Technologies we use every day can pose an Operations Security, or OPSEC risk.

Location data advertises where you are, where you’ve been and potentially when you’ll return.

To mitigate risk:

- turn off precise location settings when not needed for navigation, workouts or other activities, or when taking pictures, especially when on vacation;
- refrain from posting information online about your vacation or extended trips away from your residence until you have returned home; and
- always examine where a company is based when deciding to purchase a smart device or download an application. Understand the risk factors, and that your data could be stored by whatever country owns that technology.

The new hospital's main entrance will be accessible via Headquarters Avenue, and construction to align the avenue with the new facility is complete. Landscaping work around the site will start in spring.

USACE provides hospital construction update

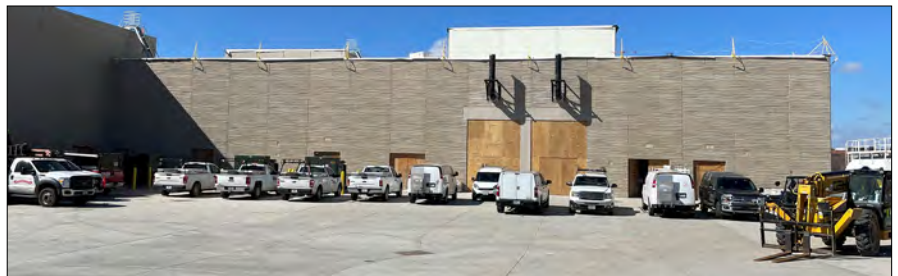

Fort Leonard Wood's new General Leonard Wood Army Community Hospital will be located on 52 acres northeast of the existing hospital, which was built in 1965.

Facilities being constructed include a 235,400-square-foot hospital, 193,300-square-foot clinic, central utility plant, emergency back-up generators, five-bay ambulance garage, helipad and supporting facilities.

On Monday, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Quality Assurance Section took some photos of the construction progress.
