FLASH MPA membership total 19 Feb. 8,693. This compares with 100 on 1 Sept. and 5, 700 for the pre-war British Royal MP Association. They have 7,000 wartime and 6,300 post-war. Total 19,000.

Major Changes Scheduled in April

Effective next month Col. F. E. Howard will leave TPMGC which he has commanded since its establishment, and his post as commandant of TPMGS to become PM of FEC. Col. J. P. Holland, Deputy TPMG, will leave Washington to take over as commander of the Provost Marshal General center activities at Camp Gordon. Col. F. S. Lee, Chief, Personnel Division, OPMG, will become Deputy, TPMG.

PMs Appointed for Tech Services

The MPC has taken another historical step forward. Effective 1 Feb., by direction of the Chief of Staff, a PM organization was established in each of the Technical Services. It is proposed that, in time, when all the administrative details are worked out, this program will be similar to that for the PMs of the continental Armies. Until these details are resolved, however, there will be no change in the Army Commanders' security responsibilities for Class II installations within their areas.

The Chiefs of the Technical Services have not had an advisor for military police matters on their immediate staff prior to this time. To start this program, a provost marshal has been assigned to the staff of each Technical Service. Each one is a MPC officer. They are:

Chemical Corps—LtC C. E. Grimsley; Corps Engineers—Col. R. W. Reed; Ordnance Corp—Col. C. E. Read; Quartermaster General—Col. F.

EUCOM Takes Lead in MPA Race

At press time Eucom was holding a strong lead. During the thirty day period Fecom took over from Second Army when 2nd LogCom sent in 217 members and the largest check to that time. With the 505th MP Bn., under LtC E. J. Carson sending in 408 memberships to make their unit 100% and the biggest check to date, Sixth Army took the lead on 11 Feb. Then the 709th came through with 256 and the 43d MP Co 112 and Eucom passed 1,500.

504th MP Bn Regains Lead; Is 100%

LtC W. A. Watkins and his outfit made it 100% in Feb. and took the lead once again in the heavyweight division. Just after Col. Slob and the 701st had issued a world-wide challenge too. Nine Bns topped 100 members. There are 45 units in this race. Three major commands topped 1,000 during period as did California.

542d MP Co Continues Lead

Capt. Engleman and his men continued to hold lead. Six units, of 170, have more than 100 members. 3RD CID took a strong lead among more than 20 CI units with 28 members. 100% GROUPS: AA 12; 1st, 31st, 38th and 73d CID; Co B, 701st; 505th Bn; 504th Bn; PMO Redstone Arsenal; Officers Augsburg MP; CZ Eucom staff; Cp Carson and Colo Springs; MP Os ECI&MP School; Det. UNITED STATES ARMY
THE CHIEF OF STAFF

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY POLICE CORPS, U. S. ARMY:

There could be no finer tribute to the Military Police Corps of the Army than the splendid record of service which its members have built. In war and in peace Military Police have been called upon to perform many important tasks -- in the battle zones, on the training fields, and in the areas of occupation. Today, in Korea and in other parts of the world you are meeting well the new challenges you face as you join your fellow soldiers in helping to thwart the aggressive threat of communism.

I am sure I speak for everyone in the Army when I send you hearty congratulations for your past accomplishments and warm good wishes for every success in the future.

J. Lawton Collins

The Military Police Corps in EUCOM

By Brigadier General W. H. Maglin
EUCOM Provost Marshal

The Military Police Corps activities in EUCOM are varied and widespread. In addition to the normal military police duties in the major cities and areas contiguous to troop concentration, a large force of military police is engaged in custom control duties along the Soviet interzonal border and the borders of satellite countries to prevent illegal export of critical and strategic war materials. In addition, a military police battalion has the sole duty of guarding train shipments of classified materials and investigation of pilferages in transit. A Military Police Highway Patrol Company with headquarters in Heidelberg furnishes traffic service, enforcement and information throughout the US Zone. It functions similarly to State Highway Patrols in the US with detachments in the eleven military posts.

All service-type military police units were recently reorganized into tactical-type battalions and companies in order to meet the change in status from occupation duty to one of defense. Now, along with the military police companies of the combat divisions and the military police battalion of the Seventh Army, all military police are organized and equipped for combat missions.

The eleven criminal investigation detachments heretofore directly under the command of the Provost Marshal, EUCOM, are now decentralized for operations to the various post commanders. This was done on the premise that criminal investigations are an integral part of Military Police functions. A provost marshal in any area is now responsible not only for military police patrols and coverage in his area of jurisdiction, but also the criminal investigations in that area. A special force of criminal investigators is maintained at the Provost Marshal Division for high-level investigations and investigations of thater-wide import. A system of case-report writing which reduces distribution, briefs synopsis and eliminates, except in special cases, security classification has been inaugurated.

The President's Message

We have been most happy to hear from many old-timers as well as younger members of the Corps (and its counterpart in other services.) Most of those who have written in have read about the MPA in the service press or newspapers published at their post, naval station, air base or Coast Guard installation. Many have written requesting more information, or for data on requirements for membership. Many have asked questions on other subjects which we have been able to answer or for which we have been able to secure an answer from representatives of the several services. We shall be glad to continue to receive letters from both members and non-members. (When you write tell us the news of individuals and units at your station.)

The MPA should interest not only active members of the police organizations of the various services, but should also have considerable appeal to ex-members and to those who are still on active duty but for one reason or another are not now serving in their own branch.

At the present time many branches of the Army are trying to get personnel assigned to their branches back into their assignments for which they were originally trained or commissioned. With the Corps making great strides both in organization and training, members not now on MPC assignments should be anxious to get back into the fold. Professional standards are being raised and those who expect to climb the career ladder should "come home" as soon as possible, and be sure that they will be in a position to keep abreast of new developments in the police profession.

According to an announcement by the Army only about 10,000 reserve officers will be recalled in the coming year. Officers and men who qualify under the 17 and 24 months release plan will undoubtedly be out on schedule or before. There is an increasing sentiment against calling enlisted reserves back involuntarily for additional duty. All of this adds up to greater opportunities for eventual promotion for all grades of those presently in the service.

According to Army Secretary Frank C. Pace, Jr., the group whose release dates are coming up include 100,000 officers of the Reserve components, more than 150,000 from the Enlisted Reserve and 100,000 from the National Guard, unless they volunteer to remain on active duty.

Meantime the Army is doubling its OCS program. This program should be brought to the attention of outstanding enlisted personnel. Graduates will have to serve only 18 months after their graduation. The Marines have announced that they will need additional second lieutenants. The Armed Services have also announced a campaign to enlist additional WACs, WAFs, and WAVES, etc.

One of the best ways for an MP to move ahead in the modern Army and the growing Corps is to get into an MP unit and not only learn by doing but to get selected to attend some one of the several courses available at the MPRTC or TPMGS. Here in the Center, the heart of the Corps, you can get basic training, retraining, or take basic or advanced courses as an enlisted man or officer. These with practical work in the field should prepare you for progress and advancement which is the goal of every man. You should not only plan your own future but you should also spread the word among your friends by letter or word of mouth. Through the MPA and The Military Police Journal you can get information about the Corps as well as personal news about your friends in the Corps throughout the world.

Make Corrections on the Spot

To train is not enough. Training we must have but as General Parker points out we must have on-the-spot correction of errors at all times This does not mean only that the battalion or company commander makes corrections during an inspection. It means that every responsible leader from the top down to the squad leader or non-com in charge of a phase of training must know his job and see that those under his direction do things correctly. Corrections should be made immediately when mistakes are observed. The man concerned should be addressed by name. That is the most effective way. Such action continuously by observant leaders and instructors will help build an outfit that will earn a well-deserved reputation as a top-flight unit.

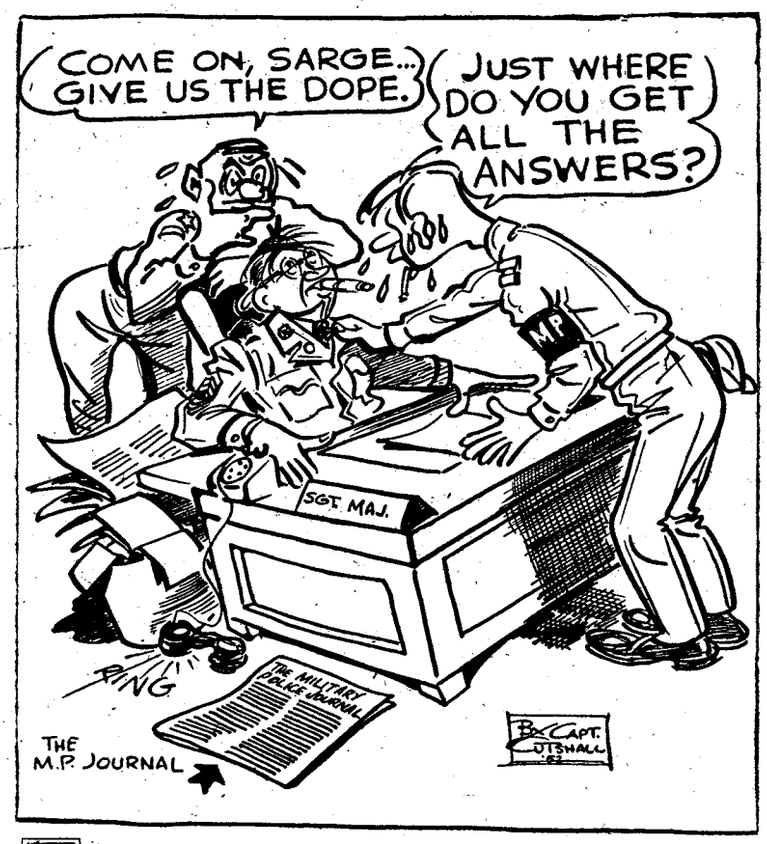

Save Time and Money

Many of us are leaving sweethearts or families for overseas service. For most of us this will mean a lot of letter writing. There are two ways to ease this burden. To make it possible for you to avoid writing all the details, or failing to mention important news about friends and units which are known to both you and "your best girl" or your parents we have two suggestions. Either place a membership in your wife's name so she can get Corps news direct while you are away, or mail the MP Journal to her after you have read it. We trust you take the journal home so your wife can read it. Or maybe you don't want your wife to know!

New Opportunities — Greater Responsibilities

As the Corps grows and expands it is constantly being given new and additional responsibilities and opportunities for service. General Parker and his key subordinates have always been on the alert for new ways for the Corps to win a permanent and important place in the Army. The latest mission, that of providing Provost Marshals for the Technical Services (as well as some assistants to those PMs) opens up a new field. It is one of tremendous responsibility and will call for the best trained personnel we can muster. But such a new program offers wonderful rewards to all of us. It makes available a number of additional assignments for the senior officers of the Corps and will at the same time provide opportunities for other officers to fill the assignments that these officers would have filled if the new program had not been taken on. Such a program will quickly separate the men from the boys. It calls for a program of constant planning and training, of coordination within the Corps and mutual understanding of all PM and allied problems by all who expect to continue to advance in the Corps. It calls for a firm doctrine and continual study of mutual problems so that the doctrine and best solutions of individuals can be disseminated to all who are, or may be, involved in these important Military Police Corps assignments.

