MISSION

To provide historical information and analysis in support of mission requirements.

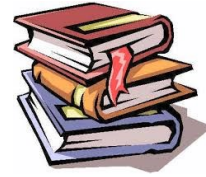

To establish and maintain a document collection which can serve to support current and future historical information and analysis efforts.

DONATIONS

The History Office welcomes donations of historical items, such as photographs, unit histories, and personal memoirs. The material is important in the documenting of the history of the Corps of Engineers.

In addition, engineer trainers, material developers, and doctrine writers can apply the lessons of the past for the Engineer Force of the future.

COLLECTION

The History Office maintains the Engineer Historical Research Collection. This is a multi-media collection of historical materials on the Engineer School and the Corps of Engineers.

The focus of the collection is on the role of the Corps of Engineers in war. The collection includes information on Engineer units, equipment, and organization.

Housed within the History Office are over 17,000 manuals, 21,000 photos, 800 videos and tapes, and two million pages of documents on engineer equipment, soldiers, and operations.
