi H. ‘Hershey’ Miyamura is a Medal of Honor recipient from the Korean War,” Costanza said. “While serving with Company H, 2nd Battalion, 7th Infantry Regiment, 3rd ID at Taejon-Ni, Korea, on April 24, 1951, the enemy attacked, threatening to overrun their defensive position. Cpl. Miyamura unhesitatingly jumped from his shelter, wielding his bayonet in close hand-to-hand combat, subduing approximately ten enemy Soldiers.”

Following the attack, he administered first-aid to the wounded and directed evacuation, continued to deliver fire until his ammunition was expended, while ordering his squad to withdraw and stayed behind to bayonet his way through infiltrated enemy soldiers, killing more than 50 of the enemy before he was severely wounded.

“In the future, as you drive in Wooldridge, Britt or Miyamura Gates, take some time to remember these three incredible Dogface Soldiers,” Costanza said. “Think about what selfless service is truly all about and what service to our nation means.”

3rd ID announces inaugural class of Marne Hall of Fame

Special to the Frontline

The 3rd Infantry Division announced on Wednesday the inaugural class of the “Marne Hall of Fame,” which was unveiled during the 3rd Infantry Division Soldier’s Ball on Nov. 19.

Earlier this year, 3rd Infantry Division senior officials, with the 3rd ID Museum’s historian, considered nominations of former Dogface Soldiers for inclusion into the Marne Hall of Fame. Twelve valorous and influential figures were chosen from the division’s storied 104-year history.

“The creation of a division hall of fame is part of a larger effort to celebrate the division’s history and celebrate its heroes, said Maj. Gen. Charles Constanza, commanding general of the 3rd Infantry Division. “While Soldiers might be familiar with the 60 Medal of Honor recipients the division has, there are many who made lasting contributions or are the epitome of a Dogface Soldier we want to honor for our Soldiers and communities of today.”

Inductees were selected based on their service within the division, their lifelong commitment to the division’s values, and either their valorous combat actions or their contributions to their chosen field outside of the division.

“The Marne Hall of Fame is about preserving our legacy, paying homage to our Marne heroes and promoting the history of our 104 years, which includes 38 campaign streamers and valorous combat actions from the Marne to the Euphrates Rivers,” said Col. Ryan McCormack, the 3rd ID chief of staff. “Broadly, the Marne Hall of Fame initiative is aligned with one of Maj. Gen. Costanza’s objectives to use the outstanding heritage and lineage of the Marne Division to connect with today’s Dogface Soldiers. The intent is to amplify discrete, historical, and special events tied to the 3rd ID legacy and share them with our Soldiers. Specifically, we want to embrace these men and women for their courage, selfless service, grit, and resilience in the face of the enemy or other adversities.”