THE MILITARY POLICE JOURNAL, published monthly, is the official publication of the Military Police Association. The membership fee including a subscription to THE MILITARY POLICE JOURNAL is $2.00 payable as of 1 October each year. Correspondence concerning the MPA or the MP Journal should be addressed to the Association, P. O. Box 2078 Hill Station, Augusta, Georgia, USA, attention of the official concerned. Material intended for publication should reach the Editor by the 15th of the month preceding the date of publication. Use regular AGO Form for notifying the MPA of changes of address. 716th MP BN ACTIVITIES

The month of Jan. has been an extremely busy and very intersting one for the 716th MP Bn. On the 3rd, 4th, and 5th of Jan., the Battalion, less Company "A", moved to Camp Drum in upstate New York to take part in the winter maneuver "Exercise Snowfall".

Immediately upon arrival, after a successful trip from the standpoint of 78,382 total miles driven over icy roads with but five (5) minor accidents, the organization played the major part in bringing in daily the numerous convoys of troops which are to take part in the Exercise. Throughout the month, the battalion has had many and varied commitments such as Post MP Operations, Town Patrol, Traffic Control, MP Security, Convoy Escort, etc. In addition to commitments, a winter training program has been in effect. Although hampered by lack of snow and the unseasonable temperature, some use was made of skis, snowshows, and ahkios by the units as part of there training.

One of the highlights for the month was the celebration of the organization's 10th Anniversary marked by appropriate comments and a short talk by Lt. Col. Russell, Bn CO. With the MPC celebrating its 10th Anniversary only a few months ago, it is interesting to note that the battalion is one of the oldest units in the Corps. On our return to Fort Dix following the maneuver a more elaborate celebration is to be held and already is lobked forward to with some anticipation.

It is Pro-vo!

By Major General J. V. Dillon, The Air Provost Marshal and The Inspector General, USAF.

Editor's note—We asked General Dillion, a recognized authority on the pronunciation and derivation of words, to prepare this article especially for the MILITARY POLICE JOURNAL. We hope it settles the arguments which have long been with us.

We who are supposed to be exemplars of law observance, often indulge in careless neglect or indifference toward the rules of pronuniciation. I do not suggest that wars are lost because of such neglect but certainly meticulous adherence to lexigraphic rules of pronunciation engenders respect. A person who is careful in speech is probably a careful person and the reverse is also probably true.

In any event, I submit that those of us engaged in Provost Marshal work ought to be able to pronounce the word provost.

A word that has a pronunciation, which is not supported by its spelling, is one that has been singled out and thus in a sense honored. Provost is such a word when used in its military sense, and it is only in the military sense that the word has a distinctive pronunciation which is neither supported by its spelling nor its derivation.

The word provost is derived from Late Latin through Anglo Saxon profost and Middle English, and it also comes to us from Late Latin through the French prevot. As an ordinary noun, the word means: a person appointed to superintend or preside over something; a person appointed as an official head. In Scottish burghs, the provost is the chief magistrate corresponding to the mayor of English cities. In early English, the provost was the steward or bailiff of a manor or the reeve of a shire, borough or town.

In the field of education, the head of certain English colleges is called the provost, and in some American universities, the chief administration officer in charge of strictly educational activities is so-called.

In all of the foregoing senses, the word is pronounced as prov'ust, where the o in prov sounds like the o in odd and the u in ust is like the u in circus.

But when the word provost is used in its military sense, meaning an officer of the military police, it is pronounced pro-vo! with each syllable rhyming with go. Actually the accent is shifting and the word should be spoken with equal emphasis on each syllable.

Unhappily, too many in the provost activity mispronounce the word as pro-vost with vost rhyming with ghost. When I hear the word so mispronounced, my tender sensibilities are so thoroughly shocked that I know somewhere in the future, my ghost will haunt the careless person who so pronounces provost.

Your Other MOS

The Proper Point of View

The principles involved in a proper Military Police-troop relationship are simple and easily applied. A worker desiring a promotion or an increase in salary works harder, does a better job, and tries to make himself invaluable. If a business man wishes to increase his sales, he sells better merchandise, tries to satisfy his customers, and builds good will. The case of the Military Police is not greatly different. In order to create a proper attitude, three important things must be considered:

1. Public resentment must be avoided. One cannot hope to retain the friendship of another individual if one constantly embarrasses, humiliates, anoys, and inconveniences that individual. Similtarly, the Military Police cannot hope to retain the friendship of the troops if their conduct is unfair and unreasonable.

2. Public good will must be developed. Just as it is important to develop the good will of a friend, so it is equally necessary for the Military Police to promote the good will of the troops and the public. Small courtesies and special services will far toward improving the standing of the Military Police in the eyes of the troops.

3. The troops must be kept advised of regulations and policies as well as the reasons for their adoption. A "knowing" public will cooperate with the police. This holds true of the Military Police and the troops.

Texas Congressman Olin Teague, member of the first TPMGS class has been invited to send us a photo and thumbnail sketch. He was wartime PM of the 79th Inf. Div.

"Fifteen Questions"

Army Extension Courses Information

1. What is the purpose of Army Extension Courses?

a. To provide a progressive nonresident course of military instruction for personnel of all components of the Army of the United States.

2. Who may enroll?

a. Officers, warrant officers and enlisted personnel of all components of the Armed Services. Those civilians employed by the Department of the Army whose duties require technical knowledge may apply for enrollment in individual subcourses dealing with specific subjects with the approval of their department chiefs.

3. How does one make application for enrollment in an Army Extension Course Series?

a. Application for enrollment will be made in quadruplicate, on DA AGO Form 145, Application for Enrollment, and submitted through normal command channels for indorsements of approval. Address all applications to: Commandant, The Provost Marshal General's School, Camp Gordon, Georgia, ATTENTION: Director, Army Extension Course Branch.

4. What benefits will be derived from working Army Extension Courses?

a. They provide military knowledge to prepare a student for promotion; prepare a person for possible future assignment; successful completion of Ten Series is an EM educational qualification for appointment as a reserve officer; for ORC members one (1) retirement point credit is given for every three (3) credit hours earned through Army Extension Course study.

5. What are the command channels, if any, in issuing extension course material to students?

a. None. Subsequent to enrollment all extension course study material is exchanged directly between the school and student.

6. Must all the text references be returned to the school upon completing a subcourse?

a. Yes — upon successful completion of a subcourse, unless otherwise specified by the school. These texts are reissued to other students. This is very important in the interest of the supply economy program.

7. Can an extension course student receive credits toward a series completion by attending the resident school?

a. Yes. Graduate resident students receive credit for certain equivalent subcourse subjects in the numbered series appropriate to their grade, which they studied while attending the resident course.

8. Does a student's Certificate of Completion for a subcourse become a permanent part of his 201 file?

a. Yes. The original copy is forwarded to the student and the duplicate copy is placed in his 201 file as a permanent record. A file copy is also retained in his AEC-201 enrollment file at the service school for record purposes.

9. What minimum requirements must a student meet in order to prevent cancellation of his enrollment?

a. Paragraph 15a(4), AR 350-300 requires a student to complete a minimum of 15 credit hours of Army Extension course study every six months to continue his current enrollment. Many students in overseas theaters, and in combat zones find it impossible to continue extension work. Others are forced to temporarily discontinue AEC work due to illness, absence from home and other reasons beyond their control. In these instances, when an extension of time is necessary to meet minimum requirements for the reasons stated above, due consideration will be given the request submitted to this office setting forth such reasons and the amount of additional time needed.

10. How can an interested person find out what courses of instruction are available to him, if desirous of enrollment in Army Extension Courses?

a. Upon receipt of request, therefore, the Army Extension Courses Branch, The Provost Marshal General's School, will forward a copy of the AEC Prospectus, which lists in detail all subcourses available their scopes and approved credit hours allowed for each course. Each new enrollee receives a copy of the Prospectus on an automatic issue basis upon enrollment.

As we look back over the past month and see the successful work the men have been doing, it justifies the Excellent rating received in the First Army Training tests that was reported last month. The battalion has been busy, but the men are satisfied to know that they have been doing a big job and doing that job well. Month by month we see more clearly how important good training is not only to ourselves, but to the Army as a whole.

MILITARY POLICEMEN AS AGGRESSORS. Two officers and forty-two (42) Military Policemen of the 716th Military Police Battalion, which is engaged in Exercise Snow Fall at Camp Drum, New York, have been attached to the Aggressor Forces. The balance of the three line companies, B, C, and D and Headquarters and Headquarters Company are attached to Maneuver Headquarters. In preparation for the actual maneuver, which began 9 February, 1952, the two officers and forty-two (42) men have been undergoing training in all phases of combat in extreme cold and snow. The training included skiing, snowshoeing, building of lean-tos, ice and snow houses and the loading and lashing of ahkios. The ahkio is used to haul artic tents, food, ammunition and other supplies over deep snow. It is pulled by a three man team and the men are mounted on either skiis or snowshoes. The ahkio is sled like in appearance. The aggressor platoon is the only Military Police unit in the Aggressor Force. The platoon will have the entire Military Police responsibilty for the Aggressor Force during the maneuver. First Lieutenant John J. Hayduk is Aggressor Provost Marshal; Second Lieutenant Robert L. Schlager is Assistant Provost Marshal; Master Sergeant Arthur H. Priebe is First Sergeant; Sergeant Ray R. Perry is Operations Sergeant; and Sergeant Teddy E. McClure is Supply Sergeant.

St. Laurence University

Two distinguished Military Students of the senior class at The St. Lawrence University, MP ROTC, Cadet Charles T. McCaffrey, and Cadet Ovid E. Roberts, have been selected for RA commissions. Both cadets did an outstanding job at the MP ROTC, summer camp at Cp Gordon, in 1951. Cadet McCaffrey was selected as outstanding cadet in his company. Both cadets have done very well, both in their military training at St. Lawrence and as leaders in campus activities. The ROTC unit at St. Lawrence has organized its own advanced course honorary military society, the Corps d'Elite Association. It is planned that it will eventually associate itself with a national military fraternity, such as Scabbard and Blade. LtC. H. F. Buerschinger, PMS&T writes: "We are pleased with the Military Police Journal."

Co C of the 716th has been commended by A. G. Russell, Bn Co: During the month of January they operated their vehicles without accident, a noteworthy achievement considering that the move to Cp Drum involved operation under adverse weather conditions. The driver training and motor discipline was judged to be superior and they were told they upheld the Bn slogan of "Safety and Security."

