SPARK! ignites ideas on installation

Frontline Staff

The SPARK! spouses' conference, developed by spouses for military spouses, was Feb. 1 at Fort Stewart's Club Stewart, with more than 200 attendees and information providers sharing information.

"We all need inspiration from time to time," said Lori Quintas, SPARK! spouses' conference committee member and wife of 3rd Infantry Division commander, Maj. Gen. Lee Quintas.

The event, themed "Home, Health, Career – Reimagine, Rethink, Reignite" offered a full spectrum of information arranged in six rounds, with six courses each round.

More than 30 classes were held addressing subjects like finding joy in everyday life, self-defense, blogging for a living, the art of couponing, the superpower of super-foods, tips for military moves and organized living, and starting your own business.

Each class brought in subject matter experts like Carson Fortner, a martial arts instructor in Pooler, who taught kraw maga for self-defense. Among the tips he provided, with the help of Joe Bouchard, Millie Orem and the 3rd Infantry Division chaplain Capt. Andrew Alterman, was the shelling techniques, which is used to break choking holds and to take down aggressors.

Another popular venue was syndicated television host Vera Stewart, who performed a cooking demonstration and shared her reflections on 'Giving from the Heart.'

In addition to the scheduled classes, more than 25 vendors staffed by Fort Stewart agencies like Army Community Service, the Directorate of Emergency Services, Winn Army Community Hospital, and partnership agencies like the USO. Several off-post groups were also on hand too, like Susan G. Komen for the Cure.

Tree dedication remembers Cpl. Joseph Maciel

Pfc. Devron Bost
2nd ABCT Public Affairs

Family and Soldiers joined the 3rd Infantry Division, Feb. 5 in remembering the life and service of Cpl. Joseph Maciel, 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry Regiment, 3rd ID, during a tree dedication ceremony at Warriors Walk on Fort Stewart.

The 3rd ID and Fort Stewart community expressed condolences to the Family and friends of the infantry Soldier by dedicating a white-flowering crepe myrtle tree in his honor at Warriors Walk. Warriors Walk is a living memorial of the trees, each dedicated to a fallen Soldier of the 3rd ID and attached units who served during the Global War on Terror.

The ceremony marked the 469th tree to be dedicated since its inception.

Soldiers of his unit traveled from Fort Benning to show their support for the mother and Family of their fallen comrade.

Maciel was born Sept. 5, 1997, in South Gate, California. He joined the Army in 2016, where he served as a rifleman. He deployed to Tarin Kowt District, Uruzgan Province, Afghanistan, in support of the 1st Security Force Assistance Brigade, Operation Freedom's Sentinel.

"Maciel always had a never-quit attitude, he went above and beyond to complete his missions," said Staff Sgt. Eddie Negron, squad leader for Task Force 1-28. "It feels as though someone took something special away from me, he was like my son."

During the ceremony a moment of silence was given as Maciel's younger brother Angel Maciel and mother Angelina Maciel placed a yellow rose at his tree.

Maciel died of injuries sustained during an attack on July 7, 2018. His awards and decorations include: a Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Army Achievement Medal, and Afghanistan Campaign Medal. The 3rd ID and forts Benning and Stewart continue to remain committed to the Soldiers and Families who lost their love ones while defending our nation.

"Cpl. Joseph Maciel leaves a lasting impact on the Soldiers and leaders of his platoon, company and battalion," said Maj. Gen. Lee Quintas, 3rd ID commander. "By adding his tree today to Warriors Walk -- he leaves a lasting impact on the 3rd Infantry Division and all who visit Warriors Walk."

New youth gym perfect fit for community

Kevin Larson

Fort Stewart Public Affairs

Fort Stewart Families have a new option to pursue healthy lifestyles with the opening of the new youth sports and fitness center Jan. 31.

Located at building 7160 on Austin Road near Murray Elementary School, the center is open 3-7 p.m., Monday through Friday. Promoting, supporting, and encouraging fitness and healthy lifestyles is the goal of the Directorate of Family, Morale, Welfare and Recreation facility.

“What we’re trying to do is get our parents, families and guardians to be more interactive with our children, with fitness programming, sports—just getting them off the couch, getting them out the house and getting active,” said Craig Crawford, DFMWR youth sports and fitness director.

The overarching goal is to achieve FIT Families—where Fitness Inspires Terrific Families. Garrison commander Col. Jason Wolter said he hopes the center becomes a gathering place for the installation’s Families to accomplish those goals, and more.

