

UNITED STATES ARMY MILITARY POLICE SCHOOL

Greetings,

On behalf of myself and the Regimental Command Sergeant Major, CSM James Rutherford, we would like to welcome you to the United States Army Military Police School at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

The United States Army Military Police School Trains, Educates, and Develops Military Police Civilians, Soldiers, and Leaders through pertinent and challenging functional and professional military education. Our goal is to increase your knowledge and professionalism through modernized and relevant training that provides the essential tools needed at a base, camp, or station. The Military Police School develops and delivers the best Soldiers, Civilians, Leaders, and capabilities for the current fielded force while transforming the Military Police Corps to support future requirements.

Your course has a broad student population, use this time to interact and connect with your classmates. The relationships you build during this course of instruction will become lifelong expansions of your professional network. We also encourage you to explore the surrounding community and take advantage of the attractions and outdoor recreation it has to offer. Please remember that Military Police are the decisive point of moral authority in the Army and as such your character and conduct matter. Do not let a lapse in judgement impact your performance in the course or the trajectory of your career. We are confident that you will find the training environment professionally challenging and personally rewarding. We extend our best wishes to you and your Family and look forward to seeing you succeed at the Home of the Regiment!

84 Years as the shield protecting the force, enabling the fight. No matter when or where.