During the month of November, 1951, while engaged in a training cycle, this battalion received two important communications. The first of these communications notified the battalion that it would take an Army Training Test 19-7 on the 18th, 19th, and 20th of December, 1951. Hence immediate steps were taken to reinforce the Battalion; to make it a swift aggressive Military Police force. Then on Dec. 1st the Battalion withdrew from its Post commitments to further enable it to prepare for the test. A rigorous training schedule was implemented at this time, including Tactical Motor Marches (day and night), Security of Tactical and Non-tactical Bivouacs, Establishing and Maintaining Straggler Lines, Escorting and Processing POW's, Guerilla Operations, etc. As the time before the test grew shorter, each Company was individually tested under the scope of Army Training Test 19-6 by Battalion Officers.

On the 19th of December the Battalion moved into the field for our first day of testing. Meterologically speaking, the day was extremely grim, with early-morning sleet and glare-iced roads turning shortly into glare-iced troops, and, finally into driving rains and mud. At this point, if you will pardon our pride, let it be said that not one vehicular or personal accident occured, in spite of the extremely adverse weather conditions. As "proof of the pudding" the Battalion achieved the coveted overall rating of Excellent.

The second important communication that the Battalion received in November was to notify of our proposed participation in Exercise Snowfall at Camp Drum, N.Y. This is the point at which your, if you will pardon the experssion, correspondent, leaves you for this month.

Look and See

By Colonel J. P. Holland, Deputy The Provost Marshal General

We, in the Military Police Corps, are often known as the eyes of our commanding officers. For that reason, our eyes should be particularly keen. We should train ourselves to observe in the same light as our commanding officers would observe. Further, we should observe in the same light that we would observe if we were the commanding officer.

The power of observation is one of the five senses that we were all born with, but the application and reaction of this sense is something that each individual must develop for himself. This takes self-training; it is a something which cannot be learned from books, going to school, or be taught in the classroom. Therefore, since we of the Military Corps are not only our own eyes, but also those of someone else, and of those who place a great deal of confidence in us, we must shoulder this responsibility with the greatest of concern.

For military policemen, it is not sufficient to observe a breach of the code of discipline or deviation from accepted social standards, but we must act and correct. What advantage is gained to the commanding officer or to us if we fail to correct those breaches of discipline and deviations which we observe that are wrong and which bring discredit upon our command?

Our work is lesssened by making minor corrections on the spot. Psychologically, the average American will take advantage of all the leeway that he is allotted. The bareheaded will become the unbuttoned coat; the unbuttoned coat will become the turned up trousers and from there on will arise serious trouble. The chap out on the town with one too many will become the one with far too many who will, in turn, become the AWOL, or perhaps worse.

Too often, it is observed that our men fail to make corrections. This is not only while on such duty as town or motor patrol, but in daily drill and housekeeping. It is not sufficient that we be the most efficient policemen while correcting those outside our Corps, but we must be most scrupulous in correcting those within our Corps.

Members of the Corps must be the examplars of the command. We must be above criticism. We, as individuals, are observed with the same critical eye that our commanders expect us to observe others.

Our barracks and areas must be the best within the command. Our drill must be that which will be the example for all others. Our administration must be that which will make even the Inspector General smile with pleasure. Our disciplinary record must be unblemished.

One asks how can all this be achieved. Simple: Look and See. We are all proud to be a military policeman. It is up to each individual to live up to this pride. Each of us, from The Provost Marshall General, to our newest member, must accept—and accept with a smlie—a certain amound of "ribbing". We all have been known as the Sheriff, the Warden or even a flatfoot, but a real military policeman takes it and he, within himself, knows he is the best damn sheriff, warden or flatfoot that ever wore an MP armband. How? Because he LOOKS and he SEES and he takes the CORRECT ACTION where action is indicated.

When to take action? We all know the accepted social standards and we all SHOULD KNOW our regulations. We must know the Army Regulations; the Military Police and all local regulations. This is not easy; it cannot be acquired without study and effort. But, on the other hand, the role of the military policeman is not an easy role. Our path is strewn at times with thorns instead of roses, but the true military policeman likes it, and that is what is important.

Whatever his path may be, and wherever he may be, the real military policeman is there with a smile and he is LOOKING and SEEING.

Our Corps, in its short life, has established itself in the Archives of our Department of Defense. We have not gone unnoticed, and that reputation which those before us created, shall be cherished by those of us who are charged with its preservation. However, we cannot look behind, but must, with a most militant foresight, look ahead.

We, of the Corps today, are charged, in these trying times, with a great task; a task not new and one that which only the Military Police Corps can carry. But, to carry it, each of us must be strong, diligent, alert and acquire that ability which is paramount in all good military police to be able to LOOK, SEE, and COMPREHEND.

As of late February 277 permanent Lt. Colonels had been promoted to the permanent rank of Colonel, RA, since the 1 Jan. 1951 Register was issued.

The 515th MP Co of Ft Lee is nearing 100% MPA membership. Maj. J. J. Mulcahy is ass't PM. Their letters carry "Supply Economy is Everybody's Business." Sgt. Fred Hafer, formerly of Co. A, MPRTC, is platoon correspondent, with the 2332-4 Schuykill Arsenal, Philly, is doing a fine job. He wants to start a local chapter in Philly and we wish him luck (See Constitution in Dec. issue) He says: "I am happy to see the MPA progressing as it is. We are all of the opinion that we should have had an organization such as this a long time ago."

Mrs. Charles Hutchings, jr., wife of Ft Lee's PM, was recently appointed by the National Council of Girl Scouts to attend the international conference for trainers to be held at Pleasantville, N. Y. Mrs. Hutchings is the leader of Ft Lee's Brownies. "One hundred, eighty-three (183) Army personnel died in the first eleven months of 1951 as the result of accidents. Two-thirds of this number involved privately owned vehicles operated by military personnel. Nearly one-half of the accidents occurred during the four hours following midnight. Net result: disregard of traffic laws and untrained personnel lacking self-discipline. Preach and teach safety. Help death take a holiday. If the MPs can deter 'em, control 'em and prevent 'em, the Chaplain won't have to bury 'em! PM News Letter, Second Army. Since 11 Sept. 1950 the 340th MP Co's 126 drivers have totaled 150,000 miles of safe driving. We appreciated the plug for the MPA in the Jan. issue.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 6—"There are some honest people in this world." Such was the saying of SFC G. C. Fryer, a Desk Sergeant with the Philadelphia MP Platoon, Schuylkill Arsenal, when he was presented with $1.25 by a man who had been apprehended as AWOL. Last February, Fryer, lent the soldier $1.25 so he could buy his meal. The man had come in after regular eating hours and didn't have a cent on his person. After a few days the man went back to his unit, and Fryer forgot about the loan. But not so the man he had befriended. Yesterday, the same man was apprehended, again as AWOL, and when he was brought in to MP Headquarters Fryer was on duty. The soldier recognized Sgt. Fryer and this time he had money in his pocket. When the soldier left the soldier left the Arsenal this morning, he left an envelope addressed to Fryer. In it was $1.25 — the amount of the loan.

FORT MEADE, MD.—Maj. Wallace E. Hawkins has reported for duty in the PM Sec. Hq Second Army.

Major Hawkins comes to Second Army from the European Command where he served as an instructor in Intelligence and Military Police School.

LtC W. F.Gaffney (AA11) is Chief of Training, PMO, Hq Second Army.

A certain 2lt once asked the editor: "What does a 2lt of MPs do?" We recently had a nice letter from him and his list of activities may interest some of the ROTC cadets and others who plan to attend OCS. "I'm very pleased with my assignment here at Meade, even though I'm continuously on the run. As far as jobs for new 2lts go, well I've got plenty, Mess Officer, Supply Officer, Bn PIO, and many others too numerous to mention. Joe is doing a swell job, promoting a safety campaign for the 391st and yes, sending in memberships for MPA.

A copy of the chart in use at Fort Jackson was submitted by Capt. L. D. Tuttle, asst. PM. It shows the action to be taken in case of emergency. They found through constant use that this chart is very effective. What ideas are being used at your station or by your outfit?

Gen. Clark Praises Work of MPs

The above photo was taken during Gen. Clark's visit to The Provost Marshal General Center. Left to right: Maj. Gen. W. A. Beiderlinden, Deputy CG, Third Army; Maj. Gen. E. P. Parker, The Provost Marshal General; Col. F. E. Howard, CO TPMGC and Comdt. TPMGS; and Gen. M. W. Clark, Chief, Army Field Forces.

During his visit to TPMGC Gen. Clark made a short talk to the OA 5 class and ranking personnel of the Center. Excerpts are quoted below:

"It is a privilege to visit the Provost Marshal General Center and School and to be able to tell you how vital I consider your work here to be.

"I keep up a continuous correspondence with General Ridgway and General Van Fleet and other overseas commanders to see how we can improve training to make our troops more effective in actual operations and I am glad to report that these leaders are proud of the performance of our Military Police. The MP's are responsible for many activities in the Combat Zone and in the rear areas and they are making a good impression on our personnel and our allies. I consider the MP's in overseas theaters as well as in the ZI to be Ambassadors of Good Will, not only for their Corps but also for our country.

"I want to stress that Military Policemen, just as all other soldiers in today's Army, must learn to be Infantrymen first and specialists later. All soldiers must be trained to fight as infantrymen so that they can take care of themselves and fight alongside the infantry in emergencies. You officers must train your enlisted men, your fellow-officers, and yourselves to serve as Infantry — using Infantry weapons and tactics — whenever necessary. The tactics of the Reds in infiltrating into our rear areas in Korea have pointed up the the need for this training.

"In recognition of the importance of the Military Police I am glad to announce that a new TO&E authorizes the rank of colonel instead of lieutenant colonel for the Provost Marshal of a Corps.

"It is an excellent thing to have as the Army's Provost Marshal General an officer like General Ed Parker, who commanded the 78th Infantry Division in combat in the ETO during World War II. The Corps of Military Police is unquestionably in good hands.

"Your performance overseas and in the ZI reflects favorably on the training you receive. Thank you—and keep up the good work!"

Pfc James Wright was also recently a father. Cpl Voss is another new father. New Cpls are: Roberts, Jones, Birchmeier, Saunders, Boilinger, Plansker, Spitler, Sander, Mack, Strine, Osteland, Zxitkowitz, Yacobelli, Harper and Ramage. 525 MP Co — Pfc W. Colomo will marry Miss Lois Butler. Pfc Lyle Majeska's engagement has been announced to Miss Lorraine Hintz. Recently commissioned: 2lt A. O. Patterson and L. F. Gray. Cpl M. Maj. T. H. Strattion has replaced LtC M. B. Noland as Bn C0. An Honor Guard was furnished by the Bn for Maj. Gen. T. F. Hickey when he assumed command of the XVIII Airborne Corps.

"A thoroughly qualified police officer should have the wisdom of Solomon, the courage of David, the Strength of Sampson, the patience of Job, the leadership of Moses, the kindness of the Samaritan, the strategy of Alexander, the faith of Joseph, the diplomacy of Lincoln and the tolerance of Confucius." By August Vollner.

Capt. C. R. Parsek, PM, Redstone Arsenal, is doing a good job. He not only has the 100% for the PMO, but 33½% for the MP unit. He expects to get many members from the 150-man civilian police detachment.