“It’s not just about functional fitness or having a great place for a gym,” Wolter said. “We’re talking about healthy living, and it is all tied to Families. Whether you learn to cook a meal here or working out together or doing a new fitness program, this is your building.”

Planning is underway to schedule classes for children 12 and up, Crawford said. The gym is also open to children 8 to 11, so long as a parent accompanies them.

“We will have aerobic classes,” he said. “We will have HIIT classes, which is high-intensity interval training, we will have yoga classes, spin, functional fitness, and we have a free weight room which will do basic weight training for youths and a lot of different clinics.”

The center also has an athletic field for agility drills, Crawford said.

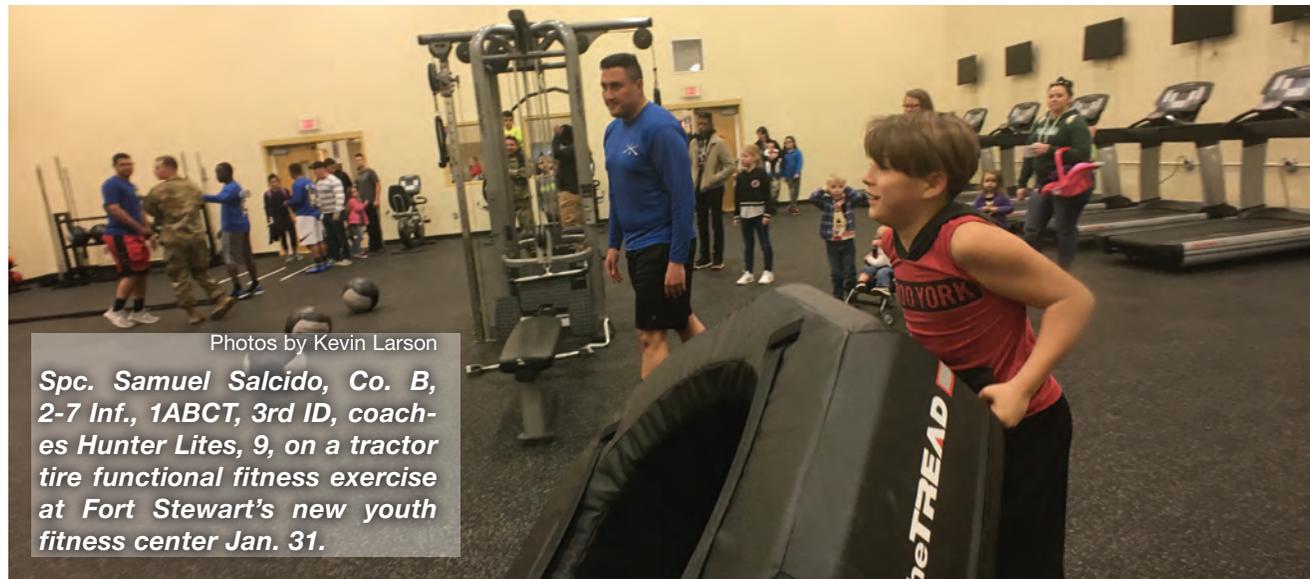

Stacy Groth, DFMWR child and youth services coordinator, said the fitness center will also offer “mommy and me” and food nutrition classes—including future cooking demonstrations. Having the youth fitness center available is way to achieve holistic fitness success.

“Knowing the number of youths that need to get up and be active, we thought this would be a great way to do that, to encourage the families to come out as a unit and really work toward some common goals,” Groth said.

For Crawford, the youth fitness center is an investment in not only individual fitness, but in creating potential for society.

“It’s for the kids,” he said. “I strongly feel that kids are our future. One day they’ll be taking care of us so they have to be able to be healthy to do that effectively.”

To learn more about the center, call 767-2635.

Embedded financial counselors wanted

Do you want to take control of your finances? Well, the ACS financial readiness team has embedded a financial counselor within each brigade to service all your financial needs. Whether you are considering buying a car, home, saving, investing, or just want assistance with creating a budget the financial counselors are here to assist? The financial counselor also provides monetary assistance through Army Emergency Relief to assist our Soldiers and Family members with life's unexpected challenges. If you require assistance, don't hesitate to contact your brigade financial counselor. For more information, you may contact ACS at 767-5058.

REAL FRG command team training

The REAL family readiness group command team training is targeted towards company commanders and first sergeants but is also informative for brigade and battalion commanders. This training delineates the roles and responsibilities of the command team regarding how to leverage and execute the Family readiness mission. Topics include Family readiness, mission essential tasks and regulatory guidance. This training is required under the Marne inspection program. It will be conducted in ACS building 87 from 9 a.m. to noon. Register by calling 767-1257 or the ACS Eventbrite page.

