UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

CAPTAIN JARED D. HAFICH

Capt. Jared D. Hafich is the United States Air Force (USAF) Security Forces Liaison Officer to the United States Army Military Police School (USAMPS) at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He is responsible for ensuring future and current Joint interoperability between Security Forces and Military Police units. Capt. Hafich currently works for the USAMPS's Command and Tactics Division as an Operations Officer ensuring continuity and enabling instruction for all Military Police Officer training courses. Additionally, Capt. Hafich is an Instructor for the Military Police Basic Officer Leaders Course training new United States (US) Army Second Lieutenants and foreign military partners basic policing, expeditionary, and leadership skills.

Capt. Hafich earned his commission from the USAF Academy in 2014 where he studied Meteorology and was a member of the Combat Shooting Team during all four years. Capt. Hafich is a career Security Forces Officer and has fulfilled both law enforcement and nuclear weapons security duties as a two time Flight Commander, two time Operations Officer, and has been an Officer-in-Charge (OIC) of two different sections. Capt. Hafich also held additional duties to include Section Commander and Nuclear Weapons Convoy Commander. Capt. Hafich was the first-ever USAF Officer to attend a Captain's Career Course—a 23 week US Army Professional Military Education course that prepares Soldiers for Company Command and Staff in their respective Military Occupation Specialty. Capt. Hafich is married to his wife of six years, Miss Asia C. Pleasant, and has two beagles.