Wires in Membership Fee

First membership by Western Union was received from SFC Jacob Mosley, Cp Stewart.

The 503d took the post bowling trophy. A motorcycle platoon of 28 men will accompany the 82nd AB Div. to "Long Horn."

Fort Bragg, N. C.—To borrow a phrase, "Breathes there a man with soul so dead. . . ."who has never rolled over on his bunk and asked his fellow enlisted man in the next bunk, "What did you do before you came into the Army?" or "What sports or hobbies did you have?" If you have done this (and who hasn't?) you are often very surprised at what new and interesting information is available. Such is the case with the friends of the young-looking quiet corporal who performs his duties efficiently for the 525 MP Company — Cpl. Masaru Keiunji. Of Japanese descent, besides his other duties, is the judo instructor for the company. His selection was made because of his knowledge of the native sport of Japan. At 14, Cpl. Keiunji was holder of a brown belt of judo. Keinunji began studying judo when he was 12 years old, and living in Sacramento, Cal. Like most boys of Japanese-American descent it was as natural as playing baseball on a vacant lot. After two years of competition and what he describes as, "Practice, practice, practice, "he was rewarded for his efforts with the brown belt. It is particularly interesting to note that unlike many other sports, there is no exacting body of written rules nor a powerful central committee to administer them. Yet there are no serious problems arising from he lack of this supreme supervision. Cpl Keiunji explained that a judo match is decided when a man is pinned or is thrown either once or a number of times. This latter is decided before the match is started. "It is not enough just to throw a man," the corporal stated. "It must be done with finesse before the instructor will give you the point for throwing your opponent." He also pointed out that there are differences in the judo the Army teaches it for the defense of the individual and the judo as it is performed as a sport.

FORT BRAGG — If it were not for the Army, the men of Co. A 503d would have to spend a lot of money, and travel to Chicago to taste the culinary art of Cpl. Frank Luke. Prior to coming in the service, the young corporal was cooking in some of the best Chinese-American Restaurants in Chicago and points west. In one, he himself was a part owner. Luke specializes, like the establishments he worked in, in preparing Chinese-American food. In working in an Army kitchen, he has had to branch out and broaden the scope of his operation. This has not been a hard task for a man of Luke's ability. Two questions of how he became interested in his occupation, Luke replies that it was a natural occurance. As a boy, he had to wash dishes in the restaurant owned by his father, Look Neip Jine, in Billings, Mont. Between stacks of dishes, he watched the cooks and later filled in as a part-time cook for his father. Then when he reached the age of 15, he worked for a year as a full-time cook at the New Palace, owned by his father. After a year of this, he decided to travel. His first stop was Seattle, Wash., where he worked for a year in the Kaing Nam Cafe, then he became one of three partners of the Golden Star Cafe after 1946. Luke began to work his way eastward. For a year he cooked in the Raymond Hotel in Lewiston, Idaho. From there he moved to Chicago. His first stop in the Windy City was also named the Golden Star, and was owned by his mother. After a year there, Luke moved to the Hoi Sai Gai Restaurant in Chicago's Loop district. After 21 months, he moved to the China Village on the South Side, where he worked under his brother-in-law, Gene Hing, head cook. However, he was only employed by the latter for three months before his carer was interrupted by the Army. Strangely enough, he was given the duties of a cook in the company mess.

Literally millions of medals are stored in Philadelphia while the Army awaits requests from veterans who are entitled to them. If you have not received the actual medals to which you are entitled write the Adjutant General or the Bureau of Naval Personnel.

Good Advice: Lord Louis Mountbatten's advice to Philip, Duke of Edinburg, and husband of Queen Elizabeth, "It's no good telling chaps to do what you can't do yourself," has its points for others besides the consort of England's Queen.

A leader is supposed to lead, and more than that, be prepared to do so.

"Too much praise cannot be awarded the TPMGS for their splendid assistance during 1951," is the appraisal of the Annual Command Report of the Military Government Staff Section of the 2d Armored Division now in Germany.

The report describes recent field exercises in Germany as being "indicative of the greater emphasis now being placed on the development of trained military government personnel and units."

"The MG Dept of TPMGS, has provided a wealth of information to the Division Military Government Section in the form of letters and memoranda emphasizing the curren developments in this field as being pursued in Korea."

The ultrasonic sounds made by bats are commonly referred to as "bat radar." Dr. D. R. Griffin, Cornell University, is an authority on the ultrasonic sound made by bats.

World-Famed Capt Lee Visits PMGC

On an earlier visit Col. Howard presented Capt. Lee with an MP Statuette. She is an honorary member of the Staff and Faculty, TPMGS, and a member of MPA.

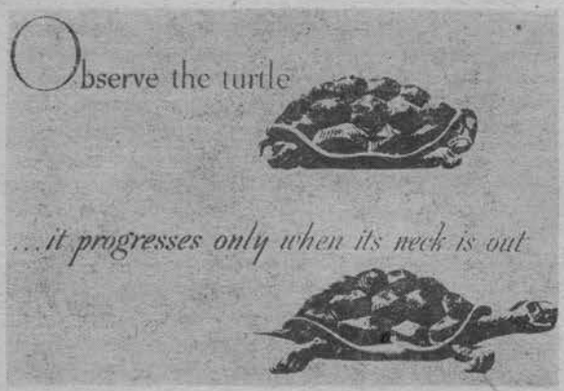

Mrs (Capt.) Frances G. Lee, famous founder and endower of the celebrated Department of Legal Medicine of the Harvard Medical School, revisited Camp Gordon in January. This was a stop on her yearly visit to "see her boys" those who have attended her seminars at Harvard.

Twice each year her department at Harvard conducts seminars which are attended by selected personnel. During these sessions the medical aspect of homicide investigations is emphasized. Another product of Mrs. Lee's ignenuity and workshop are the miniature "Nutshell Crime Scenes", detailed reproductions to exact scale of actual cases of homicide, made with painstaking exactness. While at Camp Gordon Mrs. Lee visited almost all of the many activities in progress at the Center and wore out several guides who are only half her age. Truly a friend she has contributed much to knowledge in her field.

Those who start the MPA stuck their necks out. It would seem that this drawing is appropriate—the MPA is going places.

Practically the entire staff is on, or about to be on orders for the FEC. This includes Maj. J. F. Jubeck, asst. secy.-treas. and Capt. N. L. Engard, Circulation Manager. All of the volunteers who have helped on the MP Journal and with MPA work, have done a wonderful job.

A small, permanent Department of Army staff div, to be called the Office of the Chief of Civil Affairs and Military Government will be established to develop CA and MG studies for the Army. It will develop and recommend plans and policies for the training and employment of CA and MG staff and troop units. It will supervise the Army's execution of all approved CA MG programs, using the existing specialized facilities at all levels. From REPORT TO THE ARMY.

What Is The Military Police Board?

By Dr. Solomon Lebovitz, Editor, Military Police Board

The Military Police Board is a Department of the Army service board and is located at The Provost Marshal General Center at Camp Gordon, Ga. Its Army members are appointed by The Provost Marshal General. Its Air Force members are appointed by the Air Provost Marshal. The Board is staffed by both military and civilian personnel.

The general mission of the Board is to consider whatever subjects may be referred to it by The Provost Marshal General and to submit recommendations to him for the improvement of the service rendered by the Military Police Corps.

Among the specific missions of the Board are the following:

1. To write, revise, and comment on training and other military publications in which the Military Police Corps has an interest.
2. To write, revise, and comment on military training films, film strips, and other visual aids in which the Military Police Corps has an interest.
3. To test items of supply or equipment, peculiar to or of interest to the Military Police Corps.
4. To determine operating techniques peculiar to the Military Police Corps.
5. To maintain liaison with appropriate field organizations and activities of the armed forces.

In order to carry out the above missions, the Military Police Board is organized in the following manner:

The Board is headed by a President: Col. Ralph J. Schuetz, MPC. It is divided into three operating sections, each headed by a chief of section: Training Publications, Lt. Col. George P. Miller, MPC; Test and Experimental, Lt. Col. Frank L. Brown, USAF; and Visual Aids, Lt. Col. Adrian Johansson, MPC. It is administered by an Administrative Section, headed by Maj. Reuben F. Dubson, MPC.

To assist the work of the Board, there is a staff of professional civilians, consisting of an editor, historian, and several writers; an enlisted complement of specialists, such as artists, draftsmen, and photographer; and a staff of civilian stenographers and typists.

The work of the Board is usually handled in the form of projects, with each project being assigned to an officer who is known as the Project Officer. Formal and other projects originate with the Office of The Provost Marshal General.

The Board welcomes and encourages all comments, suggestions, or recommendations with regard to any aspect of Military Police work either in the United States or overseas, such as improving any or all publications in the 19-series, items of equipment, or methods of operation. Letters should be addressed to: President, Military Police Board, 8801-3 TSU, Camp Gordon, Georgia.

U. S. Coast Guard

The February issue of the "U. S. COAST GUARD MAGAZINE" contains numerous references to the detachment and activities at TPMGC. This is a splendid magazine and we are proud to have such fine representation in the various issues.

Considerable publicity has been given to the use of helicopters by the Coast Guard during recent disasters such as the stranded train in Sierras, and the plane lost off the west coast.

The fifth class of CG Officers was graduated from the ACO Course on 8 February. Of the 58 officers in ACO-17-B, Ensign H. A. Jonsson was Honor Student for the 13 weeks course. On 25 Jan. 239 EMs men, comprising the fifth class at the Coast Guard Detachment, completed their eight weeks of training, and left for their assignments to the several Port Securities throughout the country. Three days later the six class, consisting of 236 men, began its training period. Seaman Russell S. Adams, permanently assigned to the Coast Guard Dtachment at Camp Gordon, and a recent graduate of the Leadership Course, MP RTC, has been promoted to Boatswains Mate, Third Class.

One of the better known new MPA members is J. Edgar Hoover.

Leadership Co. MPRTC

On Mar 1st, the Leadership Co of the MPRTC celebrated its first anniversary. The occasion was noted by a company party to take place in the Chinese Room at the Bon-Air Hotel in Augusta, Georgia. It was on March 1st, 1951 that Capt G. J. Reuss, the present commanding officer, organized and put into effect the present Leadership Company. He started out with a total of two officers and eight enlisted men. The first Leadership class started one week later. In the past year there has been a total of eighteen classes enter and leave Leadership Company. This reperesents about 360 men who have received their diploma from this school. A goodly portion of the graduates have come from the Air Force and Coast Guard in addition to the Army men. The company has been enlarged to the extent that we now have four officers and twenty enlisted instructors and cadre.

Class No. 17 graduated on the 9th of February. Corporal Joseph O. McKinley of the 504th MP Bn, was the honor graduate. LtC C. E. Dykes, Executive Officer MPRTC, presented McKinley with the American Spirit Honor medal and certificate at the graduation ceremonies in the PMGS Chapel. In addition Col. Dykes gave the graduation address. Most of the graduates of Class No. 17 were from the 716th MP Bn of Fort Dix, We hope that they returned to their unit with knowledge and experience gained from their eight weeks with us which will benefit them the rest of their careers. We are looking forward to seeing more candidates from the 716th. We would also welcome the opportunity to work with the men of the other MP organizations throughout the various areas.