Hearts Apart/foreign-born spouse social

Starting in January, ACS is proud to partner with the USO to conduct the Hearts Apart/foreign-born spouses social. If your Soldier is on an unaccompanied tour or deployed, this group is for you. If you are a foreign-born Spouse, this group is for you. The meeting will be held on the second Thursday of each month at the Fort Stewart USO. This event provides an opportunity for a cultural blended experience to interact with others and build friendships that will last a life time. Children are welcome. For details call Linda McKnight, 767-5058.

Pet boarding limited

Due to installation of new turf to enhance the pet boarding center, the center temporarily can accept only 25 dogs per day for doggie daycare and/or boarding. This limitation will be effective for about 30 days (weather dependent). We regret any inconvenience this causes our customers. For additional information, call 435-8052 or visit StewartHunterMWR.com.

Parent, child golf clinics offered

A new instructional golf program, designed to encourage an interaction with parents and children in the game of a lifetime, is coming to Taylors Creek and Hunter golf courses. PGA professional Tommie McArthur will teach golf rules, swing mechanics and other basic skills. Ideal for children ages 7-14. The clinics are 10-11 a.m. at Taylors Creek, Saturday, Feb. 16 and March 16 and at Hunter Golf Course Feb. 9 and March 23. The cost is $20 for parent and child - $5 for additional child. For more or to register, call 767-2370 or 315-9115.

Coastal Happening: OCS reunion

An Army Officer Candidate School reunion is scheduled for April 28 to May 1. All branch classes 1941 until present are invited. This is going to be a great time with the opening of phase one of the OCS Heritage Center; the dedication of more bricks, pavers, and class memorials; the induction of the 2019 Hall of Fame class; and the presentations of the Nett Award and the Patterson Award. Mini class reunions are welcome to celebrate with the national reunion. Online registration is available at www.ocsalumni.org. For more information, contact Nancy Ionoff, reunion coordinator, at ocsalumnireunion@gmail.com.

Dual-military couples manage life, career

Staff Sgt. Quanesha Barnett
1ABCT Public Affairs

Across the military, there are dual-military Families who face many challenges from being separated to being deployed because of their career choices. Two Raider brigade couples serve in the same battalions as their spouse and one couple even shares the same military occupational specialty (MOS).

Spc. Simone Powell and her husband Spc. Thomas Powell are petroleum supply specialists assigned to the 3rd Brigade Support Battalion, 1st Armored Brigade Combat Team, 3rd Infantry Division.

"The good thing about being dual military is we understand each other's schedule, and the things that go on at work," said Spc. Simone Powell. "It can be difficult with childcare by being dual military in the same unit and MOS."

While working similar schedules is a challenge with childcare, it doesn't mean that one or the other can't be present for the needs of children. Both Powells said they find ways to ensure that Family takes precedence throughout their careers with the support from their chains of command.

The Powells said despite the long hours, they are accustomed with the Army. They always manage to find time for marriage and Family events.

Spc. Mark Winteroth and Pfc. Kimberly Renaga are both assigned to the 1st Battalion, 41st Field Artillery Regiment, 1ABCT, 3rd ID.

Winteroth is a fire-control specialist and Renaga is a unit supply specialist. Despite being in the same unit, having different jobs creates its own challenges.

"Being dual-military Soldiers is pretty hard because we have two different schedules," said Winteroth, "We have to put boundaries between our marriage and work."

The Soldiers realized the time will come when they will deploy separately and be divided into different units, but they appreciate the opportunities they have had to deploy and see the world together.

They returned in October from a nine-month rotation to the Republic of Korea.

"This can be a difficult experience due to us being in the same company, but also an enjoyable one due to us being in the same environment," said Winteroth. "We make the best out of the experience being dual military."

One way to combat their challenges was enrolling into the Married Army Couples Program to help ensure that married Soldiers understand joint assignments. This program and many others are offered through Military OneSource.

"The most important things for newly dual-military Soldiers are encouragement and communication," said Reynaga. "Communication is the key for a great relationship and career as dual military."

Spouses' club accepts community scholarships, grants applications

Jeni Putnam
 MCSC

The Marne Community and Spouses' Club is accepting applications for its 2019 academic scholarships and welfare grants.