Military Police Board

LtC. E. R. Cooley, Training Publications Section, departed for a tour of duty in Alaska. LtC Cooley, a graduate of OA4, came to the MPB from the MPRTC, where he had been the executive officer. He came to Gordon from the Office of The Inspector General in Washington.

Jessen came to the MPB from EUCOM, where he was PM of the 7824th; Maj. R. A. McKenna has just joined the MPB as the Acting Chief of the Test and Experimental Section. Maj. McKenna was the ExO., PM Section, Hqs., JCL. Pvt. J. J. Graney, joined the MPB after 16 weeks training with Co. B, MPRTC. Pvt. Graney, a native of Auburn, New York, and graduated from St. Bonaventure University in 1951, with a BA degree in journalism. He was a feature writer on the college paper, "The Bonaventure" and is now doing some reporting for the MP Journal. Sgt. L. R. Speery has arrived from Maxwell AFB to replace Sgt. G. D. Bass, who is eligible for discharge from the Air Force. Sgt. Speery is a native of Stockton, Calif, and has served with the Alaska Air Command.

We have learned that there is RCMP QUARTERLY JOURNAL published for members of Provost Gorps in Canada. THE POLICE NEWS is published at 290 Bloor St., Toronto.

A like increase is expected in 1952 and the laboratory as it is set up is capable of easily handling such an increase. Recent promotions, WOJG D. A. Caywood from M/Sgt., WOJG F. J. Andrews from SFC and Cpl. W. E. Byrne from PFC. We have had four new additions to our personnel. They are SFC J. A. Caskey, a transfer from the 52nd CID, Frankfort, Pvts, P. P. Robison and C. F. Air Transport Training is Essential

By Captain N. L. Engard, TPMGS Instructor, now enroute to FEC

The troops sent initially to Korea from Japan were moved by the most speedy means of transportation in existence today — Air transport. These troops acted only as stop gap but had they been delayed excessively by the use of a slower means of transportation there might well have been some different passages recorded on the historical pages of time. This does not mean, however, that air transport was directly responsible for the fact that we were not pushed off Korea and into the sea. It does mean that troop movements by air is not only plausible training-wise, but also operationally.

The Department of the Army has directed that all TO&E units will be capable of moving by air.....Already many units both in the ZI and overseas have initiated training programs in troop movements by air.

As military police officers and men we should be intersted in this type of operation from two points of view. First, from the standpoint of moving our own units. Secondly, for the handling of the many tasks that will, and do, fall to the military police attached to an air move.

There are routes from the arrival zone, as well as security of the zone, which must be policed and handled almost exclusively by military police. If the operation is sufficiently large they will also inherit innumerable traffic tasks.

Let's envision a large scale airborne operation in which the reinforcement and follow-up units will be air landed. In such an operation the MP will not only need to know how to transport his own unit during the early stages of the operation but must be prepared to give all kinds of assistance to the assault and support units.

Once again the problems of traffic control and policing will be the direct concern of the MP units who directly follow the assault echelon. Getting the maximum amount of your useful equipment in with you will make the job easier.

With the continued development in cargo aircraft and there increasing availability, there is no MP equipment which cannot be transported by air. Therefore MP units can take 100% of their TO&E equipment whereas other units must generally operate without some of their equipment. Even in resupply operations the MP needs to know the type of aircraft available, and their capabilities. The type of aircraft used as well as the methods of delivery of supplies will affect his work. He is still responsible for the security of government property regardless of whether it is air-landed or air-dropped.

Operations Swarmer as well as Southern Pines have proven that air transport of troops and equipment is the fastest means of transportation and should not only be thoroughly instilled in our units during training but should also be standardized.

A big criticism of the teaching of air tranportability is the non-standardization of instruction and training. At present there are no up-to-date FMs or TMs on the subject. Special text 71-210, The Infantry School and The Infantry School's Handbook on Air Transportability are used at TPMGS and if used by MP units in the field will help standardize Air Transport Training in the MPC. Also for higher level staff planning ST 71-30-1, Command and General Staff College will prove helpful. In the future the MP as well as other type units can look to the sky for transportation. "How does your unit stand on Air Transportability training?"

Our Friends - The British

On 11 Feb. we received the ROYAL MILITARY POLICE JOURNAL (published quarterly) which went to press on 18 Dec. We were sorry to learn of the transfer of Brigadier L. F. E. Wieler, C.B., C.B.E., The Provost Marshal, who is now Deputy Commander Home Counties District. We offer our congratulations to him on a fine job during a tour of duty which included the birth and growth of the ROYAL MILITARY POLICE JOURNAL. He will be replaced by Brigadier R. F. Maxwell C.B.E. We appreciated the mention of the 10th-anniversary of TPMGS, and of THE MILITARY POLICE JOURNAL. According to the Journal, Brigadier Wieler, like our own Gen. Parker, "has been indefatigable in travelling about the country, visiting all units and instilling into the officers and men the need for efficiency and readiness for war. He has always laid great acent on operational training and the annual winter study week at the Depot for as many Provost officers as could be spared for it. Another achievement was the instigation and succesfsul running of the international N.A.T.O. Provost Conference in January 1951."

Gen. Clark Talks With Gordon MPs

Gen. M. W. Clark talks with Sgt. M. W. Davis 504th MP Bn and Pvt. Nicholas Nota, members of the motorcycle escort at the airport at the conclusion of his Camp Gordon visit. Gen. Clark commented on the escort and Sgt. Davis received a letter of commendation from Post.

Will Roger's Monologue on Traffic

Editor's Note:—The best of Will Roger's traffic wisecracks transcribed from an old record played by Eddie Cantor on his popular Sunday afternoon radio show. Presented here through the courtesy of Mr. Cantor who was kind enough to have the typewritten copy prepared and sent to THE MILITARY POLICE JOURNAL.

"Mr. Toastmaster, traffic chiefs from all over the world: I am here to represent what is left of a vanishing race — and that is the pedestrian. Now while you birds have been directing traffic in all of our big cities, I know more about it than the whole mess of you — I've been dodging it. Why, you even have towers built up in the air so you won't get run over yourselves; That I'm able to be here tonight is not any thanks to you. I owe it to a keen eye and a nimble pair of legs. But I know they'll get me some day — as I'm not as young as I used to be — and they're missing me closer every day. Just yesterday I had to run in a store and shut the door in a driver's face — to keep him from getting me. Another chased me into a buildin' — and I hopped into an elevator. That's all that saved me. Now — in my younger days I could have stayed on the sidewalk and dodged these fellows fairly. Taxi-cab drivers nowadays are the same fellows who run the submarines during the war. They duck down and they don't come up for three or four blocks. Some towns have the streets all marked off with white lines. It's a sort of a game. If the fellow runnin' the car hits you while you're inside those white lines, it don't count — he's got to come back and run over you again. Before we had traffic officers — there was not near as many people killed outright as there is now — but there was more hurt — which proves that by having a traffic officer to properly direct you, the driver can finish his victim — where, in the old days — he could only hurt him.

"I think your association can well report progress. Prohibition has helped the pedestrian a little. The drivers are afraid to run over just anybody. It might be a bootlegger, and they would get their tires all cut up. Here are a few rules which I want you to adopt:

"Eliminate all right and left-hand turns. Make everybody go straight ahead.

"Rule 2: Eliminate all street-cars from the streets. They only get in people's way who are in a hurry, walking home.

"Third: To speed up traffic, have a man hired by the city in each block — to do nothing but crank stalled Ford cars.

"Fourth: Nobody is to drive on Sunday, but just the week-end drivers who don't drive any other day. Then, all they can hit is each other.

"Have everybody going east go on Monday; everybody going west go Tuesday — and so on. That's the only way you will ever make the streets of the United States safe for democracy. At the present rate — in two years there will be no pedestrians left — so where will you birds' jobs be?

"I see the sign is up to go — so, so long.

Col. E. O. Sandlin — Feb. 419 MEMBERS
Provost Marshal — Jan. 217 MEMBERS

As of Feb. Arkansas 10, La 105, N. Mexico 20, Okla 32, Texas 252.

Capt. N. A. Perone, 38th MP CID reports 100% membership. Keep up the good work. Col. Sandlin writes: "We here in Fourth Army are plugging the MPA at every opportunity and confidently expect to be among the leaders in the near future. LtC G. R. Momeyer is PM, XV Corps. We have had a pickup from Louisiana and Alabama but would like to hear from LtC Pettet (OA 4) out El Paso way. We know the officers and men of Fourth Army won't let Col. Sandlin down.

FORT HOOD, Texas: Resplendent in its white-trimmed uniforms, while in garrison, the 501st Military Police Company also looks good in the field. In recent Company tests, the 501st, commanded by Captain Virgil E. McKenzie, received a "superior" rating and a letter of commendation from the First Armored Division's commander, Major General Bruce C. Clarke. The little-known duties of military police include traffic control and special guard duty. The company is comprised of three traffic platoons and one police platoon. A traffic platoon is assigned to work with each of the First Armored Division's Combat Commands. Those units control traffic flow along main supply routes, placing M.P.'s at conflict points such as crossroads or one-way routes. Motorcyclists maintain and aid control in convoys. The company provides the "Palaco guard" which protects the commanding general and his field headquarters. They also operate a "straggler" line along rivers or roadways. This function rounds up any lost, injured or strayed soldiers and return them to their units. The police platoon operates a Prisoner of War collecting point at which PW's are segregated by rank, searched for valuable documents and tagged for interrogation teams. The division M.P.'s are under direct supervision of the division provost marshal, Lieutenant Colonel Earl L. Edwards.

The 501st MP Co continues to win commendations in all activities. The latest achievement was a rating of superior in the annual company field test administered by XV Corps. The company is thoroughly trained, and is the product of intensive selection and screening. It has an average aptitude area I score of 115, and, with the strong support of the CG, 1st Armored Division, it will continue to be as he says the "Fighting Firsts' Finest."

Lt. Col. G. R. Momeyer, Provost Marshal.

Military Police Replacement Training Center

About 90% of the men under Lt Sexton's command in Co A are RAs. On the firing range they have already proved that they are "Able" men. Co. A set the highest record with the M-1 ever made in MPRTC. The average score was 384. Pvt. E. L. Cummings was top man with 473. Not a single man failed to qualify. W. C. Dukes & E. T. Healy are Sgts now; A. F. Hudson and Charles Hartle M/Sgts. The latest addition and definitely the greatest pride of the Co is new I&E room. Paul Motta, Alfred Nichols, Sterling Wood, and Donald Owen have left for OCS. There's a big drive on in Co A to boost MPA membership The goal is 100% for cadre. Lt. L. D. Sextion received a letter of commendation from Lt. Gen. J. R. Hodge on the superior Character Guidance Program he has conducted in the latter part of 1951.

The fourth cycle of Co B, MP RTC was graduated on 2 February. Pvt Herman O. Langner was Honor Student of the Company which consisted of 175 trainees.

On 11 February the fifth cycle, consisting of 278 trainees, began their basic training.

Co. B, has a new C. O., 1st Lt Gordon D. Rowe, who came from Co. A. where he served as Executive Officer. The company's 1st Sgt., M/Sgt Harry Ercolani, was promoted to his present grade on 5 February.

With special emphasis on Troop Information, Company C has initiated a Troop Information program designed to enlarge minimum standards of education and bring to the enlisted man, especially when he is in a training status, information on current events, education opportunities, and programs pertaining to the soldier and his job.

Recently renovated, the center room, adjoining the Company day room, is decorated in the yellow and green of the MP's.

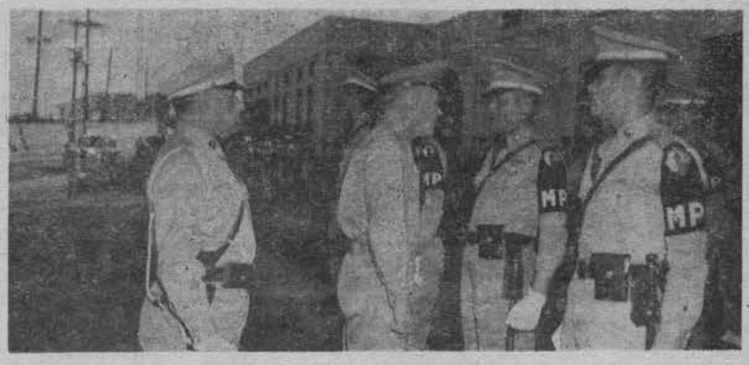

Within the center are bulletin boards for the coverage of character guidance material, athletic and recreational activities, and public information within the MP RTC.

Newest addition to the center is the locator may where cards and pins locate the address and home of each man assigned or attached to the unit.

At retreat parade Thursday, 14 Feb. 52, Col. Emigh presented trophies to the three men of Co. D, who had the highest MI rifle scores. Winners of these trophies were —1st place — Pvt. Dale S. Reeves (472), 2nd place — Pvt. James S. Taylor (459), and 3rd place — Pvt. Walker J. Richardson (457).

The Mack Truck Company recently sent the "Bulldogs" 12 large colored pictures of the Mack symbol, the Bulldog. Six of the pictures show only the bulldog while the other six portray the whole bulldog family. (CONTINUED ON PAGE 18)

Gen. J. Lawton Collins spent a few days in Puerto Rico in Dec. Here he is talking to Cpl Julio Alvarado, 542nd MP Sv Co., during the honor guard held in front of USARFANT & MDPR headquarters. L to R: Capt. Sam Engleman, C. O., 542nd MP Sv Co., Sgt. Jose N. Green, Gen. Collins, Cpl Alvarado and Cpl Angel Hernandez Agrinsoni.

LtC A. F. Bruno is Provost Marshal, Military District of Puerto Rico. USFANT should be referred to as USFANT & MDPR according to LtC A. F. Bruno (OA 4) PM who sent in the news picture. See the message from Gen. Collins on Page 1.

542nd MP Sv Company received a letter of appreciation from the CG, Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic through the PM Hq, USARFANT & MDPR, Lt. Col. A. F. Bruno, for duties performed for liberty parties which visited San Juan, P. R. during "Lantflex" maneuvers which took place during the period 5 October 1951 to 3 November 1951. Letter reads in part as follows:

> "The intelligent handling of these men and the degree of cooperation exhibited toward the military police unit of this command reflects great credit on both personnel and the training methods of the military police.
> The pleasant association of the two units was, I am certain, beneficial to both."

Capt. Daniel D. Simmons, MPC, Provost Marshal of Henry Barracks, P. R., has been transferred to Fort Benning. Capt Sam Engleman, Assistant Antilles PM and CO of the 542nd MP Sv Co., the champ company in the MPA, is marrying Capt. E. Smith, AF nurse stationed at Ramey Air Force Base, P. R., on St. Valentine's Day, 14 February 1952. Capt Robert M. Fomby, Ramey Air Force Base, says he will not be satisfied unless all members of his 55th Air Police Squadron has joined the M.P.A. Any luck so far, Capt.? And do you know that the 542nd MP Sv Co. has 110 veterans of the Korean war? You would like to see how these who had the privilege of being in the honor guard for Gen. J. Lawton Collins last December polished up that Combat Infantry Badge! Most of those MPs fought with the fighting 65th Infantry Regiment, "Puerto Rico's Own." Yes, the 542nd has one World War I veteran. He is also the only continental EM in the company. Sgt. Frank Sheehan came to Puerto Rico in December 1945 to replace a TC EM. He did not stay long in the TC and he did not remain long single after he met Clementine.

Gen. Barton Praises Col. Howard and PMGC.

When he spoke at the recent MG graduation Maj. Gen. R. O. Barton, Ret. (onetime CG 4th Inf. Div.) said in part: "It is with great pleasure that I watch this institution out here (He lives in Augusta). I think Col. Howard, for his whole job deserves the highest commendation. Gentlemen, I am an old-time infantry soldier and I like the discipline and the spit and polish that exists in the military police, and to my mind it is the only Corps de Elite that we now have in the ground forces, and I know that those disciplinary things, pride and unit things, the spit and polish, looks, carriage, appearance, and bearing of the men, the discipline of the men are of paramount importance to the successful operation in battle. I am glad to see you all carry it on as you do in the MG school."

LtC J. P. Powhida (AA 11) at Ft Leonard Wood has done some fine work. Col. D. R. Roush (AA 11) is moving things in Ft Sill. We wish there were some more like them. R. L. Cleasby, Agent in charge, 73d MP CID writes from Omaha: As this organization is an "MB" cell we are naturally weak in manpower, but nevertheless strong in support of the MPA. This organization will continue its support and make every endeavor to obtain a membership from each and every MP and interested party in the Nebraska MD. Membership cards by the way are sent with the first envelope to each new membr. Originally the first envelope also contained an issue of the MP Journal. Now we mail the card first-class and the Journal is mailed twice a month before the 1st and about the 15th to those joining between 1st of month mailing and 15th. Capt. Jack D. Hansford, 31st MP CID is also doing a good job. LtC L. W. Merry (AA 11) sent in 50 memberships and we know he will keep his pledge of working for 100%. At the end of Feb. the 163rd took off for "Long Horn."

From the 174th MP Bn: "We are striving for a 100% membership. We have appointed an officer within the Battalion as a news reporter, having several recent ROTC graduates assigned the Battalion who specialized in journalism in college. We hope that we may be able to pass on news of interest to the Association reference our training, and duties here at Fort Sheridan. We in the Corps here at Fort Sheridan are very happy, and proud to be a member of the direly needed Military Police Association. It can mean nothing less than a finer Corps brought about by the information contained in the Association publications, making us a closer associated group by bringing to us individually; problems, and answers confronted in other organizations with the same duty assignments, being better able to live up to our motto, "Of the troops, and for the troops." (109 members received 15 Feb.)

THE MISSOURI GUARDSMAN for January pays tribute to the fine job done by the 175th MP Bn in Germany, where it is assigned to Seventh Army. There is also an editorial plugging Army Extension Courses, and the appointment of 2lt Elmer Myers of the 35th MP Co is announced. The National Guard Association convention will be held in Jefferson City, Missouri on March 15-16.

"The Military Police Branch at Michigan State College lead all units of the ROTC in a five day Blood Donor drive sponsored by the Cadet Officers' Club. A total of 672 pints of whole blood was collected, with the Ground Forces volunteering approximately 70% of the total given in competition with the local Air Force ROTC unit. This is the second Blood Donor drive on the Michigan State College campus in the last three months, which is a commendable record."

While the issue revolvers of our Civil War were cap-and-ball guns which had to be loaded from the front end of the chambers and then individually capped at the rear, the most prized possession of Officers of North and South were little Smith & Wesson top-hinged revolvers for the rimfire .22 and .32 caliber cartridges! The speed of loading and rate of fire was recognized at once by everybody except the equipment boards. — Legion Magazine.

History of the "Provost Corps"

Editor's Note:—We are happy to present this brief historical sketch of "The Provost Corps." General Parker has repeatedly expressed his interest in "The Provost Corps" and in addition to being an honorary member of the first chapter has also been made an honorary member of the various chapters as they were chartered.

"The Provost Corps," a society to honor outstanding cadets in MP ROTC units, was established at Michigan State College in April 1949. At the time that charter members were inducted, Major General E. P. Parker, TPMG; Col. J. P. Holland, DTPMG (then Chief, MP Division, OPMG) and Lt. Col. W. M. Campbell, then Associate Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Michigan State (Now in OPMG) were made honorary members. Membership in "The Provost Corps" is limited to MP cadets who have outstanding records.

As set forth in the constitution, the honorary society was founded for the express purpose of elevating the personal standards of the Corps and its various units; to inspire MP Officers with a just pride in their duty; to establish in the public mind the benefit and necessity of professional training of the personnel of the MPC; to aid society through the application of accepted scientific practices and techniques in MP prblems; to foster a greater cooperation and understanding between the Military and Civilian police personnel, and to inform all military personnel of the duties and problems confronting the MPC; to promote brotherhood and good fellowship of all of the members.

After the establishment of the first chapter under the sponsorship of Lt. Col. Campbell additional chapters were founded at: Gannon College, Erie, Pa., Florence State Teacher's College, Florence, Ala., Northeast Louisiana State, Monroe, La., Loyola University of New Orleans, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., and the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb.

The national convention held each year at the ROTC camp, usually at Camp Gordon. The national headquarters is rotated from colloge to college and this practice, a peculiarity of "The Provost Corps" has helped to stimulate interest in the national society to a remarkable degree. "The Provost Corps" at each college usually sponsors one or two important collegiate functions, such as a military dance, and some of the groups hold a reception for TPMG when he visits the college.

University of Wisconsin

The following was submitted by Richmond F. Johnson, Provost Marshal, of "The Provost Corps," Univ. of Wisconsin: "The Provost Corps" was founded during the Fall semester, 1950. Arthur F. Liebel, was elected Provost Marshal for 1950-51. In the original group initiated were twenty-two founders and four honorary members. During the Spring semester, 1951, thirty men were initiated, including eight men who later were selected as Distinguished Military Students. We are looking forward to a successful year: Lt. Col. H. T. Loftin is faculty advisor. Our original PM, Art Liebel has accepted an RA appointment effective in June. Our best regards to the men from Wisconsin who are now on active duty and to the members of other chapters.

University of Nebraska

The Corps was organized during 1949-50 with three members. Membership in 1950-51 was increased to eight and this year we have a strength of thirty-five. We feel the Corps has now gained the necessary membership to be an integral part of our MP and ROTC activities. At the present time the local group is in the process of becoming nationalized, through National Headquarters at Michigan State.