Interested parties can download applications at www.marnecommunityandspousesclub.com/scholarships-and-grants. Applications must be postmarked to P.O. Box 3119, Fort Stewart, Georgia 31315 by March 2.

Through its fundraising efforts the club raises thousands of dollars each year to fund scholarships for military dependents and grants for local organizations.

"It's our great privilege to benefit our students and local organizations through our fundraising program," said MCSC president Michelle Guran. "We enjoy knowing that our efforts lead to the betterment of our Families and our communities."

Spouses or children of service members stationed at Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield may apply for the merit-based scholarships.

Community organizations that serve the Fort Stewart, Hunter Army Airfield and surrounding area may apply for grants.

MCSC is a 501c3, non-profit social and welfare organization that supports Fort Stewart and Hunter Army Airfield families and the greater Marne community through community outreach, academic scholarships and welfare grants. For more information, visit us at www.marnecommunityandspousesclub.com.

The vendors answered questions and provided information about available services and resources.

Christi Kisko understands the challenges military life poses. She and her husband, 1st Sgt. Garry Kisko, 92nd Engineers, have spent more than 17 years in the Army. Her family has moved many times. Their son, Justin, now serves in the Army at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Her other son Kadence is scheduled to join the Army in June. She sees the value in the SPARK! spouses' conference.

"I think events like today can help," Kisko said. "Many new spouses aren't aware of the services available in the area. Sometimes it is hard to navigate your way around the military. It is important to reach out to our young spouses so they don't feel lost."

She said she enjoyed the event, and learned some new things, too.

Learning new things was part of the conference's intent, according to Quintas. She said it was designed to share ideas, which benefit not only new military spouses but seasoned veterans, too.

She noted the events success was achieved through community partnership, the efforts of volunteers and garrison support. She also thanked the SPARK! committee members Kelly Evans, Sue Boyles, Karen Wolter, Bethany Marshall and Christina Hendrex for their endeavors.

Special Troops Battalion Soldiers train for base defense

Sgt. Elizabeth White
3IDSB Public Affairs

Soldiers in the Special Troops Battalion, 3rd Infantry Division Sustainment Brigade, completed a base defense life-fire exercise Jan. 30 on Fort Stewart.

The purpose of the exercise was to certify platoons in base defense operations, including reacting to simulated gas attacks, treating casualties and reacting to enemy attacks.

“One of our mission-essential tasks is to conduct a base defense operation, the battalion can’t conduct its mission if the companies and platoons don’t know how to conduct theirs,” said Maj. Clint L. Gudan, the STB executive officer. “Starting at the smallest level and working our way up, it allows us to secure the sustainment brigade whenever they’re conducting operations in a [deployed] environment.”

The sustainment brigade is the lifeblood of the 3rd Infantry Division’s operations. Sustainment units are responsible for supplying ammunition, food, fuel, water, communication capabilities and managing Soldiers’ finances. They not only need to defend themselves, they also need to be prepared to defend those resources and anyone that comes to access them.

“As the battalion headquarters for the sustainment brigade, it is our responsibility to provide that security for the brigade headquarters,” said Gudan. “Additionally, if you think about the mission of STB, we own the signal company, the finance company and the human resources company, so we would have to defend those key nodes where troops are coming in, getting processed or getting their pay.”

While the sustainment mission is important for keeping Soldiers fed, armed and paid, it isn’t the most glamorous job in the Army. Often, Soldiers spend their days behind a desk or in a motor pool maintaining those supply assets. Being able to train in reacting to simulated enemy contact, treat a casualty and defend their base was an opportune chance to get back to the basics.

“A lot of our Soldiers don’t get the opportunity to do these kinds of things while working in a brigade or battalion element,” said Staff Sgt. Andrew Kiefer, the senior construction equipment repairer with Headquarters and Headquarters Company, STB, 3IDSB. “When we get these types of things going on it gives them an overview of what it’s actually like to be a total Soldier. It gets the Soldiers back to what they learned in basic training.”

Soldiers took in the learning experience the base defense provided and began planning for further advancement of those skills.

“We’re looking in the future to do sergeant’s time training, ranges and things like that,” said Kiefer.

The brigade continues to train to meet any challenge at home or abroad, protect and sustain the 3rd ID and advance the Army mission.

Winn wears red for healthy hearts

Sandra Durrence, APRN
Winn Army Public Health

Every minute in the U.S., someone's wife, mother, daughter, or sister dies from heart disease, stroke or other form of cardiovascular disease. According to the National Institute of Health, one in every four women will die from heart disease. Heart disease is the number one killer of women age 25 and older and stroke is the number four killer of women and accounts for 61 percent of all stroke deaths annually.