St. Lawrence University

The MP, ROTC Unit, St. Lawrence University, has a new rifle and pistol range. The new range, which has five firing positions with targets 50 feet distant, will be used primarily by the university's ROTC unit, with rifle and pistol teams participating in Intercollegiate, Army, and Hearst Trophy matches. Each of the five official National Rifle Association targets is attached to an automatic target return mechanism.

The MP, ROTC Unit, St. Lawrence University, has moved into a large building on the campus, formerly occupied by the U. S. Weather Bureau. The building will be dedicated in the very near future by school authorities, and will be named "MEMORIAL HALL" in honor of all former students of the University who lost their lives in defense of the United States in World War II.

"We wish to congratulate the Staff Members and the MP association for a job well done." SFC Johnnnie C. Howard, Colo.

California becomes the first State with more than 1,000 members. With the 701st and 505th battling for first place they have shown what the other 43 battalions could do for MPA. Col. Driskell, a top booster of MPA, reports that it is a prime topic of conversation in his area — and why not with such membership. LtC Treadwell, PM Seattle POE has done a fine publicity job with 3-pages in Seattle TIMES of pictures of MPs. Col. Driskell attended mid-year commissioning at U of Cal. Three were MPs G. L. Plaaa, F. T. Rodgers, Jr., and J. L. Sarros. He reports LtC H. S. Hayward (OA 4) is doing a good job. The III Corps will receive an MP Co within 60-days, cadre from 701st, with Capt. E. A. Ditzel, former Taegu PM commanding. Capt. B. P. Seale, formerly of 796th Vienna has joined 701st. He also reports that the MPs at Ft Lawton are reflecting credit on MPC by their high standards. Since Aug 1951, MPs at Ft Lawton have missed only one month in receiving the Post Commander's "Soldier of the Month" award. The Southwestern Signal Training Center at Cp San Luis Obispo is growing rapidly. Maj. T. F. Stuart is PM. He was formerly with USDB. LtC Wade, OCAFF, was reported to be well pleased with all aspects of MP and MG Reserve School training. Early in Jan. the colors were presented to 505th at Cp Roberts. The appearance and marching of the troops at this ceremony was outstanding. Maj. E. J. Beck, PM Ft Lawton reports the "Soldier of Month" winners as: Cpl E. E. Lasley, Cpl C. L. Fears, Cpl J. D. Metzger, and Cpl Wm. Wortham.

Co B, 701st MP Bn., has 100% membership in MPA. Capt R. E. Le Van is CO. The Co is performing CP&S duties at Presidio of SF. The 505th has been activated only since July 1951. and is presently engaged in the final phases of its training which is all the more reason why they should be patted on the back for their 413 members. MP Reserve units will train at Ft Ord 17-31 Aug. at Ft Lewis 324th Bn 20-July to 3 Aug and 311th Bn 3-17 Aug.

701st Has Colorful History

On 1 Feb 1941 the 701st MP Bn, with its original nucleus coming from the First Infantry, was activated at Ft Snelling, Minnesota. After an extensive training period, the battalion during the summer of 1942, was assigned to TPMGS at Ft Oglethorpe, Ga, where it served as a demonstration unit. In the latter part of 1942 the school and the battalion were moved to Ft Custer.

In 1945, while stationed at Ft Custer, the 701st MP Bn participated in two major operations involving the movement of critical war supplies, which, in one case, were stalled by unusually severe winter weather, and, in the other instance, were held up by a truck drivers' strike. In August 1945 the battalion moved to Cp Claiborne and after a short tour of duty they departed for China, arriving in Shanghai on 17 March 1946. While in China, it furnished security details for War Crimes Trials at Shanghai and assisted in the movement of US Nationals returning to America. On 1 April 1947 the battalion was redesignated the 701st MP Sv Bn and was reorganized under T/O&E 19-500.

Throughout the summer of 1947 the Bn was severely understaffed, especially in supervisory personnel. This soon posed a special problem in view of the crisis created by the heavy losses suffered by the Chinese Nationalist Army because of the steady southward push of strong Communist forces. The Battalion Commander of the 701st MP Bn, together with the Commander of the local United States Navy forces, was charged with formulating plans for the security of government installations in Shanghai.

In January of 1949, JUSMAG CHINA started its move from Nanking to Shanghai. A detachment of Company A, left in Nanking as a rear guard, was airlifted from Nanking across the Yangtze River. These were the last American troops to leave Nanking. On 29 Jan 1949, after 35 months of China duty, the Bn left Shanghai for Japan. It landed at Yokohoma on 1 Feb 1949, where it was assigned to Eighth Army. The battalion was charged with security of the Kobe Base and of the city of Osaka.

Major Dow L. Bonnell Jr assumed command of the battalion of 17 May 1949 and brought the battalion back to the United States, leaving Yokohoma, on 19 May 1949.

On 31 May 1949 the battalion arrived at Cp Stoneman, where it was redesignated the 701st MP Bn and was reorganized under T/O&E 19-55. On 10 June 1949 the battalion was assigned personnel from the MP Detachment, 6002 ASU, Presidio of San Francisco, and that detachment was deactivated. The 63rd MP Platoon was attached to the battalion and further attached to Company B.

The battalion assumed town patrol duty in San Francisco, furnished funeral detail for the Golden Gate National Cemetery, and performed P C & S Duties at the Presidio of S. F.

On 16 July 1949 Maj A. G. Russell, Jr., assumed command of the battalion. In September of the same year the Presidio MP School was organized and supervised by personnel of the 701st MP Bn.

On 23 December 1949 LtC McDonald Rigdon became a member of the battalion, and shortly there-after assumed command.

On 1 January 1950 the battalion was reorganized under T/O&E 19-55, dated 11 April 1949, and D/A Reduction Table 19-55-20, dated 5 October 1949. Company C was reorganized on 10 January and continued its PCS mission at Ft MacArthur.

In May of 1950 orders were received to send Company A to Dugway Proving Ground, Utah, on a classified mission. The actual move was accomplished on 1 June. On 12 June Company D was ordered filled and station designated as Cp Stoneman, California.

In August 1950 Maj J. C. Ivey assumed command of the battalion. Rapid personnel changes took place and, by 15 October 1950, Company A, which had returned from Dugway Proving Ground had dwindled to 55 men, while Company D had only 57 men. By 27 December these companies were mere cadres. The 55th MP Co was formed from battalion personnel and moved to Korea.

Fillers were received in January of 1951, bringing the reorganized Company A above its authorized strength, while Company D was brought up to strength again during March and April of 1951. Both companies began basic military and basic military police training.

From 26-30 January 1951, Capt Pete L. Rice commanded the battalion. On 31 January 1951, LtC F. J. Owens assumed command of the battalion.

On 17 April 1951, 12 officers and 220 men departed by motor convoy to the International Airport, San Francisco, for the purpose of security and to provide restraining lines for the anticipated crowds awaiting the arrival of General MacArthur. A similar mission was accomplished on the following day as General MacArthur departed.

On 28 May this battalion was inspected by the Third Corps training Inspection Team and received a rating of Superior. On 1 June 1951 LtC E. L. Slob assumed command of the Battalion. On 1 September the battalion furnished an Honor Guard, traffic control, and parking details for the Pacific Pact Signing Ceremonies at the Presidio Service Club.

From 4-8 September, the Japanese Peace Treaty Conference was held at the San Francisco Opera House. The 701st MP Bn provided security for all of the ceremonies and guarded the offices of the various delegations.

On 8 September this unit provided Escorts, Traffic Control, Parking Details and Security Guards for the representatives of the U. S. and Japan who signed the bi-lateral Treaty on the Presidio of San Francisco, California.

From 27-30 November 1951, the battalion was tested in the field under the provisions of ATT 19-7. The move to the Hunter-Liggett Military Reservation was accomplished by motor march. This test, which involved all phases of military police work, proved the battalion capable of sustained field operations.

On 8 January 1952 the battalion successfully passed the semi-annual training Inspection by Third Corps.

For its past performances the battalion, in 1945, has been awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Award, and in 1946, a star to the Meritorious Unit Plaque. It has been awarded an "American Theater" streamer and an "Asiatic-Pacific Theater" streamer.

The battalion looks back upon its history with pride and begins its twelfth year with the determination that it will more than equal the fine tradition evolved in the past eleven years.

The 701st MP Bn scored another first when Sgt. Aaron W. Putnam of Co. D. was rated first in his class at the Instructor Refresher Course

Hqs. Co., 382d is 100% for Two Years

The HEIDELBERG POST featured photos and an article on Hqs Co., 382d MP Bn on 7 Feb. for their 24 consecutive months of 100% Soldier Deposit. Pfc Art Asquith on DS made a special trip back to get in the act. Five men, Sfc Chester Beaver, Sgts Howard Caldwell and James Kerr, and Cpls Carl Hannah and John Hynes have individual two-year depositor's records. Sfc James Sullivan has the largest deposit. Another veteran, Cpl Leroy C. Wright has patronized Soldier's Deposits for 14 years. "The Cpl says "You can't beat it." Lt. J. P. Fox is CO and M Sgt Henry Pavlak, top-kick. Col. R. J. Schuetz commanded the Bn when the record was started. Gen. T. T. Handy recently issued a statement emphasizing the good points of Soldier's Deposits.

Along the International Borders of Germany's US Zone, a force of gleaming white vehicles carries the officers and men of the 7751st Military Police Customs Unit, first and only group of its kind in the US Armed Forces.

It was just three years ago that the 10 officers and 110 enlisted men in the 7751st joined Germany's 3,000 customs officials in a border vigil aimed at crippling what had become the world's largest smuggling operation.

The West German government, and the 48,000,000 persons living under its rule, had become targets for border-running which reached an estimated $500,000,000 each year a blow below the belt to the Federal Republic's treasury and to the victimized industries.

It was and is the mission of the Custom's Unit to bolster German customs enforcement, simultaneously to supervise border checks on Allied personnel along the 25 highway, rail, air and water points authorized to them as entry-exit lanes, and protect US interest in the movement of strategic materials to Eastern "satellite" nations.

In the first three years of their operation, the Americans teamed up with Germans to hit at rackets involving illegal currency exchanges, diversion of gift parcels, and importation of so-called luxury goods and placed a restraining hand on the arm of those who would permit passage of items detrimental to the peace of the world.

The MP customs men have shouldered the challenging task of intercepting the illegal outflow of Germany's economic lifestream. They know that the huge losses of customs levies and state taxes incurred by smuggling, damage the recovery of Germany's industry and deplete the federal treasury; they know that the American taxpayer is pouring dollars into the occupation to help effect this recovery.

Meanwhile the swing in emphasis from smuggled commercial goods to more important western precision-made tools and raw materials in great demand in the East has made the Customs Unit an even more valuable organization in American's effort toward a more secure and peaceful Europe.