The American Heart Association's Go Red for Women movement is trying to turn around these statistics. It is a nationwide movement focused on providing resources, information and hope.

On Feb. 1, the American Heart Association's annual national Wear Red Day showed their support for the fight against heart disease and stroke in women by wearing red.

The good news is that you can control many coronary heart disease (CHD) risk factors. CHD risk factors are conditions or habits that raise your risk for CHD and heart attack. These risk factors also can increase the chance that existing CHD will worsen. Often times the symptoms go unnoticed in women.

Know the symptoms:

- Unexplained fatigue.
- Dizziness.
- Nausea.
- Shortness of breath.
- Anxiety.
- Cold sweats.
- Pain in the chest, upper back, shoulders, neck or jaw.

Top Interventions:

- Take an aspirin and call 911 if you experience any symptoms.
- Have yearly health screens for blood pressure and cholesterol checks.
- Increase fruit and vegetable intake and decrease fried, fatty meats and empty calories from simple sugars.
- Exercise for 30-60 minutes every day.
- Know your numbers: Keep your body mass index less than 25, waist circumference less than 35 inches for women and less than 40 inches for men. Keep your cholesterol less than 200 mg/dl, low-density lipoprotein less than 130mg/dl; high-density lipoprotein greater than 50 mg/dl, triglycerides less than 150mg/dl; blood pressure lower than 120/80; blood sugar between 60 and 110 mg/dl.

Lifestyle changes, medicines, and medical or surgical procedures can help women lower their risk for CHD. Thus, early and ongoing CHD prevention is important. Winn Army Community Hospital urges women to take charge of their cardiovascular health, make it a top priority and live a stronger, longer life.

CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

Be a doer, not a fixing-to-do-person

Maj. Jeremy Mount
1st ABCT Chaplain

Over the years, I have had the honor to serve in lots of different Army units. I have found there is a distinct characteristic within the healthy ones. Healthy units are not filled with 'fixing-to-do-Soldiers.'

The other day, I asked a platoon sergeant how he thought his team was doing. He gave me one of the most profound responses to date. "My platoon is all about doing what it takes to complete the mission," he said. "Every one of them are doers!"

I am convinced the Army, or any organization, does not have room for Soldiers or employees who live out of a fixing-to-do-mindset. We must become doers!

There is a tendency for every one of us to sway from accomplishing the mission or losing traction while pursuing our goals.

The fixing-to-do-belief system becomes the norm when we begin to suffer from "Eeyore syndrome." Eeyore refers to the old, depressed, gloomy, pessimistic, gray donkey in Winnie-the-Pooh. He was plagued by circumstances and always fixing to do something great. But he could never find his tail.

Don't you dare catch this disease. Hold fast to being doers who complete the missions you were gifted to fulfill and change lives along the way.

So what areas of your life are you fixing-to-do? Why not go ahead and enroll in that college course? You know you need to write that long overdue letter of apology to your loved one or estranged friend. Or call the person, maybe text it. Just keep it off social media.

Go ahead and book that perfect date night for your spouse or significant other. Find that someone within your job who is struggling and sit at their feet.

Run the marathon, start a new hobby, and take that leap of faith. Let's become those who will be known as doers and not those who look back on their lives regretting what could have been, because they were always fixing-to-do!

Now someone may argue, "Some people have faith; others have good deeds." But I say, "How can you show me your faith if you don't have good deeds? I will show you my faith by my good deeds." How foolish! Can't you see that faith without good deeds is useless? James 2:18-20(NLT)

Eagles stretch Marne Air's wings with physical fitness

Sgt. Ryan Tatum
3CAB Public Affairs

Marne Air Soldiers were taught physical therapy techniques by Georgia Southern University doctoral physical therapy students Jan. 24 on Hunter Army Airfield, as part of the Soldier Athlete Human Performance Optimization program.

The SAHPO is a collaborative effort between 3rd Combat Aviation Brigade; 3rd Infantry Division's medical operations cell; and Georgia Southern University's physical therapy department where Dr. Nancy Henderson is the lead physical therapist. She also works at Tuttle Army Health Clinic and Winn Army Community Hospital.

"This program is important to our Soldiers because it familiarize them with physical therapy techniques and helps locate their problem areas within their body, regardless if muscular or skeletal problems exist," said Capt. Robert Malloy, a medical operations officer for 3rd CAB. "The Army's mission is to increase readiness in its highest capacity, so it can be ready to fight and win, that is what this program is geared towards."

This training started with 15 Soldiers with various skills and job demands. Marne Air Soldiers were introduced to six doctoral physical therapy students who were eager to get familiar with the Soldier's needs.

"It's a good program, I could see myself using the recovery techniques after my personal workouts," said Spc. Skyler Hughes, a UH-60, Blackhawk mechanic for Company D, 2nd Battalion, 3rd Aviation Regiment, 3rd CAB. "I think it will be effective and prevent injuries in the future."

The most common muscles the therapist have targeted are the hip flexors, hamstrings, calves and the chest muscles. Some of the stretching and warm up recommendations require Soldiers to stretch at least two days a week, holding each stretch for 20-30 seconds.

"What we are getting after is myofascial release," said Malloy. "This uses sustained pressure on the soft tissue while applying traction on the fascia. The intramuscular and in the joints really helps lengthen the muscle and breakdown scar tissue over time. The equipment we are using really targets the improvement of our endurance via myofascial release techniques."

The SAHPO program is fundamental and utilizes three pieces of equipment: a foam roller; lacrosse ball; and resistance band. Each piece of equipment is utilized to find problem areas in the Soldiers' bodies.

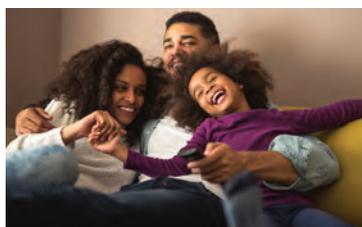

"The objective is to decrease temporary profiles over time and increase the efficacy and efficiency of our fighter to ensure they can deploy, fight and win," said Malloy. "It also will pay dividends in the future because the more we can implement these recovery methods, the better overall our brigade will be."

Don't you dare call it ping pong

Fort Stewart Intramural Sports
Commentary

Greetings, sports fans! You are feasting your eyes on the inaugural edition of the new "Intramural Sports Insider" column, written by the Fort Stewart intramural sports department.

This recurring column will be your one-stop shop for all things sports here at Fort Stewart.

Its purpose will be to recap highlighted games and programs, provide upcoming sports updates, and post the weekly commander's cup league standings and schedules. Without further ado, let's get to it!

This particular edition of ISI will highlight the recently completed 2019 table tennis tournament held at Newman Fitness Center Jan. 26.

Yours truly made the crucial mistake of calling it "ping pong" and got chastised mercilessly, so I will not be making that mistake again. This highly anticipated tournament brought together the best table tennis talent from across the installation and surrounding areas to compete for the 2019 championship.

Open to all authorized Fort Stewart Directorate of Family, Morale, Welfare and Recreation patrons, there were a total of 11 competitors in the round-robin tournament pools. The top two from each pool moved on to the single-elimination championship tournament.

Competition through the round robin matches was fierce, as these table tennis juggernauts chopped and smashed their way through the grueling schedule. As the morning turned to afternoon, a few clear front-runners emerged from the pack.

At the end of the round-robin matches, the top four to enter the single-elimination championship tournament were:

Pool 1

1. Walvic Rodriguez
2. Jeff Riley

Pool 2

1. Ediberto Rosa
2. Cliff Laymon

The semifinal matchups were Rodriguez versus Laymon and Rosa versus Riley. In the first matchup, Rodriguez cruised to a straight set victory over Laymon, with a score of 11-2, 12-10 and 12-10. In the second matchup, Rosa also made quick work of Riley in straight sets, with a score of 11-4, 11-8 and 11-2. Both undefeated, the championship match was set between Rodriguez and Rosa.

Rodriguez jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead, defeating Rosa 12-10 and 11-4. In a must-win situation, Rosa rallied back to tie the match at 2-2, defeating Rodriguez 12-10 and 11-2 in the next two matches.

In true dramatic fashion, the championship came down to the final match. The tension and anticipation ran high as the players took their places at the table. The seesaw battle continued, as each player hit some magnificent shots. Trailing 10-9 in the final match, Rosa tried to make some magic happen. His trusty and devastating forehand topspin smash had been his kill shot all day and he tried to use it again to even the score. This time, however, the ball sailed wide of the edge of the table, giving Rodriguez the match and the championship.

It was a shame that there had to be a loser after such a close and entertaining matchup. Such is life, however, and Rodriguez was deservedly crowned the 2019 table tennis tournament champion!

All competitors exhibited outstanding sportsmanship and love for the game. We in the intramural sports department would like to thank everyone that supported this event and we hope to see you at our next activity.