Gen. Maglin Presents Medal to Hero

Brig. Gen. W. H. Maglin presents a CR to Cpl J. B. Boudreau, jr., Co C, 540th MP Railway Guard Bn. Cpl. Boudreau and Cpl. S. P. Wallace were mail guards on the Frankfurt-Paris Express when that train collided with the Basel-Calais train near Metz last year. After the crash, in which 21 persons were killed and 40 injured, the two MPs set about rescuing the injured and later organized soldiers and civilians at the scene into rescue teams. They worked 16 hours before being relieved. Cpl Boudreau not only risked his own life to help others but place warning flares thus averting another catastrophe. Although slightly injured himself, Boudreau managed to rescue all the living passengers, removing them with the skill of a trained medical aidman. Wallace has already returned to the States. Another fine job by MPs.

LtC W. P. Dunn reported 100% membership for officers at Augsburg and most of the key enlisted MPs. He is also working with 43d MP Co which is cooperating in the membership drive. LtC J. A. Bookhamer, PM 4th In. Div. sent in the 1951 Command Report. (We always like to get these—they are useful to numerous members of PMGC organization.) The 4th MP Co traces its history back to 19 Nov 1917. It was originally the 4th Train Hgs and MP. The 4th is now engaged in an intensive training program under Co Capt G. C. Willis, jr. On 7 May 51 Gen. H. N. Hartness commended the MP Co., and we know from our own information that the Gen. takes a real interest in his MPs. His hand-picking of his MPs resulted in Gen. Maglin commending them on their uniform size, trim figures, well-fitting uniforms, alert appearance, and precision marching which was superior and the subject of many favorable comments at the 10th Anniversary parade and ceremonies at Heidelberg. Gen. Parker found the Co in "Excellent shape," on 14 Aug. last. An important phase of the PMs work is the safety program. They plan to redouble their accident-prevention efforts in 1952.

"The MPA is a wonderful idea and I am proud to belong to it. I am certain that the MPA can do a great deal for the advancement of police science and the Corps."—LtC H. G. Thomas.

Cooperation Features Work of MPs

Cooperation and coordination between local German police authorities and American police officials of the Frankfurt Military Post has reached the highest degree obtainable according to Col. L. M. Edelen, PM, without tactual integration of both groups into one police force. The picture above shows a meeting of representatives of both groups. While the working relationship applies mainly to the city of Frankfurt; subpost PMs from Kassel on the north to Darmstadt on the south actively carry out the same cooperation on a smaller scale. Here too the American MP is playing an important part as an ambassador of good-will.

Interest in the Corps, according to LtC R. L. Huddleston, CO of the 709th MP Bn, was recently demonstrated by reaction of personnel to an opportunity to belong to the "Association". Three hundred sixty-six officers and enlisted members of his organization made application for membership in two months and many others are expected to do so in the near future. Forty-two promotions to and within the first three grades have been announced by Headquarters 709th MP Bn., since 1 Dec., '51. Four of these promotions were to M Sgt, two to SFC and thiry-six to the grade of Sgt. Promoted to M Sgt were J. H. Agnew P. J. Bouthot, M. G. Hoyle and P. E. Matson. Promoted to SFC were Chester Dechmerowski and A. M. Van Bibber. Those promoted to Sgt were J. S. Bednarek, J. V. Berlingis, P. R. Ciallella, C. E. Collins, W. J. Devan, W. R. Durnell, J. F. East, R. Two units in December and one January reached the goal of a deposit from each assigned individual.

The 796th is again promoting a used clothing drive for needy people of Vienna. They would appreciate the assistance of MP units and others in the States who may want to do something and who want to be sure that what they contribute does some good in the right places. The American MPs are the main body of Americans in Vienna. Residents have come to look upon the "American MP" as one who can be depended on for aid and assistance whatever the situation. Last Christmas the Bn collected food for orphans and more than 600 needy families in the American sector. For the drive at Eastertime in 1951 MP units throughout the U.S. cooperated to make the program a success. Articles for shipment should be washed or cleaned, fastened together securely (if pairs) and mailed to the CO 796th MP Bn., APO 777, c/o Postmaster, NYC.

Vienna, Austria—When officers and Non-Coms of "C" 796th MP Bn learned early January, that the Association had a total membership of 3800, they determined to raise the total by 1% and they did. On payday they mailed in 38 paid memberships. All officers and first three grades of the Company are now members of the association. The unit is commanded by 1st Lt Francis H. Pell, MPC.

held at Cp Cooke, California. Putnam was born in Fargo, North Dakota, in 1924 and completed High School in St. Paul, Minnesota in 1942. He was a telephone installer before coming into the service.

Capt. R. P. In the 1950 pistol match for the Dept. of Justice Attorney General's Cup the Nevada office won team honors and Capt. Duncan was second high in U. S. with 99.2. He also says "I am proud of the progress that has been made in the MPC in recent years. Courses such as this will assist in raising the esprit de Corps."

Cpl. Stephen H. Reasoner, was recently awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal pendant for meritorious service with the 55th MP Co. Reasoner earned the award on Jan. 13, 1951, when he discovered a burning building in a supply area near Taegu. The citation relates: "Corporal Reasoner sent a runner to report the fire and went himself to the blazing building where he demonstrated the highest degree of initiative and organization ability in clearing the building of all occupants and organizing a fire detail. "Completing this, Corporal Reasoner personally directed the fire fighting detail. By his prompt action in confining and extinguishing the blaze, Corporal Reasoner prevented the destruction of large quantities of vitally needed Army supplies."

In submitting 217 memberships, Col. J. C. Grubb, 2nd Log Com wrote: Something like this (MPA) has been needed in our Corps since its inception and I am sure that all share with me the knowledge that it will be as permanent as the 'Rock of Gibraltar' and its members ars numerous as Al Capp's 'Schmoos.' "We appreciate the fine job the officers and men of the 2nd Log Com have done and hope they, including the Capt from the 70th ROK Co., enjoy their membership.

LtC G. A. Bergin is handling the stockade in Japan, LtC R. C. Lowe and Maj. T. R. Smith are in PMO GHQ.

The 728th reports the flow of replacements is adequate but that very few experienced or school trained MPs are received. Evidently not much attention is paid to minimum requirements for assignment to MP duties as set forth in par. 116, SR 615-25-20. During Dec 11 were reclassified as unsuited for MP duties and 22 were nominated for elimination from MPC. An exchange of 90 white soldiers for 90 negro soldiers and one officer was arranged with the 212 MP Co. These men are working out very well. Bn Hq is at Mo-Chong-Ni; A Co (CO B. T. Weiner) Sindun-Myon with 1 platoon at Yongdungo; B Co (CO Capt B. E. McClung) Suwon, 1 platoon at Chochuion; C Co (CO Capt W. R. Shevalier) Chunchon; D Co (CO Capt J. J. O'Hara) Chohyon-ni, 1 platoon at Changhowon-ni. The 10th MP Co. 3rd ROK Bn, (CO Capt Kim Ik Soo) is attached.

As everyone in the Military Police Corps realizes, the Military Police are called upon to handle many unusual jobs, the following is an example of such a job.

The 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team was stationed in southern Japan upon its return from Korea. It then became necessary to pick out a suitable drop zone. The only suitable place that could be found was bordered by the ocean on one side and large rivers on both ends. After several jumps it became necessary to place two 18 ft, inboard utility boats in strategic spots to rescue paratroopers who landed in the water. These boats were requested by the Provost Marshal, 187th Airborne RCT and were assigned to the Military Police Traffic Platoon to operate and cover all parachute drops.

The Provost Marshal section set up 2 jeeps with motorola radios and SCR 536's, also SCR 536's were placed in the boats, in this way medical aid could be dispatched out to the boats immediately. In conjunction with this radio net there is radio contact with the Military Police Station. When a paratrooper is seriously injured and needs evacuation immediately, the radio jeep on the DZ radio's the Police Station, they in turn by telephone call a seaplane from the Air Sea Rescue Squadron, The Air Sea Rescue Squadron then flies a seaplane in, near the DZ, the radio jeep contacts the boats they in turn proceed to a designated place where the boats pick up the injured men and take them out to the seaplane, they are then flown to hospital. Within one hour after a man has been injured he is in a hospital 100 miles from the DZ. This method has been used effectively many times and works efficiently.

This is one example of how units of the Military Police Corps use initiative to aid and assist the paratrooper. It is believed that the Military Police Traffic Platoon, 187th Airborne RCT has the only Airborne Navy in the world.

Hope and Rooney Star in MP Movie

Bob Hope, Mickey Rooney, Rookie MPs, and their associates in the outfit enlisted for "The Military Policeman" now being made at Paramount listen to Eddie Mayhoff, CO. It's quite an outfit and we expect a fine picture when "The Military Policeman" is released at Thanksgiving or Christmas time this year. According to the publicity the picture pays tribute to a branch of the Armed Forces that has heretofore been overlooked by motion pictures. "Jack" Dempsey will appear in a fight scene as referee. The 508th, in Eucom, is working on an MGM movie "The Devil Makes Three."

772d Receives Unit Award

Meritorious Unit Commendation awarded the 772d MP Bn. The 772d was cited for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Korea in spport of combat operations during the period 8 October 1950 to 5 September 1951. From the time of its initial commitment at Wonsan, Korea, the battalion performed a wide variety of difficult missions in an exemplary manner despite extremely adverse conditions and constant shortages of personnel. Following the intervention of the Chinese Communist Forces, the members of the battalion assisted in the withdrawal of combat units from the Chosen Reservoir area into the Hungnam perimeter and were responsible for the establishment of control points in order to prevent the countless refugees from blocking the main supply routes and to keep them from interfering with operations within the perimeter. Despite the continuous harassment of guerilla forces, the personnel of the 772d MP Bn effectively carried out their patrolling duties, providing security protection for many miles of railroad and main supply routes in such an efficient manner that they evoked the highest praise from all who were familiar with their work.

W. Reese; Signal Corps—Col. V. W. Phelps; Surgeon General—LtC F. G. Steiner; Transportation Corps—LtC W. F. Farrell.

The status of these officers will be the same as any other staff PM. They willl be the staff advisors and supervisors of all matters of a MP nature. With this immediate supervision, the MPC and the Technical Services should develop a closer understanding of their mutual problems, and the result should be greater efficiency in MP oprations at Class II installations.

The relationship between the Provost Marshal General and the Technical Service PMs will be the same as now exists between the Provost Marshal General and the Army PMs. They will be considered to be on the same level as the Army PMs.

The Technical Services welcomed the assignment of their new PMs with enthusiasm. The assigned officers are now busy making plans for the MP activities within their respective services.

The appearance of the MPC insignia among the staff officers of the Technical Services brought forth questions and interest and a few of the usual jibes. Some already are known as the "sheriff" and others the "warden." All in the Corps wish them well in this new MP field and, needless to say, the eyes of the General Staff are focused upon the results of their efforts.

Previously, it was believed that there existed a gap in the coverage that the Provost Marshal General was expected to give to police matters in the Army because the Chiefs of Technical Services did not have PMs and direct liaison with the Provost Marshal General on security matters. General Parker, the Provost Marshal General, believes that, now with this gap in the MP field closed, the Corps effectivenss in the Army will be greatly increased.

The Third Provost Marshal Conference will be held at TPMGC sometime probably in May.
